

FINANCIAL AID POLICY Divorced or Separated Parents

When evaluating financial aid requests involving divorced or separated parents, the following rules apply:

1. Families are required to provide a copy of the relevant section of the official court-approved divorce decree or separation agreement (including any amendments currently in effect) that outlines each parent's responsibility for private school tuition. This documentation must be submitted by the financial aid deadline, either by email to nrosado@myimmaculatehs.org or by mailing a copy to:

Immaculate High School
ATTN: Business Office
73 Southern Boulevard
Danbury, CT 06810

2. For the purpose of awarding financial aid, the Committee reviews each parent's financial need separately, based on the tuition obligations stated in the divorce decree or separation agreement. This rule applies regardless of which parent signs the enrollment contract.
3. In cases where no court-approved documentation exists assigning tuition responsibilities, the Committee will assume that both parents share tuition costs equally when determining financial need. This policy also applies regardless of which parent signs the enrollment contract.
4. The Committee does not recognize private arrangements between parents regarding tuition obligations, nor will it accept unilateral claims of responsibility or refusals to pay.
5. If both parents are applying for financial aid, each must complete and submit a separate application through FACTS Management. Each application will be reviewed independently, which may result in different awards for each parent.
6. If only one parent applies for aid, the Committee will evaluate that parent's portion of the tuition obligation only. The other parent will be expected to pay their share in full.
