From the principal's desk...

Hello, Sleepy Hollow High School Families,

We hope that you have had a pleasant fall and start to the 2025-26 school year. So many great things have happened thus far, and we look forward to sharing them with you through this publication and our various celebrations and recognition ceremonies. As we move into the heart of the school year, we are happy to highlight the many positives all around us.

The energy in our classrooms and hallways has been tremendous, and our new cell phone guidelines have played a major role in that. Students have been very cooperative, and the results are clear—greater engagement, richer discussions, and more authentic connections with one another. Teachers have noted a noticeable increase in attentiveness and participation, and we are proud of the maturity our students have shown as we continue to create an environment centered on focus, collaboration, and meaningful learning.

Brewing Opportunity: Launching Sleepy Coffee OTG

Sleepy Coffee, a beloved Sleepy Hollow High School tradition, recently launched Sleepy Coffee OTG (On The Go), a new mobile ordering option for staff. This program allows staff to place orders that are delivered during designated times, offering a convenient afternoon pick-me-up while creating meaningful learning opportunities for students.

Through Sleepy Coffee, Experiential Learning students practice soft-transferable work skills, including customer service, order fulfillment, inventory management, cashiering, and using a POS system.

Now, with Sleepy Coffee OTG, students receive daily orders, complete order forms, prepare the items, have them checked by a supervisor, and deliver them to customers.

Beyond OTG, students are involved in every aspect of Sleepy Coffee operations: keeping track of inventory, baking brownies and the Baked Good of the Month (also new this year!), packaging goods, labeling items, making coffee, and balancing the register. Students even place online orders from Sam's Club to restock items and then pick it up.

These experiences help students develop independent work skills and prepare them for future employment.

Additionally, Sleepy Coffee provides students with valuable opportunities for social interaction and relationship-building across the school community. We are thrilled about the launch of Sleepy Coffee OTG and the expanded learning experiences it offers. Thank you to everyone who continues to support Sleepy Coffee!"

Connecting with State Leaders

In September, NY State Senate Majority Leader Andrea Stewart-Cousins hosted her third annual Community Resources Fair for members of her Youth Advisory Council (YAC) at the Yonkers Riverfront Library .

Junior Dylan Smith, who learned of the opporutnity from the social studies department, shared his reflections on the importance of youth engagement in community action. “We, the youth of America, have a responsibility to make the world a better place.”

“Opportunities like the Community Resources Fair help us become better students, thinkers, members of society, and humans. One spark now can ignite a lifetime of activism and change.”

The fair connected 50 YAC members with local organizations and leaders dedicated to justice, equality, and service. Dylan’s thoughtful remarks captured the event’s spirit—empowering young people to lead with compassion, purpose, and a vision for a brighter future.

Celebrating Excellence in Italian Studies

In October, Lara Hansen, a senior in Italian 5 Honors, received the prestigious DeCicco Scholarship from the Westchester Coalition of Italian-American Organizations during a special ceremony at the Michaelian Office Building in White Plains.

This award recognizes her exceptional dedication to the study of Italian language and culture.

Just days later, Noah Fasulo, a sophomore Italian 3 student, was honored by the same organization for his Outstanding Performance in Italian at Eastchester High School.

These achievements highlight the commitment, talent, and passion our students bring to the SHHS Italian program. AUGURI e CONGRATULATIONS, Lara and Noah!

Embarking on a Journey of Growth and Change

Four Latina students from Sleepy Hollow -- Mirianny Beltre Bobea, Adanhyr Morocho, Pilar Patino, and Alexa Zhinin – along with peers from the Ossining and Peekskill school districts, embarked on a one-week wilderness adventure in Utah this past summer. This transformative experience encouraged self-discovery, broadened their perspectives, and strengthened lasting friendships, helping them develop leadership skills and a deeper sense of civic engagement.

The girls who attended the Utah trip, along with Sleepy student Isabella Bencosme, were joined by other passionate students from across the Hudson Valley at the Women's Leadership Summit at the end of September. Held at Manhattanville University, the students collaborated to design action plans focused on making small yet meaningful changes that could create a ripple effect throughout their community. The girls will continue to refine and implement their initiatives, culminating in a special showcase event this April.

Award-Winning Shadow and Substance

The high school literary magazine, Shadow and Substance, earned several impressive recognitions from the Empire State School Press Association (ESSPA) this year, reflecting the talent and dedication of its student creators.

The publication received Best Overall Layout Design and earned Silver for Best Overall Literary Magazine, a testament to the team's commitment to producing a thoughtful, visually compelling edition.

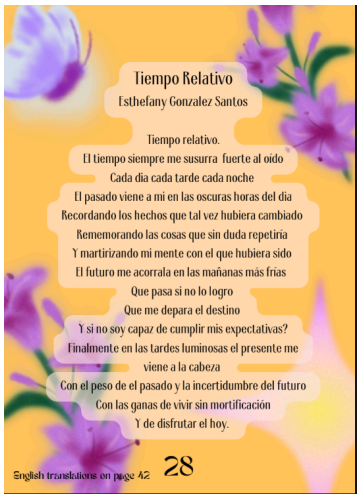

In addition, Editor-in-Chief and Lead Designer Ivy Burk was honored with the Best Artwork Portfolio award, highlighting her exceptional artistic vision and leadership throughout the process.

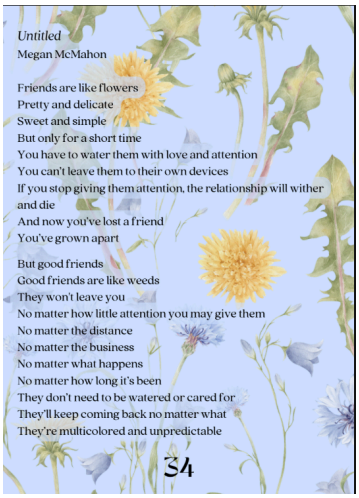

These achievements showcase the creativity, collaboration, and craftsmanship that define Shadow and Substance each year.

Looking for A Great Read?

If you've ever wished you could rewrite a moment—or ten—this book will hit you right in the feels. Dear Manny follows a teen navigating grief, guilt, and the messy business of figuring out who you are when everything changes. Nic Stone's writing is sharp, emotional, and ridiculously relatable. The story is told through letters, which means you get all the honesty, none of the awkward eye contact. You'll laugh, you'll think, and you might even text your best friend when you're done. Short verdict? Powerful, heartfelt, and impossible to put down. Bring snacks. And maybe tissues.

Looking for a mystery that's equal parts creepy vibes, sharp humor, and "what-is-going-on-here" suspense? Death at Morning House delivers. When teen drama meets old family secrets in a house that definitely needs better lighting and fewer locked doors, things get twisty—fast. Maureen Johnson's writing is snappy, the characters feel like people you might actually know (or avoid), and every chapter ends with that "just one more" energy. Perfect for fans of dark secrets, clever clues, and stories that make you side-eye your own relatives. Read it—just maybe keep the lights on.

Celebrating Italian Heritage Through Storytelling

Each October, in honor of Italian-American Heritage Month, students at Sleepy have the opportunity to experience history and culture firsthand. Under the guidance of their teacher, Ms. Malizia, the class welcomes parents, grandparents, and members of the local Italian-American community to share their personal immigration stories.

This annual tradition offers students a meaningful glimpse into the Italian experience—its challenges, triumphs, and lasting impact on generations. Through these intergenerational storytelling sessions, students not only deepen their understanding of Italian culture and language but are also encouraged to reflect on their own cultural identities. The project transforms the classroom into a living archive of heritage, connection, and shared humanity.

Bridging Science, Art, and Community through a Wet Lab

Sleepy is proud to announce the arrival of its new wet lab, PEARL, now stationed at the Washington Irving Boat Club. PEARL—an innovative floating classroom—offers students direct access to the Hudson River and a unique opportunity to engage in hands-on learning that connects science, art, business, and community collaboration.

While the lab was designed primarily to support scientific research, its purpose extends well beyond that. The vision for PEARL is to become a cross-disciplinary learning hub for K–12 students and teachers throughout the district. While the lab will be incorporated into various science lessons, it will also host professional researchers, allowing students to observe, shadow, and eventually conduct their own investigations alongside experts—much like the Peabody program.

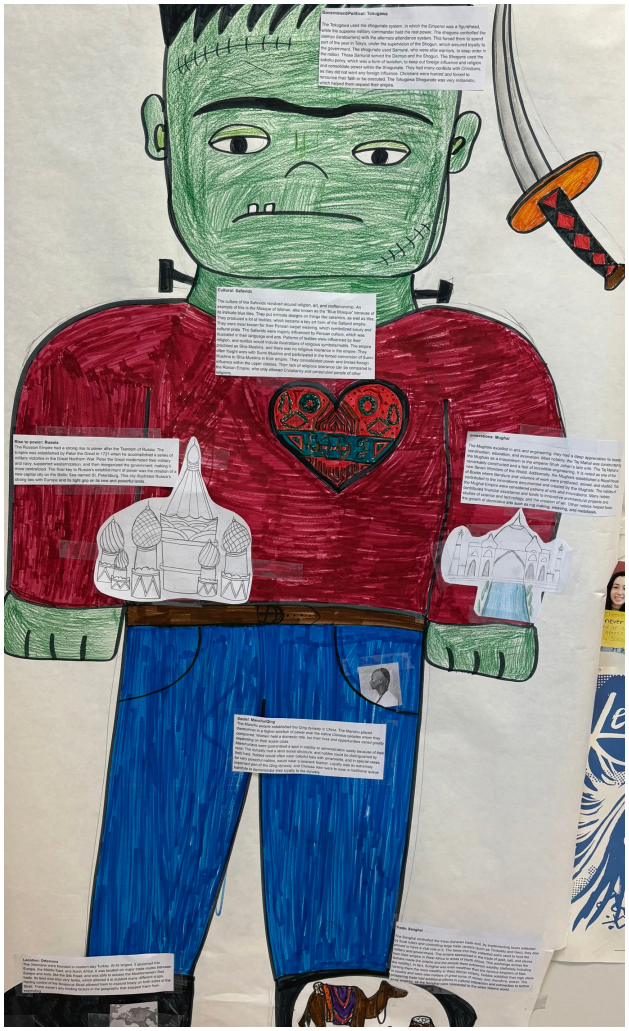

Beyond science, PEARL will serve as a creative and community-centered space. Some students will design an informational pamphlet featuring student artwork of Hudson River species, merging art and ecology. The art department will also play a key role in designing exterior artwork for the trailer, adding a vibrant, local touch to the structure.

Located along the River Walk, once its expansion is complete, PEARL will also serve as a public-facing educational site. Students will have the chance to present their work to visitors, fostering community engagement and environmental awareness.

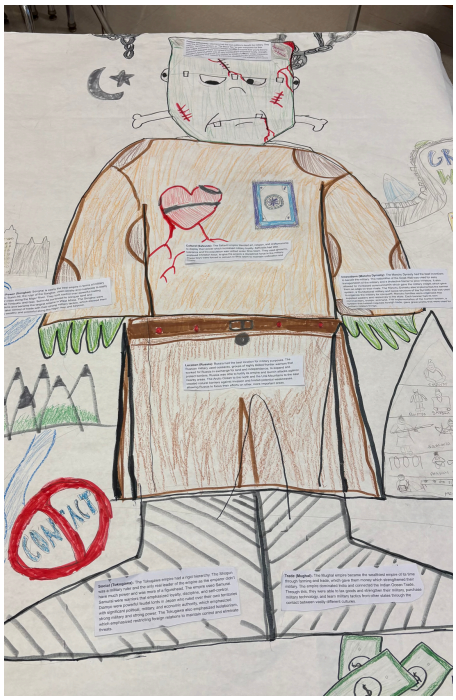

Looking ahead, there are plans for the Business Club to take on management of PEARL's financial operations—an opportunity for students to gain real-world experience.

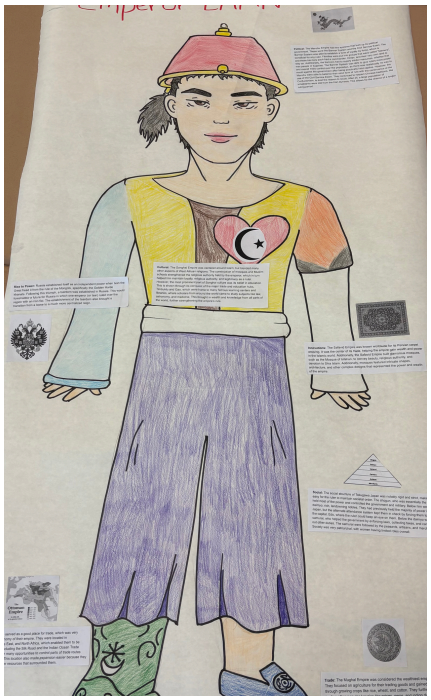

CREATING A FRANKEMPIRE

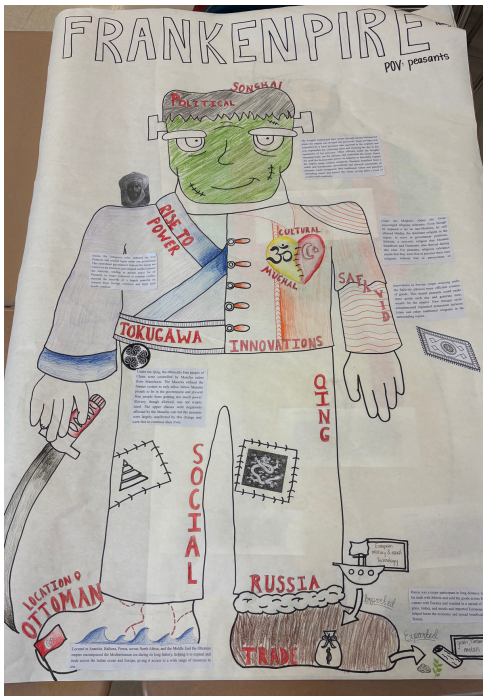

Students in Ms. Rosen's AP World History class researched 7 different land-based empires in the period 1459-1750 and then created their own "Frankempire" by incorporating one aspect of each of the empires into their own ideal empire. Students collaborated in both the research and design of their projects as well as debating which aspects would benefit the social group they were assigned.

Earning National Merit Recognition

Sleepy Hollow High School is proud to announce that seniors Elliot Bentley, Thaddeus Kromelis II, and Tyler Wong have been recognized as Commended Students in the National Merit Scholarship Program!

This distinction is awarded to students whose outstanding academic performance places them among the top scorers nationwide. Their hard work, dedication, and intellectual curiosity have truly set them apart.

Kicking of Global Connections

The ENL and World Language departments hosted their 4th Annual FIFA World Cup Soccer Match. Students showcased both their athletic skills and their cultural pride.

Representing their programs, ENL students played for the U.S.A., French students represented France, Spanish students played as Las Américas, and Italian students took the field for Italy.

The match celebrated more than soccer. It highlighted the global spirit that defines the ENL and World Language programs.

As the most popular sport in the world, soccer unites people across cultures, and this event brought that international energy to life on our campus. Students and staff cheered in multiple languages, embracing the joy of teamwork, competition, and cultural connection.

Las Américas claimed the championship trophy for the fourth consecutive year. ¡Felicidades, Las Américas!

Galloping Gourmet Club

The Galloping Gourmets cooking club believes in the innate importance of culinary skills as part of an independent, healthy lifestyle. Members aim to learn about and engage in cooking together and to give back to the community in special events and sales. The club meets twice a month, first to discuss what members would like to prepare and then to prepare it and share a meal together. The club runs food sales, contributes annually to the Food Bank of the Hudson Valley, donates holiday meals to families in the community, and establishes a kitchen, which is open to the whole school. The Galloping Gourmet Club believes that food is love, and it loves our school.

Chef John's Chicken Lazone

Prep Time: 10 minutes Cook Time: 20 minutes Refrigerate Time: 1 hour
Total Time: 1 hour 30 mins Servings: 4

Ingredients:

- 1 1/2 teaspoons chili powder
- 1 1/2 teaspoons smoked paprika
- 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper (adjust for your spiciness preference)
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 2 teaspoons garlic powder
- 1 1/2 teaspoons onion powder
- 4 skinless, boneless chicken breasts
- 1 1/2 teaspoons kosher salt, or to taste
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1/2 lemon, juiced
- 2/3 cup heavy cream
- 1/3 cup water
- 1/4 cup sliced green onions
- 1 tablespoon cold butter, cubed

Instructions:

1. Mix chili powder, smoked paprika, cayenne, black pepper, garlic powder, and onion powder together in a small bowl; set aside. Half will be used for the chicken rub and half for the sauce.

2. Season chicken on both sides with salt. Sprinkle half the spice mixture over both sides of chicken. Wrap and refrigerate for 1 hour (or up to overnight) until ready to cook.

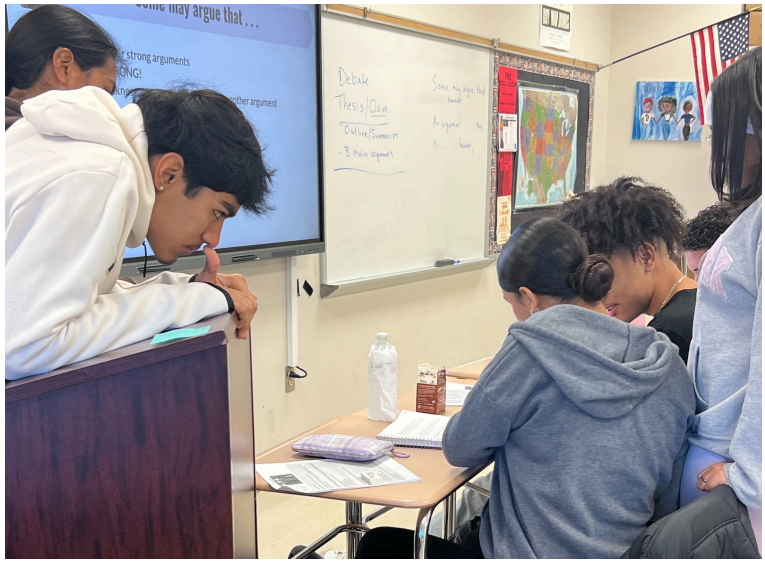

3. Heat oil in a heavy-duty nonstick pan over medium-high heat. Sear chicken, turning once, about 3 to 4 minutes per side. Turn off heat; transfer chicken to a plate and set aside. Add remaining spice mixture to the pan and stir around in the hot oil for 30 seconds. Add lemon juice, cream, and water. Stir in a pinch of salt.

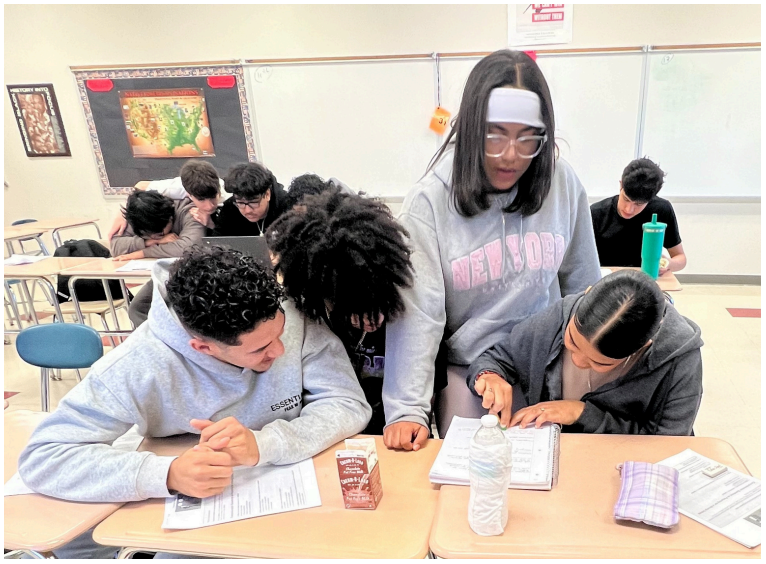

4. Bring to a simmer over medium-high heat, stirring occasionally. Reduce to medium-low and return chicken to the pan along with any accumulated juices. Simmer gently, turning occasionally to coat with sauce, until chicken, 8 to 10 minutes. Time will vary based on size of chicken breasts, but an instant-read thermometer inserted near the center should read 165°F.

5. Reduce heat to low and add green onions and butter. Stir into the sauce, while also basting chicken with the sauce. Taste for seasoning and serve.

Cook's Note: This dish goes well with rice or noodles. If you make rice, remember to make it with chicken broth rather than just water–you'll really appreciate the difference it makes!

Crafting Rebuttals to Learn English

The ENL 3 11th and 12th graders recently worked in groups to craft practice rebuttals to the question: “Should cell phones be banned in schools?” This “group write” activity challenged students learning English as a new language to collaborate and create a clear counter-argument together.

In ENL, teachers encourage translanguaging—using all of a student’s languages to think and communicate. This might mean discussing ideas in Spanish while writing in English or taking notes in one language and explaining ideas in another.

Bilingualism doesn’t have an “on/off switch.” Students naturally draw from both languages to make sense of complex ideas.

When one group forgot a key transition, a student asked in Spanish, “I’m confused. Why are we writing it this way if we believe the opposite?” That moment led to teamwork, self-correction, and clarification—without overreliance on translation tools. Students use each other, their memories, and dictionaries while trying to avoid relying upon Google Translate or AI. Mistakes become opportunities to “fail forward.”

This activity also prepared students for a formal debate based on weeks of research. The debate format helps them learn how to build logical, persuasive arguments while practicing English speaking skills—proving that language learning and critical thinking can grow powerfully together.

Celebrating Musical Achievements

Sleepy Hollow is celebrating an outstanding group of student musicians, as several were recently recognized with top distinctions from the New York State School Music Association (NYSSMA).

This year’s All-State Showcases feature strong Horseman representation. Selected for the Electronic Music Showcase were Henry Scheller, Flinn Murphy, Jamie Puleo, and Noah Fasulo (honorable mention). Flinn Murphy also secured a spot in the Songwriting Showcase. Additional honors include those for Iris Griffin, named an alternate for the All-State Vocal Jazz Ensemble—the first Sleepy Hollow student ever selected—and Dexter Scheller and Nico Mayor, who were both chosen as alternates for the All-State Jazz Ensemble.

These talented students will present their work this December at the NYSSMA All-State Winter Conference in Rochester.

Promoting Healthy Choices Through Red Ribbon Week Events

At the end of October, the Horsemen Against Destructive Decisions along with advisors Gina Donahue and Kelly Kutch kicked off Red Ribbon Week by hosting a Mocktail Event at the Boys Varsity Football game.

Red Ribbon Week is the nation's largest and longest-running drug-use prevention campaign. HADD members sold two different signature drinks: The Victory Vanilla Cream and The Red Ribbon Refresher. The drinks were created using soda, fruit juices, and an assortment of garnishes. Each cup had a fact about alcohol and other drug use and the impact they can have on teenagers.

Spectators were encouraged to purchase a mocktail to support the HADD club and learn more about how to celebrate and have fun without needing to involve alcohol or other drugs.

The HADD club continued Red Ribbon Week awareness by hosting a trivia table outside the student lounge during the lunch periods. Students were challenged to spin the wheel, answer the trivia questions related to alcohol and other drug use and win prizes. Students were also encouraged to sign Red Ribbon Week pledges, which will be displayed on next pledge wall in the building.

College Corner

Students are taking important steps toward their post–high school journeys with guidance from the SHHS Counseling Department. From financial aid nights to college and career fairs, sophomores through seniors have explored a variety of opportunities and learned about key deadlines to help them plan for the next stage of their education or career. Counselors continue to provide valuable resources and events to support every student's path forward.

Please view the linked schedules (English or Spanish) to see all remaining opportunities designed to help students discover their goals, make informed decisions, and prepare for life after high school.

Raising Funds While Strengthening Bonds Across the School Community

The Sleepy Hollow High School Snow Sports Club held its first-ever Parents' Night Out fundraiser in mid-November, and the event was a tremendous success. More than 30 families registered 47 children in grades K–5 for an evening of crafts, games, face painting, karaoke, movies, and reading rooms, which were all supervised by 30 high school club members.

With several pizza pies generously donated by Main Street Pizza and Casaletto's Pizzeria for dinner, the night was full of energy, laughter, and meaningful interactions between high school and elementary students.

The idea for the fundraiser grew out of the Parents' Night Out events at the Sleepy Hollow Recreation Center, where club advisor Leila Madani's children have been part of the after-school program for years.

"As a parent, I know how valuable it is to have an affordable, fun, and trustworthy childcare option," Madani shared. "This particular event allowed us to raise meaningful funds while giving our high school students the chance to mentor and genuinely connect with the younger kids in our district."

Madani and co-advisor David Erenberg worked together to help students organize the rooms, coordinate activities, and gather donations.

Proceeds from the evening will support the launch of a Learn to Ski program in partnership with Winter4Kids. While the program is already reasonably priced, the Snow Sports Club hopes to reduce costs even further to make the opportunity more equitable and inclusive for all district students. The club also organizes day trips to regional ski resorts, an annual overnight trip to Killington, and hopes to expand into ice-skating activities.

Spirit Week was another wonderful reminder of what makes Sleepy Hollow High School so special. The creativity, enthusiasm, and school pride displayed by our students were nothing short of inspiring. Their energy and commitment to celebrating our school community are a true testament to the strength of our student body and the positive culture they continue to build together.

The winter will bring its own sense of spirit too, particularly as we enter the holiday season. With that being said, we recognize that this time of year brings a wide range of emotions and experiences for our families. For some, it is a season of joy and connection; for others, it can be a source of stress or challenge. Please know that our entire educational team is here to support every student and family.

We encourage you to reach out if you need assistance and to consider joining us in some of our ongoing community initiatives (such as donations to our food pantry, contributing gifts for our annual visit to Blythedale Children's Hospital, and/or volunteering through the PTA.)

We also want to remind families that Family Conference Night will take place on Tuesday, December 3, with sign-up information coming out soon. We look forward to these important conversations and to continuing our strong partnership in support of every student's success. Until then, we encourage you to stay in touch with your teachers and counselors, to read the daily announcements, and to enjoy this and future issues of Tales of the Hollow.

On behalf of the entire Sleepy Hollow High School staff, I wish you and your family a wonderful, peaceful, and fulfilling holiday season.

Kind Regards,

Dr. Debbie Brand
