 1. Seneca Valley has been accepted into the League of Innovative Schools, a prestigious national network of forward-thinking school districts organized by Digital Promise. This membership connects Seneca Valley with leading districts across the country, providing access to cutting-edge resources, collaborative learning opportunities, and innovative programs. The district looks forward to sharing its strengths in career readiness, innovative cyber and arts programs, and future-ready learning spaces while benefiting from collective expertise to advance educational excellence.
 2. Seneca Valley is proud to announce seniors Elizabeth Browne, Adrian Wrubel, and Autumn Zacherl as National Merit Semifinalists, advancing in the competition for prestigious scholarships. Additionally, seniors Giulia Pologruto, Maddox Grupp, and Julian Varlotta were named Commended Students for their outstanding academic performance. These honors highlight the exceptional talent and dedication of our students as they continue to pursue excellence.
 3. Seventh grader Vivian Heverly represented Seneca Valley at the Junior National Young Leaders Conference in Washington, D.C. Nominated for her academic achievements and leadership potential, Vivian engaged in hands-on learning about American leadership, toured historic sites, and won the Presidential race simulation. She also served as one of fifteen student speakers, showcasing her communication and leadership skills during this transformative experience.
