

HOMEWORK

Homework can be a constructive tool in the teaching/learning process when geared to the needs and abilities of students. Purposeful assignments not only enhance student achievement, but also develop self-discipline and associated good work habits. As an extension of the classroom, homework must be planned, organized, purposeful, and should provide feedback to students in a timely manner.

Homework should be an application or extension of a classroom experience and should not be assigned for disciplinary purposes.

Prior to the assignment of any homework, the assigning teacher will provide a written "class homework policy" describing how homework assignments may be accessed, how homework will be assessed or graded, and whether and how homework assignments will relate to the overall class grade. The class homework policy is to be clearly communicated and made accessible to both students and their parents/guardians. If any changes are made to the initial class homework policy, the teacher shall provide a written summary of the revised standards to students and parents/guardians. In no case, however, may revised class homework policy standards apply to previous homework assignments if the effect would negatively impact a student's overall grade.

For homework accessibility, teachers are encouraged to use online learning management systems/parent portals when available to communicate homework assignments. Also, without limiting a teacher's own methods for assessment and grading of homework, common objectives or elements for assessment might include accuracy, timeliness, effort, demonstration of understanding, and achievement of related competencies.
