Opening Doors to STEM: ILTexas Representatives Visit Samsung Austin Semiconductor

On October 23, our outstanding international student representatives — Mr. SeungChan (Jayden) Yoon and Ms. Soyi (Gigi) Hong — had the incredible opportunity to visit Samsung Austin Semiconductor alongside the ILTexas leadership group.

Samsung Austin Semiconductor is... one of the largest and most advanced semiconductor manufacturing facilities in the United States. Located in Austin, Texas, the campus plays a major role in producing high-performance chips used in smartphones, computers, and other cutting-edge technologies. The company is recognized for its innovation, state-of-the-art research, and commitment to developing the next generation of STEM leaders.

From Classroom to Cutting-Edge: Students Experience Samsung Firsthand

During the visit, they explored cutting-edge innovations, learned about career pathways in technology, and proudly represented ILTexas Private High School with professionalism and enthusiasm. Our students left feeling more inspired than ever about the future of technology and the possibilities ahead. Seeing innovation in action and hearing directly from Samsung executives sparked meaningful conversations and broadened their perspectives on the future of work.

A Season of Fun, Friendship, and Fall Adventures

As the fall season unfolded, our international students embraced every moment of the holiday spirit with excitement and curiosity! From thrilling rides and spooky vibes at Six Flags Halloween Fright Fest, to a peaceful camping trip in Oklahoma under the stars, this season was filled with laughter, discovery, and unforgettable memories. Students also got hands-on with American traditions — carving pumpkins, tasting classic fair treats, and exploring Texas culture at the State Fair of Texas. Each activity not only brought joy, but also strengthened the bonds of our global community, reminding us that learning goes far beyond the classroom.

 Share your story with us!
