SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Fontana Unified Families,

Welcome to a new school year! At Fontana Unified, we are proud to champion the visual and performing arts as an essential part of a well-rounded education. The arts ignite creativity, build confidence, and inspire collaboration, giving our students powerful tools to express themselves and shine in unique ways.

This year, we look forward to celebrating the incredible talents of our young artists, musicians, dancers, and performers. Their dedication and passion enrich our schools and bring joy to our entire community.

I wish each of our students a successful and fulfilling year, filled with opportunities to create, perform, and discover the joy of the arts. Together, let's continue to nurture their gifts and support the amazing work happening in our Visual and Performing Arts programs.

Warmly,
Miki R. Inbody

Message from
ARTSEDUCATION COORDINATOR
Kenneth Bencomo

Welcome back! I am so excited for the year ahead and all that it will bring for the arts in Fontana Unified. The creativity, dedication, and passion of our teachers and students continue to inspire me, and I am deeply grateful for the work our educators do every day to keep the arts thriving in our schools.

This year is especially exciting as we launch our new Elementary Arts Program, which will provide thousands of students across the district with meaningful access to visual and performing arts. From music and dance to theater and visual art, our youngest learners will now have more opportunities than ever to explore their creativity, express themselves, and discover new passions.

The arts are a vital part of education and of building confident, well-rounded students. Together, with the support of our incredible teachers, staff, and families, we are creating a future where every child in Fontana has the chance to experience the joy and power of the arts.

Thank you for your commitment and support—I look forward to an inspiring, creative, and joyful school year for all.

WELCOME

PRINCIPAL PERSPECTIVE Barbara Kelley

A.B. MILLER HIGH SCHOOL

As a former high school band director and now a high school principal, I've had the privilege of witnessing firsthand how the arts can transform students—not just creatively, but academically and personally. In the band room, I saw students develop discipline, resilience, and a sense of belonging. These weren't just musicians; they were problem-solvers, collaborators, and leaders in the making. The arts provide a unique space where students learn to express themselves, manage time effectively, and work toward long-term goals—skills that translate directly into academic success. Now, as a principal, I see the broader impact of arts education across all disciplines. Students involved in music, theater, visual arts, and dance often show increased engagement in school, improved attendance, and higher GPAs. The arts foster critical thinking and creativity, which are essential in today's interdisciplinary learning environments. Whether it's interpreting a Shakespearean monologue or composing a jazz solo, students are constantly analyzing, synthesizing, and applying knowledge in meaningful ways. Moreover, the arts build community. They give students a voice and a platform to share their stories, which is especially powerful in a diverse school setting. I've seen shy students blossom on stage, and struggling learners find confidence through painting or performance. These experiences don't just enrich their education—they shape their identity and future. Supporting arts programs isn't just about nurturing talent; it's about investing in the whole child and creating a school culture where every student can thrive.

PARENT PERSPECTIVE Alice Strout

Pablo Picasso once said, "Every child is an artist. The problem is how to remain an artist once we grow up." I am proud that my son, Aiden, a senior at Jurupa Hills High School, has remained an artist and is preparing for a future doing what he loves most. From preschool on, he has spent countless hours creating characters, writing stories, and animating them on his iPad—using the arts to express himself and grow socially and emotionally. His passion has fueled his academics as well: at Randall Pepper Elementary, he won the county science fair with a project on stop-motion animation; at Fontana Middle, he enhanced a virtual history lesson by animating the Greek Gods; and at Jurupa Hills, he overcame stage fright performing with the band and is now learning piano to compose his own soundtracks. Thanks to educators who valued and encouraged the arts, Aiden has flourished in Fontana Unified. As he graduates, our family credits the arts for motivating him through school and look forward with excitement to the creative career ahead of him.

STUDENT PERSPECTIVE

Jazmine Haros, 12
President of Theatre
KAISER HIGH SCHOOL

For Kaiser High School senior Jazmine Haros, theatre has been much more than an extracurricular activity—it has been a safe space, a family, and a source of inspiration throughout her high school years. "I am a part of theatre at Kaiser because it gives me the opportunity to create art and inspire others," Jazmine shared. "Through theatre, I've been able to connect with people in a way unlike anything else, and the feeling of being on stage fills my heart with so much joy." Since her freshman year, Jazmine has embraced every opportunity the program has offered, finding a place where she could take risks and grow both as an artist and as a person. "I've been able to be in a space where I am not afraid to be myself or fail," she reflected. The community has been a cornerstone of her experience. Surrounded by supportive and welcoming peers, Jazmine has felt motivated to pursue her passions wholeheartedly. "They impassion me to do what I love and to continue creating," she said. As Jazmine prepares to graduate, her journey with theatre is far from over. She plans to double major in literature and theatre in college, carrying forward the lessons and love she discovered at Kaiser. For Jazmine Haros, theatre has been more than a stage—it has been a second home and a guiding light as she looks toward the next chapter of her story.

"I hope that in the future, I find another group of people and mentors like those here at Kaiser Theatre. I want to find another home away from home where I can create the art I love."

ENVIRONMENTAL PERSPECTIVE

UNDERSTANDING PROP 28: WHAT IT MEANS

CHAPARRAL ELEMENTARY SCHOOL
Music Instrument Exploration

In November 2022, California voters passed Proposition 28, a measure that brings guaranteed funding for arts and music education in public schools. This means every school will now receive money specifically for the arts—funding that cannot be used for anything else.

For our schools, Prop 28 has already made a big difference. We've been able to hire new teachers, start new programs, and plan for expanded arts opportunities from kindergarten through 12th grade. Schools can now offer more classes in music, art, dance, theater, and media arts, and provide the supplies students need to succeed.

The funding is based on student enrollment, with extra support going to schools that serve more economically disadvantaged students. This ensures that all students, especially those who may not have had access before, now get the chance to explore their creativity.

Research shows that arts education improves student learning, boosts confidence, and supports social-emotional growth. It also helps students build important life skills like collaboration, problem-solving, and creativity—skills they'll use far beyond the classroom.

Prop 28 is an investment in our children's future. Together, parents, educators, and community members can make sure these funds are used in ways that truly benefit students.

With Prop 28, the arts are no longer extra—they're an essential part of every student's education.

Ava Zazueta loves all things art! She sings, she dances, she writes, she draws, and she is always using her imagination.

She is such a creative and energetic scholar! Every time she visits the VAPA classroom she is all smiles, ready to create and share with her classmates. Her illustrations are filled with great detail and beautiful color that add even more details to her creative writing stories. She sings loudly and proudly and with such poise, like she is destined to be on the stage. Recently she came to school all excited about musicals and wanting to know if she could practice and perform "a singing play" for her class retelling favorite stories she had read at the library. Students like Ava are highly motivated to explore the arts and learn how to push themselves into trying new things. She pushes the boundaries of creativity every day. As her enrichment teacher for 2nd and 3rd grade, I have had the joy of watching her artistic expression develop and directly translate into other academic areas. Ava is a rising star, her creativity will take her far!

EMILY
MORALES
MUSIC/THEATRE/CHOIR

Emily Morales, a 2023 graduate of Jurupa Hills High School, has been on a remarkable journey since her days as a shy freshman. Before joining FUSD, she attended Jurupa Vista Elementary and Ruth O. Harris Middle School. Today, she is pursuing a degree in Theatre Performing Arts at California State University, Long Beach—and bringing characters to life as a performer at the Disneyland Resort.

Emily immersed herself in theatre throughout all four years of high school, both on stage and behind the scenes. She was also a dedicated member of the IB Theatre program during her junior and senior years. Some of her standout roles included Moana (Moana Jr.), the Wicked Witch of the West (The Wonderful Wizard of Oz), Jo March (Little Women), Sister Mary Patrick (Sister Act the Musical), Snoopy (You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown), and Belle (A Christmas Carol).

Beyond the roles, Emily says theatre taught her invaluable life lessons—most importantly, the confidence to “speak up and take up space in every room.” Those lessons carried her into job interviews, college applications, and now the professional theatre world.

Emily entered high school timid and unsure of herself. Encouraged by her mother, she auditioned for theatre—only to “bomb” her first vocal tryout. But her director, James Griffin, saw her potential and cast her in the ensemble of Children of Eden. With the mentorship of Griffin and assistant director Nathan Cabrera, Emily blossomed as both a performer and a person. Their support extended well beyond the stage, even attending her academic award nights. To this day, she considers them not only mentors but friends.

Emily also credits choir teacher Val McGlasson for believing in her voice and Principal Antonio Viramontes for consistently supporting the theatre program. Together, these four educators left a lasting mark on her life.

Since graduating, Emily has continued to chase her passion for the arts. Just two months after high school, she became the youngest member of Entertainment Costuming at Disneyland Resort in 2023. Within four months, she auditioned for and landed her first role as a Disney character performer. Now, she has the joy of entertaining thousands of visitors from around the world every day.

Balancing full-time college and full-time work is no easy task, but Emily continues to make space for her music. She has taught herself guitar and still takes lessons from Ms. McGlasson when she can. Looking ahead, Emily hopes to combine her love for acting and music into a creative career that inspires others—just as her mentors inspired her.

Class of 2023

NATALIE

Natalia Ramirez, a proud 2021 graduate of Summit High School, has transformed her passion for the performing arts into a thriving career in communications.

Growing up, Natalia immersed herself in theatre and music, fascinated by how performance could connect people and provide moments of joy and escape. During her time in Summit High School's theatre program, she explored every aspect of the stage—from rehearsals and production logistics to costumes, makeup, and set design. She even participated in performing arts workshops at Disneyland, experiences that fueled her creative spirit and sharpened her skills.

“Seven years later, I took my love for performing arts and turned to the communications field,” Natalia shares. “Now serving as a Public Relations intern at the Disneyland Resort, I make the connection between career paths through my love of storytelling and impacting others through communication. Communication is its own art form where I manifest many of the passions and skills I learned in performing arts.” The motto “the show must go on” remains central to her journey. Natalia explains that the resilience she developed on stage continues to guide her in her professional life: “As performers, we must step into the minds and hearts of our characters and often our audience. In communications, we mirror that need to better understand the hopes and desires of the people we’re reaching.”

Natalia's career path has already taken her to remarkable places. She has contributed to marketing campaigns for New York Fashion Week, worked with brands like Chick-fil-A and Chevrolet, and now fulfills a dream role with Disney—a company she admires for its innovation, creativity, and legacy of storytelling.

“Growing up in Fontana, I dreamt of Broadway lights and of telling stories on stage,” she reflects. “Now, I get to honor both sides of myself—the performer and the communicator—through the work I do every day.”

Her advice for today's young performers and aspiring communicators is heartfelt:

“The love you currently hold for telling stories, being on stage, and building a world for others to escape to will always follow you. You'll find times to apply the skills you've learned on and off stage because it is who you are. I am proud of my roots at Summit High School and carry them into my career. You can do it too!”

Natalia's story is a testament to the lasting impact of the arts, showing how the skills learned in high school theatre can shape a meaningful, creative, and influential career.

KATHRYN GALVAN

VAPA ENRICHMENT

After more than twenty years in the Fontana Unified School District, Kat Galvan is excited to bring the VAPA experience to students at Beech Elementary. Coming from a family of artists, she believes deeply in the healing power of art and the importance of giving children the opportunity to explore their creativity. She enjoys sketching and painting in both watercolor and acrylic.

Kat is also a singer, having worked in the Latin recording industry where she lent her voice to commercial jingles and background vocals for many well-known artists. Today, she continues her love of music by jamming with family and friends, including fellow educators.

"The opportunity to share the arts with the youngest students in Fontana is an incredible gift," she says. "Introducing our children to the arts allows them to practice skills that foster creativity, curiosity, and lifelong learning. With a paintbrush and an open mind, the sky is the limit as to what they can achieve."

WILLIAM BORJAN

MUSIC

Bill Borjan is in his eighth year as Director of Bands at Jurupa Hills High School, where he has built a dynamic program that includes the Spartan Regiment Marching Band, Spartan Guard, Spartan String Ensemble, Spartan Jazz Band, Concert Band, and Spartan Drumline. He also teaches AP Music Theory, guiding students to top honors, including a state marching band championship.

With over 34 years of experience as a professional drummer, Bill has performed in theater productions and with ensembles such as the Chaffey College Jazz Ensemble and the Riverside City College Tuesday Night Band. His real-world expertise enriches his teaching and inspires his students.

Beyond the podium, Bill serves as Visual and Performing Arts Department Chair, district secondary instrumental lead, and union representative—advocating for music education and the power of the arts to transform lives.

KEVIN THEILACKER

ELEMENTARY MUSIC

Kevin is celebrating his 36th year teaching General Music in Fontana, where he continues to share his passion for music with generations of students.

As the lead teacher for the elementary music program, he not only inspires children through singing, movement, and percussion, but also serves as a mentor to new teachers, helping them grow in their craft.

Kevin finds great joy in watching students discover their creativity and express themselves through music. He often says with a smile, "They actually pay me to make music with children!"—a reflection of his genuine love for both teaching and music.

CHRISTINE AVILA

DANCE

Christine Avila brings passion and joy to the dance program at Southridge Tech Middle School, where she has been teaching for the past three years. A lifelong dancer who began her training at the age of three, Christine has studied Ballet, Tap, Jazz, and Ballet Folklórico, building a strong foundation in both classical and cultural traditions.

With more than 25 years as a Dance Director and over 30 years of coaching and choreographing, Christine has dedicated her life to sharing the art of dance with students and the community. Her 15 years of teaching experience include leading community dance events, working with special needs dancers, and inspiring the next generation of performers.

Christine has worked with USA for 10 years, sharing her expertise with students across the region, and has served as a dance judge for five years, helping to celebrate and elevate young talent. Christine Avila continues to enrich Fontana Unified through the power of movement and performance.

ERIN "McKev" McKEVITT

THEATRE

Erin "McKev" McKevitt discovered her love for performing as Peter Rabbit in her kindergarten Mother's Day play—a spark that would shape her life. A former nationally ranked competitive artistic roller skater, Erin's passion for the arts led her to the California Institute of the Arts, where she earned her BFA and served as Artistic Director of Next Big Thing Children's Theatre. While regional roles in productions such as Evita and West Side Story brought her excitement, it was teaching that became her true calling.

Beginning her career in the Bay Area, Erin coached Hoover Middle School's dance team to their first victory in over a decade. In 2019, she directed Fontana High School's fall play Proof, securing the school's first CETA win. Since then, she has earned the festival's Artistic Merit award three times across her last six productions. Erin reflects, "I'm so blessed to do this job with these amazing humans, and I'm especially grateful to do it at Fohi. Watching students grow through the skills they learn in theatre fills me with such pride and joy."

TEACHER SPOTLIGHT

MATTHEW LOPEZ
THEATRE/CHOIR

Matthew Lopez has grown into one of the defining voices of Jurupa Hills High School's award-winning theatre program, The Players of the Palace. His journey began as a freshman in The Wonderful Wizard of Oz, where he brought the Wizard to life in a production that earned 1st place at CETA. Performing his role before 1,800 students and educators from across California, Matthew helped his cast secure the festival's highest honor—the Ensemble Award. Since then, Matthew has built a remarkable resume of diverse roles: ensemble member in Moana, Juror #1 in 12 Angry Jurors, ensemble in Finding Nemo: The Musical, and Clarence in It's a Wonderful Life—a standout performance that once again placed him on the CETA stage, where he was honored with the prestigious Adjudicator's Award for his nuanced and moving work. He later delighted audiences as the pompous yet hilarious Duke of Weselton in Frozen: The Musical, earning widespread acclaim for his comedic timing and energy. Now in his senior year, Matthew serves as President of Drama Club, leading with both passion and humility. Most recently, he has been cast in his most challenging role yet: Ichabod Crane in an all-new, original adaptation of The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, the production that will launch the Players' 15th Anniversary Season. Matthew's dedication, artistry, and leadership inspire everyone around him. From his very first step onstage to his final season as a student, he has embodied the Players' tradition of excellence, leaving behind a legacy that will echo long after the curtain falls.

BELLE ROSE
HELLO
MUSIC

We are thrilled to shine the spotlight on Bella Hello, an outstanding 7th grade musician in the Almeria Advanced Orchestra program. Bella is a remarkable double bass player whose hard work, dedication, and passion for music continue to inspire everyone around her. From the moment she picked up the double bass, Bella committed countless hours to practicing, constantly refining her craft. Her performances showcase exceptional technique, precision, and musicality far beyond her years. In fact, Bella's talent was recognized early—she was selected to perform in the District Honor Orchestra as a 6th grader, a prestigious achievement that speaks to her skill and maturity as a musician. Beyond her musical abilities, Bella is a true team player. She is always willing to lend a hand wherever the music department needs help, whether it's setting up chairs, tuning instruments, or encouraging her peers. Bella Hello is not just an incredible bassist—she is a vital part of our musical community. We can't wait to see where her musical journey takes her next!

Nominated by Monica Rubio

ELIA LOPEZ
PHOTOGRAPHY

Among the many talented students to come through the photography program at Jurupa Hills High School, one who truly stands out is Elia Lopez. Elia's dedication and artistry carried her through all three photography courses—Beginning, Advanced, and IB Photography—where she consistently impressed with her creativity, skill, and enthusiasm.

A member of the Class of 2025, Elia graduated this past May having fulfilled the requirements to earn her CTE cord, a recognition of her commitment and achievement in the arts. She approached every assignment with focus and imagination, often creating work strong enough to be featured on the class blog homepage. One of her most memorable projects, Me and Myself, layered past and present in a striking self-portrait, capturing the passage of time through her own lens.

Elia's final portfolio reflected not only her technical mastery but also her growth as a creative thinker and visual storyteller. Her teacher describes her as "a protégé" and recalls the joy of watching her evolve as an artist over the years.

Though Elia will be pursuing a degree in Interior Design, her passion for photography will continue to shine—whether showcasing her designs or capturing the beauty of everyday life with her future family. Her journey is a reminder of how the arts can inspire lifelong creativity, no matter the path.

Nominated by Rebecca Cauchon

ANABELLE ESCOBEDO
MUSIC

Anabelle Escobedo, a proud member of the Class of 2026, is one of the driving forces behind the revitalization of Kaiser High School's music department. As Flute Section Leader, Band Treasurer, and a dedicated multi-instrumentalist, she exemplifies talent, leadership, and passion. Anabelle's musical journey is as diverse as it is impressive. She has mastered the flute, piccolo, violin, and alto saxophone, showcasing her versatility. She is a standout contributor to the Wind Ensemble—Kaiser's premier performing group—as well as the String Orchestra, Jazz Band, Saxophone Quartet, Concert Band, Marching Band, and Symphony Orchestra. Anabelle continues to shine as she has earned spots in the SBCMEA Honor Band, the RCC Tribute to John Philip Sousa Honor Band, and most recently performed with the world-renowned Tournament of Roses Honor Band in the 2025 Rose Parade.

Anabelle is recognized not only for her musical achievements but also for her character. Her strong work ethic, humility, and encouragement of her peers make her an invaluable leader within Kaiser's music department.

Anabelle Escobedo is proof that with dedication, passion, and kindness, student musicians can set the standard for excellence while inspiring those around them.

Nominated by Roberto Ronquillo

Logan Wright is a shining example of a well-rounded artist whose passion for the stage and for music continues to inspire those around him. A dedicated member of Summit High School's drama club, Logan has taken on a wide variety of roles that showcase his range and commitment to the craft.

In 2024, Logan captivated audiences as both the Prince and the Wolf in Into the Woods. The following year, he contributed to Summit's original semi-devised theatre production, bringing depth and creativity to his roles. He is also a familiar face in the school's annual haunted houses, where his talent for character work adds excitement and thrills.

Beyond campus, Logan continues to pursue opportunities to grow as a performer. He recently starred in Schoolhouse Rock with the Theatre Experience of Southern California, further demonstrating his versatility and dedication.

But Logan's artistry doesn't stop at theatre—he is also a musician with his own band, where he brings the same passion, energy, and creativity that define his stage performances.

Whether performing in a musical, devising original theatre, scaring audiences in a haunted house, or playing music with his band, Logan Wright exemplifies the spirit of a true performer: committed, versatile, and always ready to share his talents with the community.

Creativity Takes Center Stage: Introducing the New Elementary Arts

Fontana Unified is thrilled to announce the launch of a brand-new Elementary Arts Program, bringing the joy of music, dance, visual art, and theater to Elementary students!

This exciting initiative ensures that all students have access to high-quality, standards-based arts education, giving our youngest learners the chance to explore their creativity, build confidence, and shine.

For our elementary students, enrichment will be led by a traveling Elementary Enrichment Itinerant Teachers deliver fun, arts-based lessons. What makes this unique? Instead of simply teaching art in isolation, these lessons weave core academics like reading, math, science, and social studies into the arts—making learning dynamic, hands-on, and meaningful.

But this program is about more than just art—it's about helping students grow as creative thinkers, collaborative communicators, lifelong learners, and changemakers. By celebrating diverse artistic traditions and encouraging self-expression, the program supports not only academics, but also social-emotional well-being, cultural identity, and a love of learning that lasts a lifetime.

With this new program, Fontana Unified is empowering every child to thrive—whether they are painting, performing, singing, or dancing, they are learning the skills to succeed in school and beyond. This year, watch our elementary enrichment classrooms transform into spaces where imagination thrives, curiosity is celebrated, and every student has the opportunity to create, express, and grow.

KAISER & FOHI THEATRE ATTEND CAL STATE STAGE CRAFT SYMPOSIUM

On September 5, Kaiser and FOHI theatre students attended the Stagecraft Symposium at Cal State San Bernardino, where they dove into the world of technical theatre. Students participated in hands-on workshops in costumes, lighting, set painting, and design, while also engaging in panel discussions with IATSE union members, stage managers, and theatre professionals.

The day included tours of the CSUSB theatre facilities, exciting behind-the-scenes insights, and even an encounter with a high-tech robot dog. Students left inspired and better prepared as they now look ahead to the next stage of the symposium—the inaugural Tech Wars competition this winter.

SUMMIT THEATRE:

Kelsey Browne
Theatre Director
SUMMIT HIGH SCHOOL

Building Community On & Off Stage

Under the direction of Kelsey Browne, the Summit High School Theatre Department continues to grow as a hub for creativity and collaboration. The program currently offers Drama 1 and Drama 2. Students in Drama 1 are introduced to all aspects of theatre, while Drama 2 provides opportunities to dive deeper into acting techniques and performance skills.

Summit Theatre is known for its teamwork across campus. Partnering with the engineering program and art club, students design and build props and sets that bring each production to life. Beyond the classroom, the drama club is an active presence on campus, best known for its annual haunted house—an event that draws crowds every year and showcases both talent and imagination.

With Browne’s leadership, Summit’s theatre program not only trains young performers but also cultivates a spirit of community and innovation.

THEATRE

SECONDARY MUSIC SIZZLE WITH SUMMER BAND CAMPS

Every summer, high school & middle school marching bands across the district hold summer band camp—a time to build skills, prepare shows, and strengthen school spirit. Over several weeks, students take part in marching blocks to learn drill and movement, and music blocks where they rehearse in sectionals, caption groups, and full ensemble. Color guard members also train alongside the band, mastering choreography, equipment work, and routines that bring each performance to life.

By the end of camp, students have learned their fight song, alma mater, pep band tunes, and a significant portion of their field show. Band camp traditions often conclude with parent preview nights or celebrations, showcasing the dedication and teamwork of these young performers.

Through long rehearsals and summer heat, band camp sets the stage for a successful season while building lasting memories and community pride.

A Tradition of EXCELLENCE

Under the direction of Roberto Ronquillo, the Kaiser High School Instrumental Music Department has flourished into one of the region's most dynamic and award-winning programs. The department is home to eight distinguished ensembles—Concert Band, String Orchestra, Marching Band, Wind Ensemble, Symphony Orchestra, Color Guard & Winter Guard, and Jazz Ensemble—each giving students unique opportunities to perform, compete, and grow as musicians.

Beyond these core groups, Kaiser's chamber ensembles, including the Saxophone Quartet and String Quartet, provide students with intimate performance experiences that sharpen technical skills and deepen musical expression. For those seeking an advanced academic challenge, the department also offers AP Music Theory, allowing students to explore the structure, language, and creativity of music at the collegiate level.

Ronquillo's leadership has built a program that not only celebrates musical excellence but also fosters collaboration, discipline, and artistry. AB MILLER AND SUMMIT'S TV PRODUCTION PROGRAMS

COLLABORATE ON STUDENT PODCAST

In an exciting collaboration, the TV Production programs from AB Miller High School and Summit High School came together to create a podcast highlighting the creativity and vision of both programs. Under the direction of Cruz Jimenez at A.B. Miller and Artie Casas at Summit, students showcased their skills in media production while fostering connections across campuses.

The podcast featured special guests from Summit's Skyhawk Productions, President Selene Butalid, 12 and Vice President Victoria Salazar, 12, who joined the conversation to share insights and experiences. Hosting the episode were ABTV's very own President Jeremy Millias, 11 and Vice President Divya Kaur, 11 who guided the discussion with professionalism and enthusiasm.

Topics ranged from celebrating the strengths of each program, to brainstorming new ideas for collaboration, to building recognition for student media across the district. The project not only provided a platform for student voices but also set the stage for a successful new school year filled with innovation and partnership.

"All Hands On Decks"

Youth Experience

The All Hands On Decks series is an immersive, hands-on capstone to the Stage Red Youth DJ Program. Through curated site visits, students gain behind-the-scenes exposure to live event production, from staging, lighting, and sound to hospitality and guest management. Culminating in a live DJ Showcase and youth talent show, participants transition from learners to performers—building technical skills, confidence, and professionalism while preparing for real-world opportunities in the entertainment industry.
