ACT Tutoring

STARS ACT Prep Course

SMCC offers a five-day prep course taught by Yale University graduate Greg Owens. He has been successfully preparing students for the ACT since 2000. After taking and reviewing dozens of the ACT tests, he has recognized patterns in the test that allow students to pick up easy points. He not only teaches these patterns and other standard test-taking strategies, but he also focuses on developing the underlying skill set that the ACT aims to measure. SMCC offers this prep course at school before the February and April ACT tests. The cost of the five-day course is $250. Ask your counselor about specific dates.
