Addie Whitby and Khylee Cobb each scored 13 points Monday night as Crockett County Middle School evened its season record at 4-4 with a 45-19 basketball victory over Martin Middle School.

In the nightcap of the doubleheader, Crockett's boys – despite a third-quarter rally that cut a 12-point halftime deficit to just six – fell to Martin 43-34.

Coach Jamar Turner's Lady Cavaliers took control of their game with a 16-point second-period blitz in which Whitby and Lynlee King each netted five and Till Holyfield added a three-pointer. Cobb took over in the third quarter, tossing in nine of her 13 then as Crockett steadily pulled away.

Coach Tyler Gadlen's boys, down 26-14 after a sluggish first half, cranked up the defense in the third period, limiting Martin to six points while Jordan Young, Jaylen Frye, and Kamden Lewis each drilled a trey for the Cavs to help trim the margin to 32-26. But Martin was able to hold on in the final quarter as Armani Clay tallied five of his game-high 13 points. The Cavaliers are now 4-4 on the season.

Both CCMS teams host Union City Thursday night.
