PACIFIC VIEW CHARTER SCHOOL

Fall Edition Newsletter

Fall is here and learning at PVC is in full effect. We continue to focus on reading this year and teachers are working hard to add the PVC Literacy Strategies into all courses and curriculum. The Oceanside Library will be visiting PVC on October 29 and the Moreno Valley Library visited the Moreno Valley Campus on September 6.

College and Career readiness is another PVC focus and our Counseling department has ramped up our college career presentations, field trips and events. Oceanside middle school will be hosting career day on October 1st and high school will have a Career Fair on October 10. See your Supervisory Teacher or check PVC Connect in Schoology for more information or to get in touch with our academic counseling team.

Now is a great time to start a club or join a club. Check out PVC Connect in Schoology for active clubs, or contact Gayl Johnson gjohnson@pacificview.org for an application to start a club. New clubs that recently formed are the High School Medical Club, Middle School Exercise Club and the Middle School Science Club. High School students can also join the PVC Soccer team which plays games against other schools in the area weekly. See your teacher or PVC Connect for more details.

Finally, safety is of utmost importance at Pacific View. We sent out a safety letter on September 23 that detailed all of our safety protocols, including the rules for being on campus. Parents, please review this letter carefully and support us in working hard to maintain a safe school environment so that all students can learn in a stress free and welcoming place.

Warm regards,
Erin Gorence
Executive Director

What's Up Moreno Valley?

School has been underway for a little over a month and great things have been and will be happening at our Moreno Valley campus.

- We had our first event, Coyote Campus Day, which was a huge success. Students participated in learning about PVC and our offerings. The Moreno Valley Library paid a visit to sign up students for a library card and offered free books. Ms. Koos showed students information about college and career opportunities along with what's coming up for presentations. Even Cali Coyote stopped by for a visit and showed off their PVC gear.
- Mrs. Meck, our Site Supervisor, became an Ambassador of the Chamber of Commerce for the City. She is representing PVC every time she heads out into the community promoting our wonderful program.
- Our school hit the bowling lanes last week for a fun time with other students and staff trying to beat out the teachers. Strikes were happening in every lane. Who won? Ask a MV student to find out.
- Ms. Koos has been planning some insightful presentations focused on college and career with even a field trip to Moreno Valley College in mid November. More information is posted in Schoology and PVC Connect.

- Coming up in October, interested students will be heading to Overflow Farms to learn about agriculture, planting, harvesting, and will have an opportunity to take some wonderful veggies and fruits home. If you want to participate, sign up in the Front Office.

Stay tuned for more adventures from What's Up Moreno Valley.

NWEA Assessment Spring Testing Window is Now Open

Teachers are helping students take their FALL MAPs NWEA Math and English assessments. Families should be receiving your student's scores from these fall assessments. The idea behind these assessments is to make sure that we are looking for each student's personal growth.

In spring students who meet their NWEA goal get 3% added to one of the courses. If they meet both math and reading goals they will get a 3% increase for two of their courses. Additionally, the NWEA test replaces an assignment on the day that they take each test.

character, integrity, academics, and community engagement that make our city shine like a star.

Anthony just graduated from PVC in September. He is already enrolled at Mira Costa, and eventually plans to transfer to a four year university. While at PVC his favorite class was Biology and English. He credits his teachers for being passionate, resulting in an enjoyable class. Anthony will miss the food, staff, friends and Beaker the Therapy dog.

College & Career Counseling

We want all students to pursue fulfilling careers that reflect their interests and life goals. Each week, we will have college or career events, including presentations, field trips, and meet & greet opportunities. These include community colleges, four-year colleges, trade schools, and the military. For more information, please refer to PVC Connect!
