Argos Elementary Hosts First-Ever Literacy Night to Celebrate Reading!

On November 5, Argos Elementary had its first-ever Literacy Night, a fun-filled evening celebrating reading and learning. The night featured 17 sessions focused on literacy and dual-language learning, along with presentations supporting students with special needs. More than 130 students and family members attended, participating in three sessions of their choice. Families also enjoyed raffle drawings, and every family left with a free book to take home.

The event was led by Title 1 teacher Tory Tolliver, with the support of over 40 staff members who volunteered their time to help host the event. The Argos Public Library joined the celebration to help families sign up for library cards, along with Argos High School Bowling and Spirit Club to offer concessions. The evening was a wonderful celebration of learning, family, and community, and Argos Elementary looks forward to continuing the tradition for years to come!
