Our Community

Springfield is nestled in the Southern Willamette Valley, surrounded by the beauty of the Cascade Mountains, and the McKenzie River bordering our town.

We acknowledge that our District is situated in the traditional homeland of the Kalapuya people, specifically the community that was known as Chifin, the area that we now call Springfield. The Kalapuya are now members of the Confederated Tribes of the Grande Ronde and the Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians, and members of the Kalapuya still live, work, study and thrive in this area, and continue to make important contributions here in Springfield, across the land we now refer to as Oregon.

Pioneers first rolled into Springfield in 1848, choosing the location based on spring water and pasture land. The city was incorporated in 1885. The Washburne Historic District was named after a banker and miller C.W. Washburne and comprises 84 acres adjacent to downtown Springfield. The neighborhood was added to the National Register of Historic Places in 1987.

Author Ken Kesey (“One Flew Over The Cuckoo’s Nest”) attended Springfield High School and a mural honoring him can be found downtown on Main Street in Springfield. Surrounding the mural are plenty of charming eateries and shops.

Learn more about the city’s colorful past at the Springfield Museum’s Historic Springfield Interpretive Center and immerse yourself in the Dorris Ranch Living History Farm, the nation’s oldest commercial filbert (hazelnut) farm in continuous operation.
