Item #	Location/Section:	Description
1.02		We submitted a Statement of Qualifications for last year's professional services roster. I see that another RFQ has been issued. Do we need to re-submit or can our place on the roster/pool carry over? You may resubmit, but your place will carry over.
1.03		Would hazardous materials consulting be included under any of these categories? If not, will you be procuring those services

*under a different REP? Yes, hazardous materials is included environmental.

*Under Category 9, does "air quality" refer to indoor air quality assessment or emissions testing? Yes, indoor.
