Olson Family
Buck, Class of 2021
Cooper, Class of 2023
Owen, Class of 2024

“I am in my 13th year teaching at North Springs High School, a place that holds a special connection for my family. My husband and all three of my children are proud Spartan graduates. My teaching journey began with student teaching here in 1999, and I spent the next 13 years hoping to return to this positive, supportive learning environment. From the start, I knew I wanted to be both a teacher and a parent at North Springs.

One of the school’s standout initiatives is the North Springs High School Freshman Academy, which supports students transitioning from middle to high school. The Academy offers activities such as a freshman field trip to one of 10 local colleges. My oldest visited SCAD due to his interest in the art magnet program, while my younger two visited UGA, where they are now students.
This experience inspires students to envision a future beyond high school while fostering a sense of community. Beyond academics, the Freshmore 15 program cultivates service and leadership among freshmen and sophomores.

My children’s involvement in activities like Young Life, student government, yearbook, and sports began their freshman year of North Springs, thanks to the Academy’s encouragement to engage with the Spartan community. These passions have followed them into college—my daughter is now high school Young Life leader through UGA, my oldest son plays baseball at the University of Chicago, and my youngest has just started his freshman year living in a dorm with his best friend from high school. Many of his high school friends are sharing the next chapter of their lives together at UGA. I often get asked what the best thing about North Springs is and the simple truth is just how nice people are here. The greatest gift North Springs offers is the sense of true friendship and community.”

JD Roseberry Class of 2022

“JD is now at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville. We attribute much of his success to his time at North Springs.

He took nine AP classes, played Varsity lacrosse all four years and also started the first Spikeball Club with a few friends. JD LOVED every minute of his time at North Springs and formed life-long friendships that he’ll treasure forever. North Springs was a great fit for JD. He attended private middle school and we considered going the private route for high school and are so glad we did not.

North Springs is the perfect size: large enough to have a variety of opportunities and form friendships, but small enough that you are not lost in the shuffle and can feel the sense of community.”

“JD thrived both academically and socially and felt very prepared for college. Our younger son Reid is having a very similar experience at North Springs.”

Sydney Smith
Class of 2023

“Sydney has always been a math and science kid, so it was an easy choice for her to attend North Springs with its Magnet Math/Science program. It's the perfect-sized school, offering multiple AP classes and lots of activities for all types of students.

One of our favorite aspects of North Springs is the faculty. Anytime she needed a little extra, the teachers across the board went above and beyond to help.”

“Sydney was hesitant to continue playing in the orchestra due to her busy schedule, but she had a phenomenal experience. Her love of music helped her connect with a different group of kids in a very meaningful way. Both Orchestra and Band were led by phenomenal faculty members that my daughter admired.

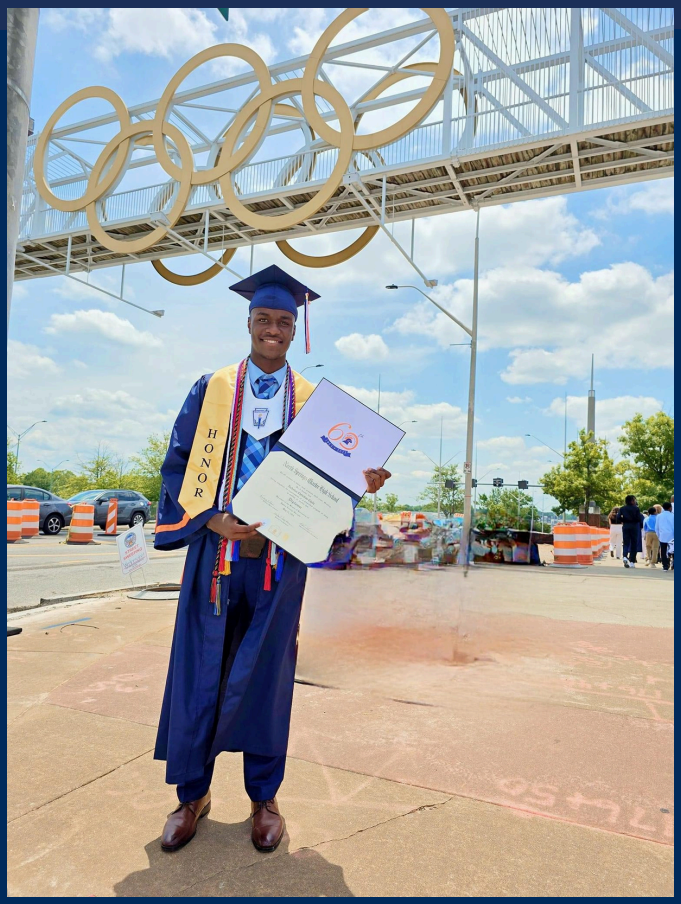

Our daughter is at MIT and on the Swim Team. We are certain her academic experiences at North Springs helped her get into her dream school.”

Nick Clyde Class of 2024

“I am a two-time parent at North Springs High School, and I couldn't be more pleased. My son Nicholas, a 2024 graduate, is at the University of Alabama studying Computer Science and is already involved in several campus clubs and programs. We have North Springs to thank for providing a pathway to success in educational and leadership route. North Springs offers a variety of paths for students through their dual magnet programs, Math & Science, STEM, and Visual Performing Arts, Healthcare Sciences, Engineering pathway, Student Government, Student-led clubs, and a host of athletics. North Springs provides the right guidance to help students balance a rigorous academic and extracurricular schedule. Nicholas left North Springs a National Honor Society recipient, deemed an athletic scholar, and a host of other academic recognitions.”

“My younger son is now in the Dual Magnet with not only a focus in AP STEM studies but Graphic Design and Business to broaden his studies and interest. His extra curricular includes Baseball, Yearbook, Student Government, and the Black Student Association and been able to manage it all with the support of his advisors and teachers. Despite the changes we've encountered with the build of our new school, the administration has continued to keep the community involved and aware of its ongoing progress. We are thrilled to see the continued success of students as they too, find "their path.”

Henry Lott Class of 2024

“Henry is now at Georgia Tech. We credit so much of his success to opportunities at North Springs.

He graduated with a Dual Math/Science and VPA Magnet degree, two CTAE pathways in Engineering and A/V Tech (filmmaking), and 10 AP classes. He was President of the Robotics Club, an Officer in the Thespian Honor Troupe, and had major roles in several plays. He also was on the golf team and earned the school’s STAR Student award for the highest SAT score.”

“We could not be happier with our experiences at North Springs and would choose it again over every option. It really hits the sweet spot—it's big enough to offer an impressive range of AP classes and diverse career pathways, yet it still feels personal. Students have countless opportunities to dive into their interests and step into leadership roles across math, science, theatre, engineering, orchestra, clubs, student government, sports, and more. It’s the perfect environment for students to thrive and find their passion!”

“Solomon found a community at North Springs. As a parent, I saw him emerge and evolve there. The North Springs Theatre group and the Music Department provided great and supportive platforms for him to display his talents and passions. Solomon formed great relationships with many of his teachers, who accepted and inspired his love for the arts. He is now thriving in college with a major in Music Technology. He has acclimated well, and I credit much of his preparation to his matriculation at North Springs High School.”

“I cannot emphasize enough how important my experience was at North Springs in preparing me for college, pushing me in my academics, introducing me to a great community, and developing me as an athlete, student, and person. I am now on the varsity baseball team at Sewanee: The University of the South. I graduated from North Springs with a Math/Science Magnet degree and 10 AP and Dual enrollment classes. My teachers were very passionate, approachable, and interested in my success. They challenged me in many ways that are helping me as a freshman in college. Additionally, I was a part of North Springs’ Work-Based Learning program, which allowed me to get hands-on experience in the workplace through internships!

Apart from academics, North Springs offered a great social community. I met many new friends and became a part of an inclusive and supportive community.”

“I also was a member of the varsity baseball team all four years and the cross country team for the first two. These experiences really connected the student body together and helped lead me to opportunities to play baseball in college. As well as being involved in baseball, I also joined many clubs, such as the Sandwich Club, where we made sandwiches for the underprivileged, and Super Achieving Spartans, where we prepared our college resumes and applications. These are just two of a wide variety of clubs students at North Springs have the opportunity to join that can help promote many different skills and passions! I loved my four years at North Springs and can confidently say it was the perfect school to prepare me for my next step in life socially, academically, and athletically!”

Bex Stifel
Class of 2025

“We moved from East Cobb to Sandy Springs so our kids would be in the North Springs district. Our oldest is now in her senior year and we all agree it was a great decision. The culture at North Springs is supportive and inclusive, so everyone feels like they belong without having to ‘fit in.’

The dual Magnet Program offers a great balance of academic rigor and cultural diversity, ensuring that the students develop into well-rounded young adults. And the teachers are deeply committed.”

“They care about the kids and go the extra mile to help them both inside and outside of the classroom. With the new building under construction, the physical space will soon match the excellence of the people and the culture. North Springs is a school on the rise, and we're excited for our middle schooler to start there next year.”

Lacey Kass
Class of 2027

“Lacey chose the VPA Magnet Program, with a concentration in dance. We've been very happy with the Dance Magnet, as it provides unique experiences, such as physical therapy workshops and master classes as well as opportunities to work with a variety of student and professional choreographers. Project Dance, a student choreography showcase, is one of the highlights of the Dance Magnet program as it allows the students to choreograph their own pieces. For my daughter, whose primary extracurricular dance focus is ballet, the Dance Magnet has helped her grow and improve as a dancer by exposing her to many other dance genres and by breaking her out of her comfort zone.”

NORTH SPRINGS HIGH SCHOOL

London Class of 2028

“When we started looking at high school programs for our daughter, we sought to have an open mind about what they all had to offer. We toured several schools to get a feel for the experience. While the tours offered a quick snapshot, the most insight personally came from researching the curricula and talking to parents. What we found was that the obvious choice was right in our backyard at North Springs High School.”

“Our daughter is in the dual Magnet Program which uniquely exposes her to a variety of both STEM and Arts career paths and rich experiences. An unexpected bonus is that she’s also discovered a joy for Performing Arts that North Springs has so quickly helped foster.”
