WHAT'S NEW?

Two of the local liaisons recently participated in the Annual Conference for the National Association for the Education of Homeless Children and Youth. This event attracts thousands of liaisons, nonprofits, and resource agencies, all aimed at acquiring tools and knowledge to enhance support for our McKinney-Vento population.

Mrs. Ross-Espinosa: "The biggest takeaway was the reminder that our youths' internal narrative is not their actual story. When we shift away from judgment to curiosity, it is easier to listen for Hope."

Mrs. Oliver: "The key insight I gained was how to better connect our high school students to college resources. Every student, regardless of housing, deserves the chance to pursue higher education."

Students and staff at AC and Belmont were asked to wear green for Youth Homelessness Awareness Month! Enjoy some of these pictures.
