As we reflect on the first few weeks of this school year and the incredible work happening in our school community, I want to take a moment to express a giant thank you to our dedicated faculty and support staff. Their tireless commitment, compassion, and professionalism have made a lasting impact on our students' lives. From inspiring classroom instruction to behind-the-scenes support that keeps everything running smoothly, their efforts deserve our deepest appreciation. On that note, this week is National School Psychologist Week, and we are especially proud to recognize and thank our amazing school psychologists. Their work is vital to the well-being and success of our students. Whether it's supporting mental health, guiding students through challenges, or collaborating with families and staff, their expertise helps create a safe, supportive, and inclusive environment for all. At JBHS and throughout BUSD, school psychologists play a critical role in fostering academic achievement, emotional resilience, and positive behavior. Their contributions often happen behind the scenes, but their impact is felt in every classroom and by every student they support. Please join me in celebrating and thanking our school psychologist!
