

Students and parents can start to be proactive instead of reactive when it comes to dealing with incidents of inappropriate behavior that lead to avoidable issues. When students are comfortable sharing information school administrators, teachers and staff, we will get the information we need to maintain a positive school climate and get students the help they need. You will have the ability to address issues early on, before they spiral out of control.

On the Stop!t Application, students report anonymously via mobile app, and it is 100% anonymous, 100% of the time
