WHAT IS QMLATIV AND WHY IS IT IMPORTANT?

Qmlativ is Skyward's latest platform for managing student, staff, and financial data. It supports critical functions including scheduling, grade reporting, payroll, time off, purchasing, and more. Nearly every WWPS employee interacts with Skyward in some capacity, and many depend on it daily to keep operations running smoothly. As technology evolves, it's essential that our systems keep pace. Skyward's current SMS platform is aging and no longer receives significant upgrades. Transitioning to Qmlativ ensures we continue to have a reliable, modern system to meet today's—and tomorrow's—needs.

GENERAL UPDATE: As we begin the process of migrating from SMS to Qmlativ, you will begin receiving a series of emails throughout the year to guide us through this transition. These communications will contain important information, tasks, and updates related to the migration process. Please review each email promptly and take any necessary actions outlined. It is recommended that you retain these emails for future reference.

Our communication is designed to keep everyone aligned and ensure a smooth and well-organized migration process. We understand your time is valuable, and our goal is to keep communications clear, purposeful, and actionable. To help streamline and organize this, each email related to the Q migration will have consistent subject line formats:

WWPS S2Q - Action Needed: [Task Description]

These emails will contain tasks that require your timely action.

WWPS S2Q - Review Needed: [Information Description]

These messages will contain important information for you to read and retain, even if no immediate action is needed.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

Clean data is critical during a software migration because errors, duplicates, or outdated information can cause major issues in the new system, slowing down processes and creating long-term problems. Taking the time to ensure accuracy up front helps the migration go smoothly and builds a reliable foundation for future work. Please remember to slow down, carefully follow the guidance provided, and ask questions if you're unsure or haven't done a process in a while. District Office staff are spending a significant amount of time reviewing our data and cleaning up what we can so we appreciate your help in this process!

HOW CAN I PARTICIPATE?!

The migration from Skyward to Qmlativ means changes, and changes that will support our system in being more efficient and effective across almost all areas of the district. This migration will be most successful if we have staff from different groups that are willing to be early adopters. Early adopters will provide input on the roll out and also be part of training other staff members. More information about this opportunity to help lead the transition is expected to be available in the coming months.
