ANNOUNCEMENTS

- Happy Spook-tacular spirit week Mustangs! We have a lot in store for you this week, so listen carefully to each day's morning announcements. To start us off, today's spirit day is Mythical Monday. If you dressed up as a mythical or fictional character, check in at the photo booth during lunch to get spirit points for your class. We will also have a Guess the Candy Competition near the crossroads that anyone can enter. The guess closest to the real number of candies in the jar will win! In the crossroads you'll also find the class cauldrons. We will be collecting new in-package socks and hygiene products to donate to Covenant House Alaska. The class with the most donated items by the end of the week will win the most WACKO points. Hygiene products and socks aren't our only fundraiser in store for this week! We will have donation bins in the main office all week collecting money to donate to the families displaced in Western Alaska by Typhoon Halong. The class with the most money donated by end of day Friday will win the most WACKO points. Tomorrow's spirit day is Trick or Teach Tuesday. Dress as your favorite CHS staff member or stereotypical teacher. Dress code still applies. Make good choices mustangs.
