Baby Gator News

Greetings Baby Gator Families!

Physical Activity: Stretching

Stretching improves blood flow in the body, enhances flexibility, and can reduce the risk of injuries. Stretching is especially important in the mornings and before and after physical activity.

EPILEPSY AWARENESS MONTH

What is Epilepsy?
Epilepsy is something that affects the brain. People with epilepsy can have seizures, which are times when their brain acts a little differently. During a seizure, someone might fall down, shake, stop talking, or seem confused. It doesn't hurt to be near them, and it's not something you can catch. They can still play, learn, and do fun things—just like you!

SEIZURE FIRST AID
During the seizure...
• Stay Calm.
• If you have a phone or watch, try to see how long the seizure lasts.

After the seizure...
• If they fall, find something soft to rest their head on.
• Turn the person on one side.
• Tell an adult that this person is having a seizure.
• Stay with the person until they feel better.
• Be a friend when the seizure is over.

DURING A SEIZURE NEVER...
• Put anything in their mouth.
• Try to hold the person down.
• Leave the person lying on their back.
• Make fun of someone having a seizure.
