School Data Bank Services

Educational Support Services (ESS) provides a valued service to our component school districts through our School Data Bank Services (SDBS) program, and the Staff Developer/Shared Data Expert Service.

Our School Data Bank Services program currently supports sixty-nine Suffolk districts, Eastern Suffolk BOCES, Western Suffolk BOCES, the Long Island Regional Bilingual Education Resource Network (L.I.RBERN), and the Jewish Education Project.

School Data Bank Services - Levels of Service provides our component districts with an opportunity to select a level of service and support aligned to their specific needs.

The Levels of Service provides our district partners with support in processing student, assessment and survey data, provides access to specialized instructional and reporting platforms, and offers regional data workshops and webinars. Our highly-skilled Staff Developer/Shared Data Expert team of educators provide support by analyzing and translating data to assist district administrators and teachers in making informed curriculum and programmatic decisions.

Our support service is New York State/BOCES aidable.

Prior Workshop(s):

Making Sense of ESSA Indicators (click title to view slides) – This virtual workshop took place on Thursday, November 6, 2025.

Join us for an informative session that unpacks how New York State identifies schools for support under the ESSA Reimagine Phase. We'll review the accountability indicators used in the identification and exit process, explore how data informs each support model, and clarify how these calculations can impact school improvement planning. This session is ideal for administrators, data teams, and instructional leaders who want to deepen their understanding of the state's accountability system.

On-Demand Video Modules

On-Demand Video Modules covering key components of the NYS ESSA Accountability Determination process are now available to support you and your school teams.
