President's Report - November 19, 2025

Hello and good morning Rye Neck. We are excited to be at Bellows for this month's board meeting, it's a nice change of scenery. Thank you to the Bellows staff and Mr Scarantino for hosting us today.

We as a board have a number of things to be grateful for at Rye Neck on the eve of Thanksgiving week.

First and foremost the board is sincerely thankful for our amazing administrators, teachers and staff for their hard work and dedication. Under their guidance our students are thriving, feeling positive, and happily spreading their wings both in and out of the classroom.

Next our board is grateful to be a part of a district that is wholly dedicated to evolving and not simply accepting the status quo. Be it the district's efforts to launch Part Two of the Strategic Plan, introduce an enhanced communication platform like the recently launched ParentSquare, or develop a prudent plan that will assess both short and long-term facility priorities, we are grateful that Rye Neck is committed to building meaningful forward momentum.

While the list is long, lastly our board is thankful for our caring community for their support and engagement. When the board or administration requests feedback you bring it, when we need a sounding board you are there, when there is a celebration you are first in line, and in times of need there is not a community that is stronger and tighter than Rye Neck.

We are grateful for so many things this season and hope everyone enjoys well-deserved time with their families, friends and neighbors, Happy Thanksgiving.

Now to you Mr. Burke...
