MESSAGE FROM CHAIR OF THE BOARD

OUR STORY CONTINUES

► This past year has been another excellent one for Vancouver College. As we continue to move into our next century, I am grateful for the many of you who have contributed your volunteer time, your diverse talents and your financial resources for the betterment of VC. Our school's success is only possible through the interwoven cooperation of dedicated and top-notch faculty and staff, committed and enthusiastic parents, loyal and supportive alumni, all facilitated by the Board of Directors and overseen by our Trustees.

This year, one of the Board's most important tasks was the appointment of a new President. After a thorough and thoughtful search process and open competition—one that saw dozens of applications from across the country—we were proud to announce the appointment of the new President of Vancouver College, Mr. Daryl Weaver. Daryl brings with him a deep well of experience, and commitment to the mission, vision and the essential elements of an Edmund Rice education that defines Vancouver College. With a distinguished background in teaching and school administration, Daryl has consistently demonstrated the ability to lead with integrity, compassion, and a forward-thinking mindset. We all look forward to working with him as we begin this exciting new chapter for Vancouver College.

I also wish to thank Daryl's predecessor, Michelle Rupp, for the past three years of extraordinary service. She led this school with grace, courage, and a seemingly endless supply of energy.

And as a constant advocate for our focus on developing the whole person in each boy, Michelle saw the need for a music facility that matched the sublime excellence of our many talented music students. And with that in mind we continued to explore the possibilities of a new capital campaign, and christened Encore, which will allow us to further our campus redevelopment with a new music building on the corner of Cartier Street and 38th Avenue. The spinoffs from this project will include new digital media labs, multipurpose maker spaces, athletic and wrestling areas, as well as two new much-needed Senior School classrooms. Every present and future student will benefit from these changes, so I look forward to all of you supporting our campaign once it launches officially in October 2025.

We also appreciate the Legal Committee of the Board for their ongoing work in steering us through the litigation process. We continue to be committed to finding a resolution to these matters, and look forward to moving onto a spirit of reconciliation and healing for all of those alumni affected. As an alumnus myself, it remains one of my priorities to ensure that all Vancouver College Alumni Association members, which now comprises over 9,000 men, feel at home on our campus and a part of the brotherhood so many of us still cherish.

Finally, our Board and Administration welcome his Grace Archbishop Richard Smith as Trustee of Vancouver College, taking over from Archbishop Michael Miller. We look forward to the benefit of His Grace's insight, wisdom and ongoing support. Of course, Archbishop Miller will also be missed as a longtime friend of the College and advocate for Catholic education; it was appropriate that we bestowed the rare Honorary Alumnus status on him this past May, so that he also became a member of the Graduation Class of 2025.

I remain thankful for the blessings of the last year, many of which are due to each of you, while looking forward with optimism and excitement regarding the prospects of the years ahead for our beloved faith and learning community.

Semper Fidelis,

Brian Duong, (VC '01)

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE GUIDED BY OUR ESSENTIAL ELEMENTS

► In this, my final message as President, I wish to thank all of you who through the contribution of your time, talents and treasure (and often all three of those precious resources!) have had a direct hand in contributing to the vibrancy of our school and the success of our boys.

On a daily basis, those of us who work here are the beneficiaries of your gifts. Whether it is the beauty of the facilities we enjoy, the range of programs we offer, and depth of expertise that helps us ensure no students are left behind, you are our partners in VC's Mission of developing well rounded and faith-filled young men who will be equipped for life, leadership, and service to others once they leave our school. In today's world of fake news and geopolitical brinksmanship, the need for leaders and people of character, integrity, and faith has never been greater.

Thanks to the work of our Board several years ago, Vancouver College is fortunate to have two strong guiding principles that inform what and how we do things at school on a daily basis. The first is a strong Strategic Plan which was introduced three years ago and continues to provide a framework for the annual work undertaken by our seven standing Board Committees. The second is the Essential Elements, seven spiritual themes that are central to an education in the spirit of Edmund Rice. Together, these documents serve as both a compass and a map, helping us arrive at an important destination while paying attention to critical milestones along the way.

This year's Essential Element focuses our attention on collaborating and sharing responsibility for our Mission. Over the course of the year, our students sought opportunities for partnerships in everything from Faith in Action trips, to artistic endeavors, academics and many initiatives that brought boys from the elementary, middle and senior schools together to work towards success. This year we also introduced a new House System to further enhance collaboration across all three schools while boosting connectivity and school spirit even further.

One of our goals at VC is to help ensure our artistic and academic students enjoy many opportunities to develop and showcase their ability to deliver excellence in the same way that our student-athletes do. The philosopher Plato once said, "Music gives a soul to the universe, wings to the mind, flight to the imagination, and life to everything." It is a perspective that now inspires our own plan to build a new music centre at Vancouver College.

The new building will also allow expansion of other academic and athletic spaces that inspire our boys, spark their imagination, and bring new life to all aspects of our school campus. I am delighted to share that our Board has added to their unanimous endorsement of this project by providing one hundred percent financial participation in support of the campaign; every Board member and their family have already made a financial gift. We look forward to your support of the capital campaign launching this Fall to fund this transformative project.

For all of this and more, I once again say thank you. Without your generosity, together with God's grace and our own hard work, we would not have the resources to offer these programs, invest in the development of teachers and staff to support our students, and plan for the future with property and facilities that enable our boys to continue to reach for excellence in all their endeavors.

In February, I announced my intention to retire as of the end of the 2024-25 school year and as you read this, I am delighted to share that I now serve as a volunteer member of the Board's Advancement Committee. Thank you for your support during my three years as VC President. It has been an honour and a privilege to serve in this role and I look forward to continuing to work on the exciting capital campaign for the new music building.

May God bless and keep you all safe, always.

Michelle Rupp
President

FROM THE PRINCIPAL A YEAR OF DEEP COLLABORATION

We often talk about the power of relationships as at the core of what makes Vancouver College so special. As I reflect on this past year, my fifth and final as Principal, I can say with confidence that never have I felt this power more strongly: from our fantastic Class of 2025 to our more closely bonded faculty to our interwoven parent and alumni networks, we are indeed stronger together.

► This year's Essential Element, shared collaboration in our Mission, really set the stage and guided our unfolding adventures during the year, as any core value and focus on our Mission should do. And it started with our dedicated and talented staff: often we seek outside expertise in our staff retreats and professional development, but this year, we looked inward and grew tighter in our exploration of VC's Mission, especially our shared faith lives and roles as exemplars of the Edmund Rice charism for our boys. This manifested in our deeper diving into what it means to teach in a Catholic school in our fall sessions, and an experiencing of a mini-version of the Grade 12 Encounter retreat, our spiritual capstones, by all faculty and staff in January.

Academically, we came together and tightened up our curricular practice for our Ministry Inspection, for which we received an astonishing nine commendations. One of those was in regards to our Deep Learning initiative; here, too, we delved into relationships inside and outside the community in order to create more powerful and more frequent transformative learning experiences for our boys. The proliferation of field trips and cross-grade learning activities are two examples of this initiative come to life.

Of course, our relationships and collaboration continues outside of the classroom in our co-curricular programs. Our athletic programs maintain a healthy balance between the pursuit of collective excellence and the development of character; the outstanding results of so many of our student-athletes then followed as is often the case. Our artists and musicians worked together to create masterpieces, best exemplified by our Little Shop of Horrors musical and our Christmas and Spring Concerts. We look forward to what these wonderfully creative teams will do once we realize our new Music Building and related facilities in our upcoming capital campaign and building project.

Faith and what it means to be part of a school community in the tradition of Blessed Edmund Rice continue to be at the heart of our collaborations schoolwide. We continued to deepen our global connections with our 250 Edmund Rice schools worldwide, especially in Peru. Our first VC moms group travelled there this past summer, adding to our many student and staff trips and relationships formed over the past several years. We look forward to focussing as a staff on the Edmund Rice Education Beyond Borders (EREBB) possibilities for each and every student to experience the power of our external relationships.

Stepping into the President and overall school leader role, beyond the internally focussed Principal role of the past five years, I am excited at the potential for deeper connections with every stakeholder in our faith and learning community. Whether as parents and alumni united in a campaign to improve our campus even further or as a consortium of schools in the Americas, Africa, Australia, and Europe, united as pilgrims of hope standing in solidarity with those on the margins, VC's power will continue to lie in our relationships. A profound thank you to all of you who are helping to make this Mission and Vision come to life through your volunteer time, financial support, diverse talents, and deeply felt prayers.

Semper Fidelis,

Daryl Weaver
Principal

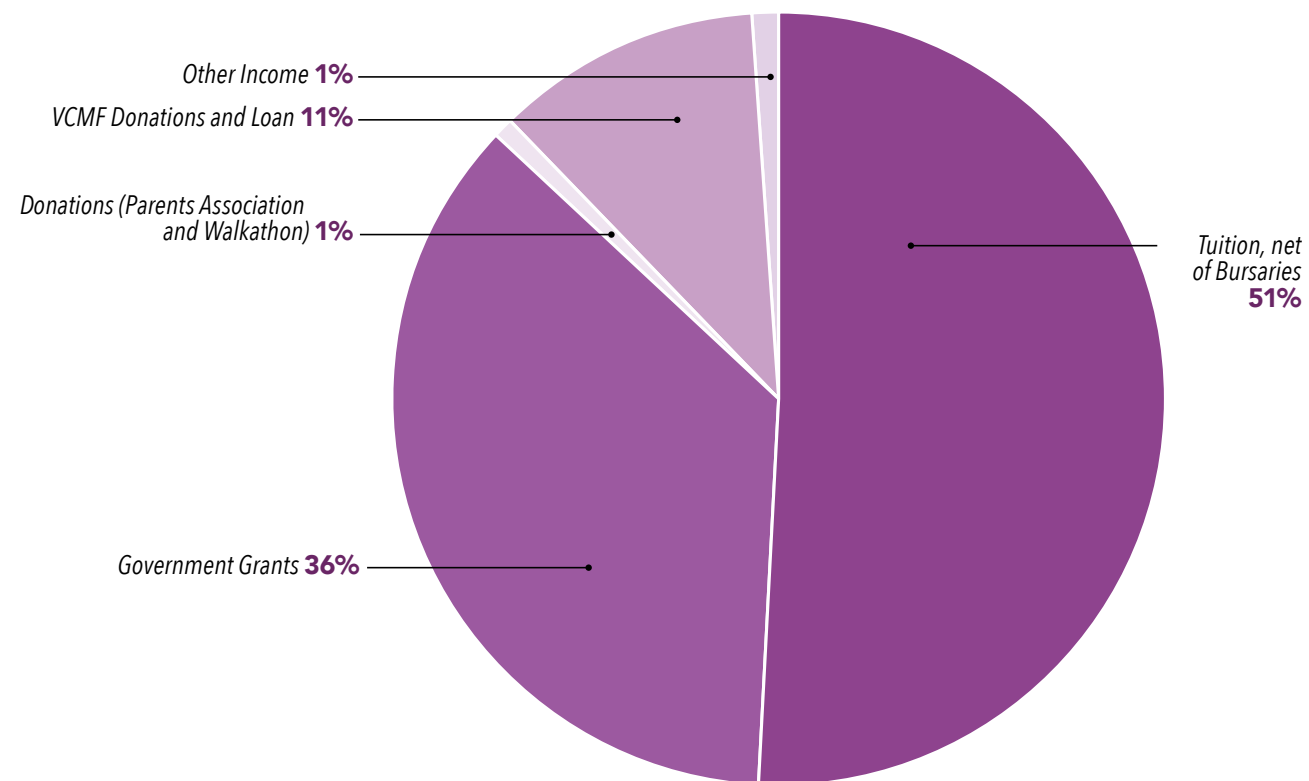

2024-2025 FINANCIAL REPORT

Sources of Funds

In 2024-2025, funding from all sources totalled $18.71 million.

The 2024-2025 school year saw increases in our two major sources of funding, being tuition and government funding. Tuition increased 3.49% per student and Government Funding increased 3.81% to cover the increased costs. Other sources of funds include donations and loans from Vancouver College Millennium Foundation (VCMF), VC Parents Association, and Walkathon. The Board continued to support the Blessed Edmund Rice Financial Assistance Program to help families in need of financial assistance by providing $463,821 in tuition funding.

SOURCES OF FUNDS $18.71 MILLION

Expenditures $18.71 Million

On the expenditures side, Vancouver College spent $15.39 million to operate the school, invested $1.15M in capital assets for school operations and is holding $2.16 million in donations for the construction of the new music building. The main expenditures for operating the school are salaries and benefits but also include expenditures on Academics, Administration, Maintenance, and the required mortgage principal and interest payments. Capital expenditures include the addition of air conditioning and upgrading the classroom furniture in Rice and Holler Halls as well as computers for staff and students. As of June 30, 2025, the school's overall debt was decreased from $7.27 million to $7.03 million, which were the required principal payments.

EXPENDITURES $18.71 MILLION

THANK YOU

It is with immense gratitude that we thank everyone who donated to Vancouver College last fiscal year (between July 1, 2024 and June 30, 2025). Members of our community enthusiastically participated at, and gave to, our annual Walkathon, as well as numerous events and fundraising activities organized by Vancouver College’s Advancement office and Parent and Alumni Associations.

Every single gift we receive has a positive and lasting impact on our students. Your support promotes Vancouver College’s mission of developing the whole person and preparing our students to one day leave here as better men and faith-filled leaders.

Thanks to the unwavering support of our community, Vancouver College raised an incredible $2.5M to fund priority needs throughout the school.

Our family has truly valued the community and excellence of the teaching at Vancouver College. Our sons, Matthew and Ben, attended VC from Gr. 7-12. Both are now studying Engineering at UBC, and as students motivated towards this field, they focussed intensely on their STEM and English classes, and were motivated by the school’s AP opportunities and their teachers. But it was the music program where much of their spirit, sense of community and hearts resided throughout their years at VC. The jazz and concert bands pushed them to perform, share, aspire, inspire others, and to be inspired themselves. It pushed them to work hard and to go beyond where they thought they could go with their skills and abilities and taught them to take risks and to put themselves on the line in the moment of performance. We are proud of the opportunities that Vancouver College gave to our sons to prepare them for their future lives through the school’s excellence and commitment to the sciences and the arts.”

Vancouver College has been a blessing to our family, offering not only an excellent education but also a community grounded in faith, character, and brotherhood. Our boys have been able to excel in the classroom through collaborative projects and caring teachers, while also thriving in rowing, band, and jazz. Just as importantly, they’ve been given opportunities to serve those in need through programs like The Door Is Open. We’ve seen firsthand that when families give to the community, the school and our boys benefit in immeasurable ways. These experiences have shaped them into compassionate and resilient young men, and we are deeply grateful to give back to this remarkable community.”

“ During the 2024-25 school year, select Vancouver College students took part in one of four Immersions to Alert Bay, BC, Brownsville, Texas, the South Bronx, New York and Lima, Peru. While students engage in powerful fellowship and service activities in all Immersions, perhaps most poignant are the stories that come back from Peru. The Vancouver College community provided a new house for an elderly couple who had been living in dire conditions. We contributed to the building and furnishing of a Community Centre where children can have a safe place to gather, play and do schoolwork with the benefit of tables, chairs and electricity - amenities lacking in most homes in the community. Our work in Peru is undoubtedly life changing for the people we serve, however, the experience is arguably even more impactful for our own boys who return transformed by a deep understanding of what it means to stand in solidarity with the marginalized.”
— Michelle Rapier

“ In his work “The Idea of a University” Cardinal John Henry Newman wrote that the role of the Church is to develop saints, and the role of a university is to produce gentlemen. What makes Catholic education at Vancouver College unique is the ability to foster both simultaneously.
This gift is dedicated to former VC teacher, Mrs. Irene Small whose patience, example, and belief in our capabilities had a lasting influence on those who were privileged to have been instructed by her. Without her determination to preserve English Literature at Vancouver College, we would not have been exposed to the humanity of Shakespeare, the wit of Wilde, the insight of Austen, nor developed an appreciation for Western thought and the values of temperance, faith, humility, charity, and perseverance.”
— Adam Beaudin-Ball (VC '92)

“ Vancouver College has been part of our family story for nearly a century. My grandfather, Harry O'Hagan, graduated with the Class of 1931, and since that time, generations of O'Hagan boys have been proud to call themselves part of the “Fighting Irish” community.
The values, friendships, and sense of purpose that VC instills has shaped our family for generations. My wife Andrea and I, along with our sons Will (Grade 9), JP (Grade 7), and Tommy (Grade 4), feel a deep responsibility to “pay it forward” so that future boys will have the same opportunity to grow into men of character, faith, and service.
Supporting Vancouver College is our way of honoring the past while investing in the future — ensuring that the tradition of excellence continues for the next 100 years and beyond.”

HIGHLIGHTS FROM 2024-2025

O God, we come to You in praise and thanksgiving for all You have done for our faith and learning community in these past 100 years. Through the intercession of Blessed Edmund Rice, bestow perpetual growth upon our community.

We pray that You strengthen our mind and spirit and fill our heart with understanding, wisdom, kindness, love, and peace, so that we may continue the good work of all those who came before us in Your greater glory. Amen.

Blessed Edmund Rice. Pray for us.

Live Jesus in our Hearts. Forever.
