Principal's Corner

Hello Rattlers, and Happy October!

It has been wonderful to welcome the crisp fall air and watch the leaves at VVCM turn into their beautiful autumn colors. We have a busy and exciting month ahead, and I'd like to share some important highlights with you.

Walk to School Day – October 1

We'll kick off the month with Walk to School Day! A huge thank you to our amazing crossing guards, who not only keep us safe but also brighten our mornings with their friendly greetings. We're also grateful to our CHP leaders who will be joining us that morning to help ensure a safe event for our VVCM community.

PBIS & RISE

RISE is a key component of our PBIS (Positive Behavior Interventions and Supports) program, which helps us foster a positive and inclusive school culture. PBIS encourages positive behaviors and interactions while reducing problem behaviors. We'd love for you to ask your child(ren) what RISE stands for and more importantly, what each word mean—you might be impressed with their answers!

On October 9-10, members of our PBIS team will attend the State PBIS Conference to strengthen our practices and continue building a supportive environment at VVCM.

A Touch of Understanding – October 7

We're thrilled to welcome A Touch of Understanding to VVCM for an engaging and meaningful on-site field trip. This program promotes empathy, respect, and inclusion. Thank you to our PTO for generously funding this special opportunity!

VVCM Safety and Cyber Safety Presentation:

First, thank you to Deputy Doughty (from SCHEILD) and the parents who attended our VVCM Safety and Cyber Safety Talk on September 17th. Safety is always a priority at VVCM, and working with our community law enforcement help make VVCM as safe as can be.

RISE Assembly – October 15

Our 1st–5th-grade students will attend an assembly focusing on the “R” in RISE at 8:15 a.m. in the MP Room. Families are welcome to join us—please remember to sign in at the office before heading over.

Safety Day – October 16

On October 16, students will participate in three drills: The Great Shakeout, a fire drill, and a lockdown drill.

At VVCM, student safety is always our highest priority. Just like fire drills and earthquake drills, lockdown drills are a way to prepare and practice in the unlikely event of an emergency.

- Preparedness builds confidence: When students and staff know exactly what to do, it reduces confusion and helps everyone stay calm if a real situation were ever to occur.
- Safety skills for life: These drills are part of the broader safety education we provide, giving children the tools they need to respond appropriately in a variety of emergency situations.

- Keeping routines consistent: Practicing helps normalize the steps—such as moving quickly, listening to teachers, and following instructions—so they become second nature.
- Working together: Drills give staff the chance to coordinate with one another and ensure that procedures are effective and up-to-date.

We always take care to explain drills in an age-appropriate way so students understand that they are a practice for safety, not a reason to be scared. For our TK–5th grade students, we often frame lockdowns around a scenario such as “an animal on campus” so it feels relatable and not frightening. For our middle school students, we offer a more mature discussion that better aligns with their understanding.

Halloween Parade– October 31st

We'll end the month with our much-anticipated Halloween Parade! Please remember that costumes should be fun and school-appropriate—no gory costumes, scary masks, or items resembling weapons. For more details, please refer to the flyer on the following pages.

Lastly, organization is one of the keys in education, life and success, and the earlier we teach our Rattlers the tools for organization, the better. If you need assistance with that, you can always contact your teacher, and here is a good article, as well.

Gooooooooooooooooooooo Rattlers!
Mr. Stewart

KCRA Kids Can

KCRA Kids Can Canned Food Drive starts Monday October 6. Middle School students can bring in cans to donate to the El Dorado Food Bank. Their Focus teachers will accept them, and the class with the MOST cans wins a treat. Prizes sponsored by Middle School ASB.

Staff Shout Outs

Have you had a great experience with one of our Super Hero Teachers or Staff Members? Giving a shout-out is a great way to recognize our VVCM staff for their demonstration of our VVCM values- respect, integrity, safety and effort. Please share a bit about it so we can recognize them! Fill out the form here.

Coffee & Conversation

Dr. Roth will be here to visit with our parents and enjoy a cup of coffee on Monday, October 27th at 8:00 in the STEAM lab. This is a great opportunity to ask questions and have an open conversation. Hope to see you there!

Attendance Q & A

Q: What do I do if my child is sick or needs to miss school?

A: Call or email the school office as soon as possible to report the absence. Please share the reason (illness, appointment, family emergency, etc.). Here are guidance to when a student should miss school. Symptom-Guidance-English.pdf

Q: What absences are excused?

A: Illness, medical/dental appointments, religious holidays, and family emergencies (as defined by school policy). Trips, vacations, and oversleeping are not excused.

Cyber Safety

In case you missed VVCM Safety and Cyber Safety presentation on September 16th, William Brooks Elementary will be hosting a districtwide parent education event:

On Thursday, October 9th at 6:00 PM in the WB gym, an agent from the Violent Crimes Against Children (VCAC) division of the FBI will be presenting a 45-minute session on internet safety and why parents should be concerned. The presentation will be followed by a Q&A session, so parents can get answers to the questions that keep them up at night.

This is an adults-only event, aimed at giving parents practical insights into keeping kids safe online in an increasingly complicated digital world.

MIDDLE SCHOOL HAPPENINGS

OCTOBER 2025

Dear Valley View Middle School Families,

As we welcome October, I want to take a moment to thank you for your continued partnership this school year. The first two months have been full of energy, growth, and learning, and it has been a joy to see students finding their stride both in and out of the classroom.

September in Review

Last month, students began exploring our clubs and activities, and it's been exciting to see so many getting involved. From sports to student leadership, our Rattlers are showing school spirit and building important connections. We also sent home progress reports, which are an opportunity to reflect on what's going well and identify areas where students might need extra support, and held parent conferences for students who needed additional support. Thank you for taking the time to review the progress report with your child and to those of you who attended parent conferences – that home-school partnership makes a real difference.

October Highlights

Staff Development Day: There will be no school on Monday, October 13th.

End of 1st Quarter: The first quarter wraps up on Friday, October 31st. Please remind your student to check for any missing assignments and use this time to finish strong.

Harvest Festival: Our annual Harvest Festival will take place on Friday, October 24th from 5:00–8:00 p.m. We hope you'll join us for games, food, and community fun.

Halloween Parade: Our Halloween Parade is still a favorite for our middle schools! Students can come dressed in school appropriate costumes (no weapons, no violence, no full face painting or masks, follows school dress code) or their Color Clash colors in order to show their school spirit.

Reminders

Attendance: Each day matters. If your child must be absent, please call the office so the absence can be excused.

Behavior Expectations: We continue to reinforce our RISE values – Respect, Integrity, Safety, and Effort – both in the classroom and during extracurricular activities. We appreciate your support in encouraging these at home.

Weather: As mornings get cooler, please make sure your student comes prepared with layers. All outerwear should remain school-appropriate and labeled with your child's name whenever possible.

Looking Ahead

October is a month of transition, as students move from settling into routines to pushing themselves academically and socially. Encourage your student to set a small goal for this month – whether it's turning in assignments on time, joining a new activity, or showing kindness to someone new. Together, we can help our Rattlers grow into confident, responsible learners and leaders.

Thank you again for your partnership and support. We look forward to a strong finish to the first trimester and a season full of learning and community.

Kind regards,
Mrs. Alessandro

VALLEY VIEW CHARTER MONTESSORI COUNSELOR CHRONICLES

SEASONS CHANGE, FRIENDSHIPS GROW

VVCM Parents and Families,

We made it to the end of the SECOND month of school! Is it just me or did September absolutely fly by? With over 85 individual counseling sessions, 4 successful conflict mediations, and 25 classroom lessons presented, it's no wonder this month moved so fast! While time has been moving at the speed of light, I want to slow down for a moment and say a big, "Thank you," to everyone, students and adults alike, who stopped by and said hello. It has been such a pleasure getting to know the VVCM community and your welcoming embrace has been such a point of gratitude for me. I am so excited for the rest of this school year together! That being said, let's dive into the upcoming events in the world of counseling!...

Lazy Lunch

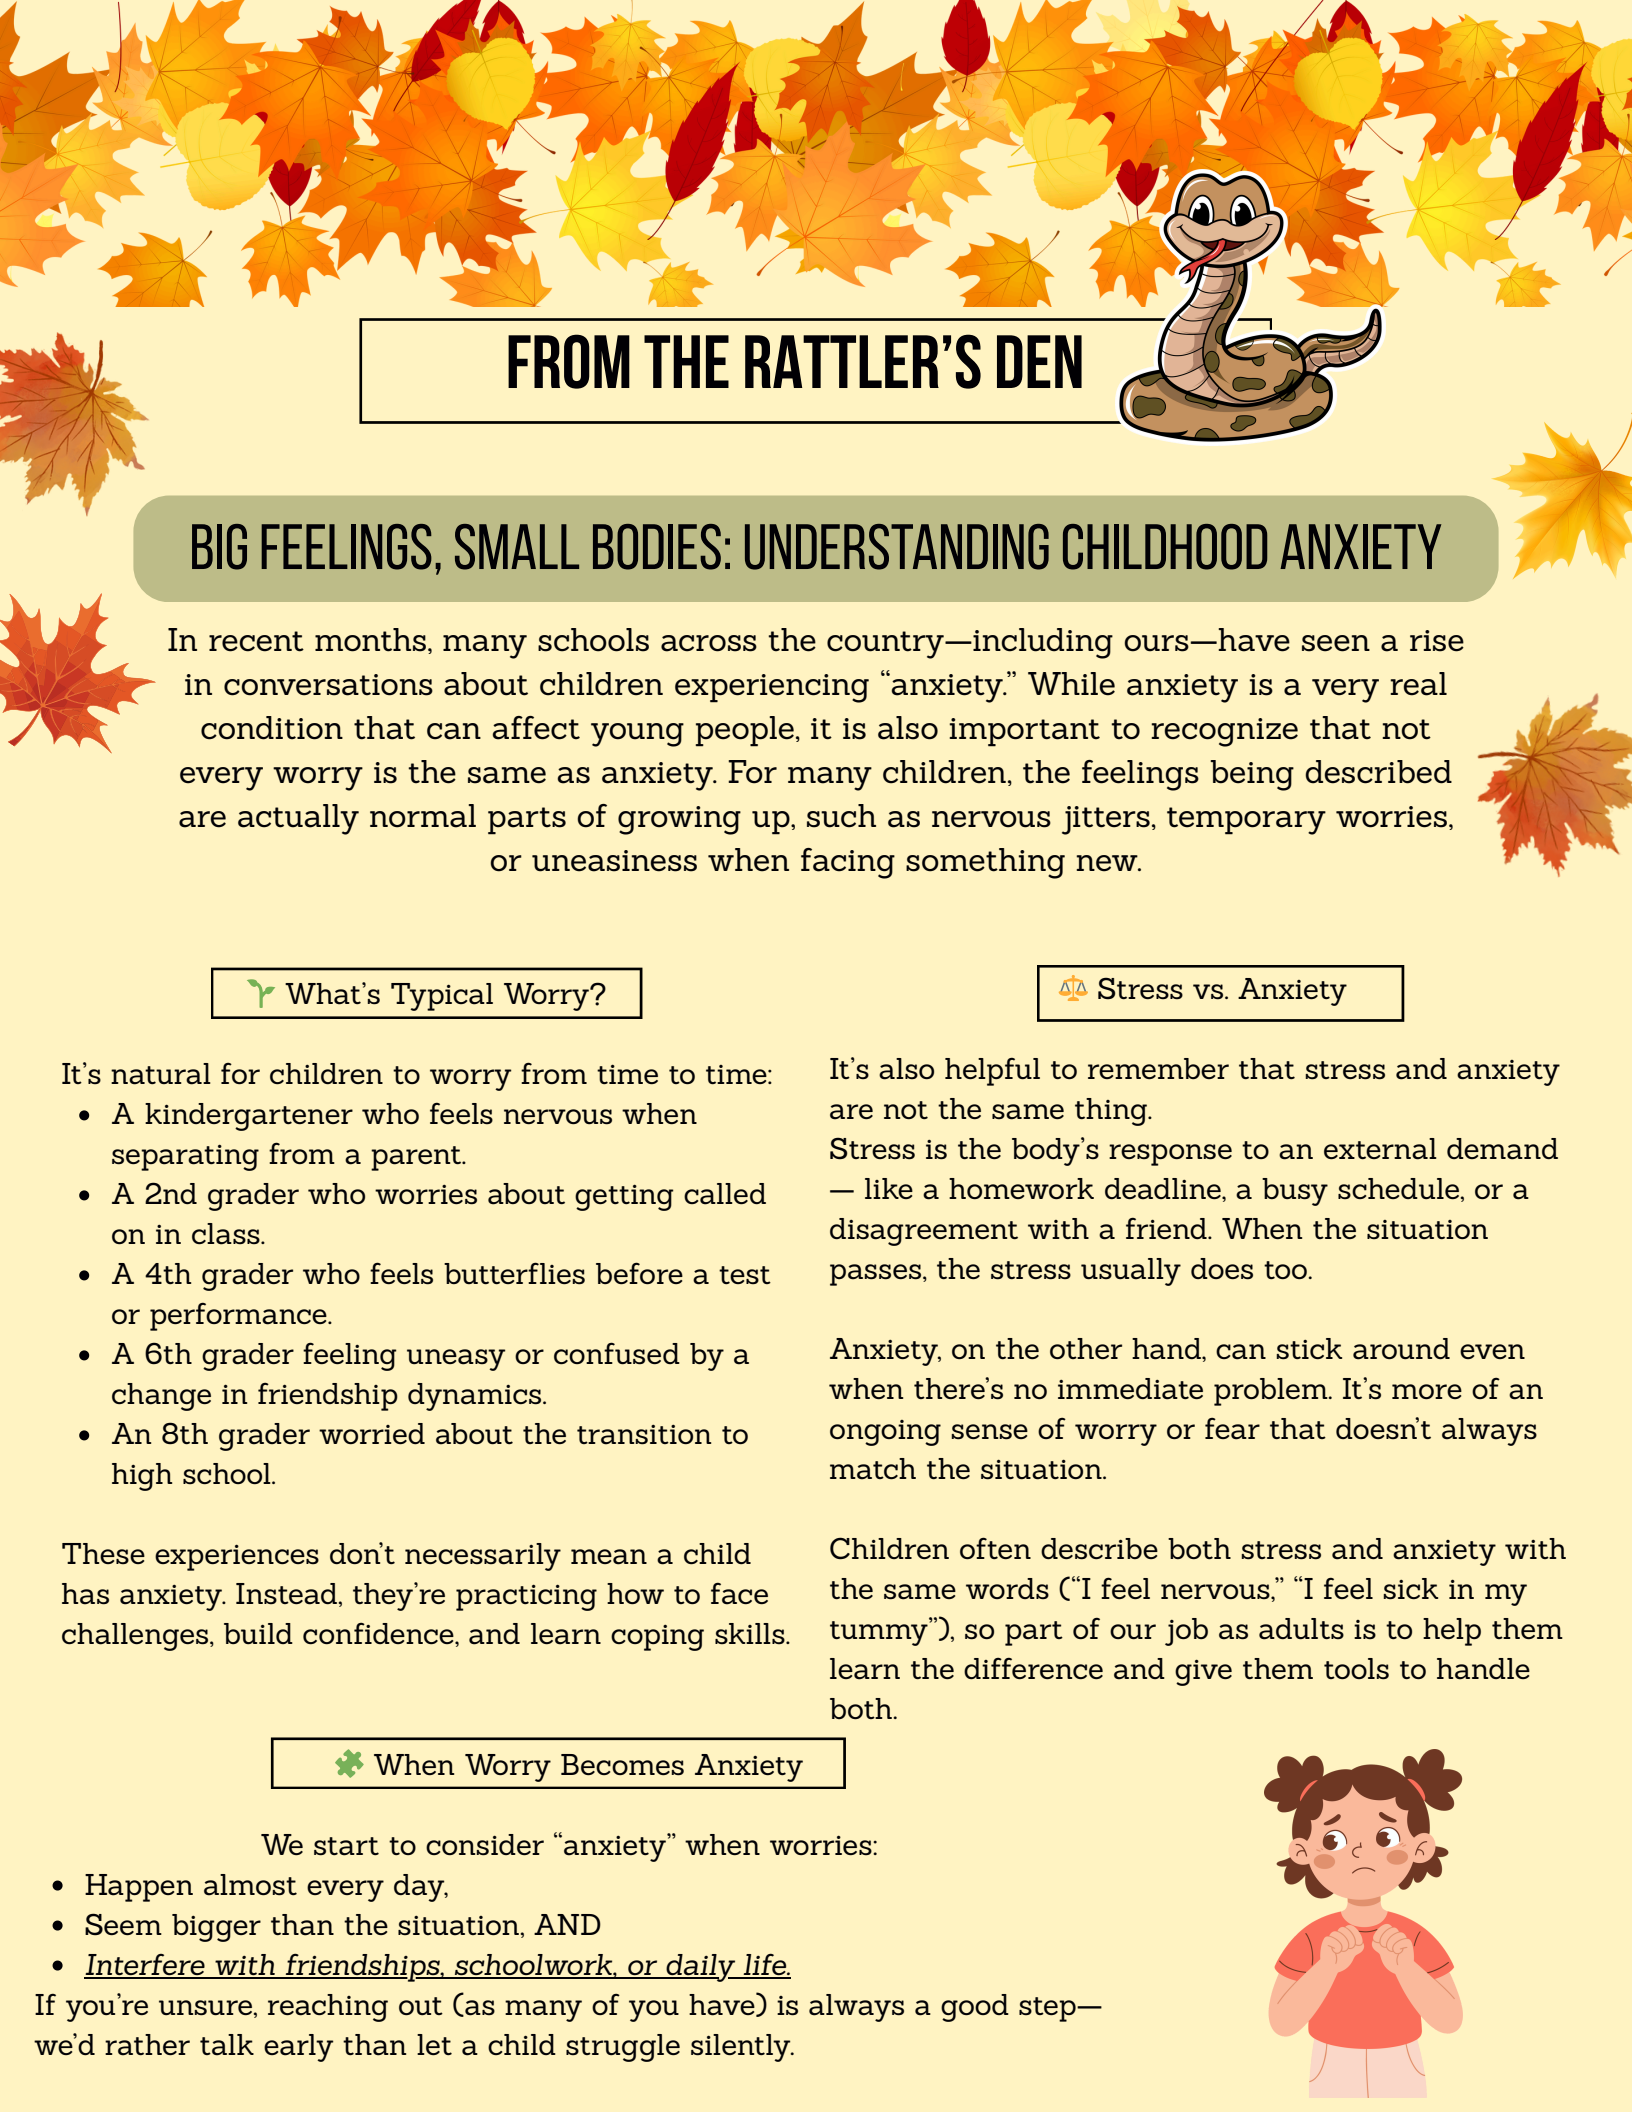

Want to hang out somewhere new at lunch? Lazy lunch is starting early October for 1st - 2nd, 3rd - 5th, and 6th - 8th grade lunches. Come hang out with your friends, play some games, and enjoy your lunch! Locations are yet to be decided but keep your eyes and ears open for announcements about Lazy Lunch!

September Friendship Lessons

This past month we focused on friendships, specifically changing friendships. We talk about the HEALTHY, NORMAL, AND EXPECTED changes we experience in our friendships as we grow up. We covered the do's and don't, how to have those uncomfortable conversations, and what to do when it happens to us.

FROM THE RATTLER'S DEN

BIG FEELINGS, SMALL BODIES: UNDERSTANDING CHILDHOOD ANXIETY

In recent months, many schools across the country—including ours—have seen a rise in conversations about children experiencing “anxiety.” While anxiety is a very real condition that can affect young people, it is also important to recognize that not every worry is the same as anxiety. For many children, the feelings being described are actually normal parts of growing up, such as nervous jitters, temporary worries, or uneasiness when facing something new.

What's Typical Worry?

It's natural for children to worry from time to time:

- A kindergartener who feels nervous when separating from a parent.
- A 2nd grader who worries about getting called on in class.
- A 4th grader who feels butterflies before a test or performance.
- A 6th grader feeling uneasy or confused by a change in friendship dynamics.
- An 8th grader worried about the transition to high school.

These experiences don't necessarily mean a child has anxiety. Instead, they're practicing how to face challenges, build confidence, and learn coping skills.

When Worry Becomes Anxiety

We start to consider “anxiety” when worries:

- Happen almost every day,
- Seem bigger than the situation, AND
- Interfere with friendships, schoolwork, or daily life.

If you're unsure, reaching out (as many of you have) is always a good step—we'd rather talk early than let a child struggle silently.

Stress vs. Anxiety

It's also helpful to remember that stress and anxiety are not the same thing.

Stress is the body's response to an external demand — like a homework deadline, a busy schedule, or a disagreement with a friend. When the situation passes, the stress usually does too.

Anxiety, on the other hand, can stick around even when there's no immediate problem. It's more of an ongoing sense of worry or fear that doesn't always match the situation.

Children often describe both stress and anxiety with the same words (“I feel nervous,” “I feel sick in my tummy”), so part of our job as adults is to help them learn the difference and give them tools to handle both.

The Role of Language

Sometimes, when adults frequently use the word “anxiety” at home, children start to adopt the label themselves. For instance:

- If a parent says, “This might make you anxious,” a child may expect to feel that way—even if they wouldn’t have otherwise.
- If a child hears, “You have anxiety,” they may begin to see all worries as something scary or unmanageable.

This isn’t anyone’s fault—it comes from love and wanting to support our kids. But sometimes it creates a “self-fulfilling prophecy,” where children feel anxious because they believe they should. That is why the way we talk about our emotions matters so much.

- Ask first, don’t suggest. Instead of saying, “This might make you anxious,” try asking, “How are you feeling about this?” This gives children space to identify their own emotions rather than feeling as though they’re expected to match a parent’s suggestion.
- The tone of voice sets the stage. A calm, neutral tone normalizes feelings. Overly soft or worried tones—even with the best intentions—can send the message that something is wrong with the feeling or even make the situation feel scarier than it actually is.
- Worries vs. Anxiety. Many children don’t yet know the difference between “nervous jitters” or uneasiness and true anxiety. Helping them name those smaller, everyday feelings prevents them from believing every worry is “anxiety.”

Anxiety Has a Purpose

Anxiety is not always a bad thing—in fact, it’s our body’s built-in alarm system. It lets us know when something doesn’t feel right and helps keep us safe. Feeling a surge of worry before crossing a busy street, meeting someone new, or trying a challenging task is the body’s way of preparing us to pay attention and respond.

The goal is never to eliminate anxiety completely. Instead, we want children to learn how to recognize it, manage it, and use it in healthy ways. With practice, students can understand the difference between helpful “signals” from their body and overwhelming worry that gets in the way of daily life.

What Helps

- Normalize, don’t magnify. Instead of “You’re anxious,” try “It makes sense to feel nervous before something new.”
- Model calm coping. Kids notice how adults handle stress. Show them your deep breaths, breaks, or problem-solving.
- Empower, don’t rescue: Encourage kids to try things (like speaking up in class) rather than avoiding them.
- Use clear, simple language: “You’re worried right now, but you’re safe.”
