Hundreds of CCSD Students Attend Second Future Teacher College Fair

Charleston, SC (October 20, 2025) – High school students from schools throughout Charleston County School District (CCSD) came to the Future Teacher College Fair at Royal Missionary Baptist Church. These prospective educators interacted with recruiters and staff members from 17 colleges and universities, as well as two educational organizations.

As was the case back in February at the inaugural event, more than 100 students met representatives from higher learning institutions so they could learn more about teacher preparation programs, the admissions process, and gain insight into the pathways to becoming a professional educator.

The highlight of the day was the impromptu dance party at the end of the event!
