| Site Director has taken ownership of the program, and provides solid leadership to the ELOP staff.                                                                                                                                          | 1         |
| Washington and Expanded Learning work well with each other and we are always communicating with each other. We also meet in regular bases through out the week.                                                                             | 1         |
| There are many options for families.                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 1         |
| opportunities for afterschool activities for students and families; ProYouth HEART seemed to provide more structure and opporunities than the current programs; I believe our greatest strength is Carlos Loza, our ProYouth Site Director. | 1         |
| I have noticed that the program seems to be more organized this year.                                                                                                                                                                       | 1         |

| The class leaders are not as willing to work with the classroom teachers and often get into the teacher's things.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 1         |
| Student behaviors with the ELOP staff who has not built relationships with our students; I do not feel that they are all well trained in student supports and we have some students with special needs who attend; Mr. Loza does an excellent job as our Site Director, but the "walk on" programs are not always trained to do so. We have also experienced damage and misplaced items in teachers' classroom and other rooms. | 1         |
| The challenges that I have observed at my site are that students only go on certain days. This has caused some issues                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |           |

| - Improve the role of the school garden - STEAM activities? - art education - Carboard Challenge? - Improve CHARACTER BUILDING curriculum in ELOP (Character Strong resources would be GREAT in ELOP!) -> Counselor or Social Worker access in ELOP - Utilize student leadership to promote positive behavior in afterschool program - Utilize TEAMS or HOUSES in ELOP to promote PBIS - Parent Engagement (parenting classes, volunteers, etc.) | 1         |
| We would like growth in attendance. We are open to having a meetina with ELOP/ASP staff to go over school PAWS.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 1         |

12. If you could change one thing about the afterschool program to better serve your students and families, what would it be?

| More behavior support                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 1         |
| More students enrolled and participating in ELEVO.                                                                                                                                                                             | 1         |
| Having more support with behaviors. Having an SOS-I to help with conflicts or beahviors.                                                                                                                                       | 1         |
| Consistency and clear expectations                                                                                                                                                                                             | 1         |
| Training of the staff of some of the programs; we have had some very inexperienced staff come on and it has been very difficult for them. If the activites are not engaging for the students it can become chaos after school. | 1         |
| It would benefit our families for the after-school program to be Monday through Friday.                                                                                                                                        | 1         |
| Additional pro-youth staff and fewer independent contractors. It makes it difficult for site directors to ensure the implementation of the pro-youth/VUSD vision and mission.                                                  | 1         |

| I think that afterschool program for students are very important and provide great opporunites for our families. I have seen many changes take place that cause me some concerns for student supervision, and at a site such as Four Creeks where we have SLC classes, we need the programs to have trained staff members to support these students. continued enforcement of gate release times; | 1         |

| I have to mention that Sam Guerrero, the ASP Lead, is one sharp person. I really, really like working with her. She has a positive attitude and brings it every day!                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 1         |

| Although things are better because as time goes on, the program is still learning how to function. Anytime we come across something new to the year, it is a learning curve. It would be nice to have training for the after school staff in how to be proactive in situations.                                                                                                                   | 1         |
