

How does past reporting of the Israel-Palestine conflict play a role in people's perception of the conflict today?

IMPORTANCE:

- this conflict has gone on for generations
- without proper understanding, there cannot be a solution
- polarization is increasing more over the years due to media pressures

DATA COLLECTED:

- fits under the qualitative data category
- asks about perceptions of media that are subjective rather than measurable
- historical news media
- focuses on understanding meaning and narratives

UNIQUENESS:

- there have been many studies on how western media outlets can have media coverage create a lot of diversity in opinions
- the lens I am taking: HOW journalism and reporting works, as well as repeated strategies and patterns
