2025 - 2026 School Profile

The Los Alamos Community

Los Alamos High School is located on the Pajarito Plateau in the Jemez Mountains of Northern New Mexico, 35 miles from the state capital, Santa Fe. The major employer in Los Alamos County is the Los Alamos National Laboratory, a world-class scientific research facility.

According to the 2020 census, 42% of the resident adults over the age of 25 hold bachelor degrees or higher and 36% hold graduate or professional degrees.

Accreditation & Schools

Los Alamos High School (LAHS) is proudly accredited by Cognia and meets all requirements and standards established by the State of New Mexico.

Faculty

Los Alamos High School has a full and part-time staff of 140. We have two staff with doctoral degrees, 60 with Master's degrees, and 10 National Board Certified Teachers. Of our 140 employees, 55 have been at the high school for more than five years. Sixty-five of our teachers have taught for five years or longer.

Curriculum and Programs of Study

The Los Alamos High School curriculum is diversified, allowing students to develop an individualized rigorous four-year plan. We offer the following 22 Advanced Placement (AP) courses in Biology, Calculus AB & BC, Chemistry, Computer Science, English Language & Composition, English Literature & Composition, European History, Human Geography, Physics, Precalculus, Psychology, Statistics, Studio Art (2-D, 3-D and Drawing), US Government & Politics, US History and World Languages (French, German, Latin, and Spanish).

LAHS Honors courses are offered in Literature 10, German, Spanish, French and Latin Language & Culture, Physics, Chemistry, Human Anatomy and Physiology and Biology. Los Alamos High School, through partnerships with the University of New Mexico-Los Alamos and Northern New Mexico College, offers over 50 dual enrollment courses. This year over 80 students are enrolled in these courses.

Students also participate in NJROTC, educational work-study, automotive programs, marketing and a variety of technology courses. Students who desire a different approach to education can apply to the School of Choice or the Los Alamos Early College & Career Academy programs. Work-related courses for credit include Student Assistant, Student Intern, and Peer Tutor which involve work on campus; MAPS (Mentorship, Apprenticeship, Partnership, Service), which offer credit for volunteer work in the community, and Job XP, which employs students throughout the community. Students may also receive certification in the MC3 Apprenticeship Readiness program. Comprehensive special education programs are available at all levels including work-study and vocational training.

LAPS is one of 41 districts and charter schools to offer the New Mexico State Seal of Bilingualism-Biliteracy (SSBB). The SSBB on a New Mexico high school diploma certifies that the recipient is proficient in a language other than English, demonstrating the ability to express oneself and participate effectively in most social and academic situations in the language. Since 2019, 170 students have received the SSBB in German, French, Latin, and Spanish.
