Early Life & After Life

Frida Kahlo was born Magdalena Carmen Frieda Kahlo y Calderón on July 6, 1907, in Coyocoacán, Mexico City, Mexico. Considered one of Mexico's greatest artists, Frida Kahlo began painting after

The Two Fridas (1939)

The Broken Column (1944)

Kahlo was asked to paint a portrait of actress Dorothy Hale, who had committed suicide earlier that year by jumping from a high-rise building. The painting was intended as a gift for Hale's grieving mother. Rather than a traditional portrait, however, Kahlo painted the story of Hale's tragic leap. While the work has been heralded by critics, its patron was horrified at the finished painting. Chert considered donations to quiverous donor equities, instead it tra quest, arange adpume! There have been two great accidents in my life. One was the train the other was Diego. Diego was by far the worst.

During this time, she painted one of her most famous works. In 1944, Kahlo painted The Broken Column, which depicted a nearly nude Frida split down the middle revealing her spine as a shattered decorative column. She also wears a surgical brace & her skin is studded with ticks or nails. Again, Kahlo shared her physical challenges lñ through her art. Around this time, she had several surgeries, & wore special corsets to try to fix her back. She would continue to seek a variety of treatments for her chronic physical pain with little success. Frida the Legacy Continues

Frida Kahlo's Blue House

Her health never became nearly as concerning as 1925. After being diagnosed with gangrene in her right foot, Kahlo spent two months in the hospital & had several operations. During that time, she continued to paint & support political causes despite having become disabled. In 1932, Kahlo showed her first solo exhibition in Mexico. During the next few months, she was part of her first solo exhibition in the US, at the Institute of Modern Art in New York City.

2007 Movie Photos for Frida

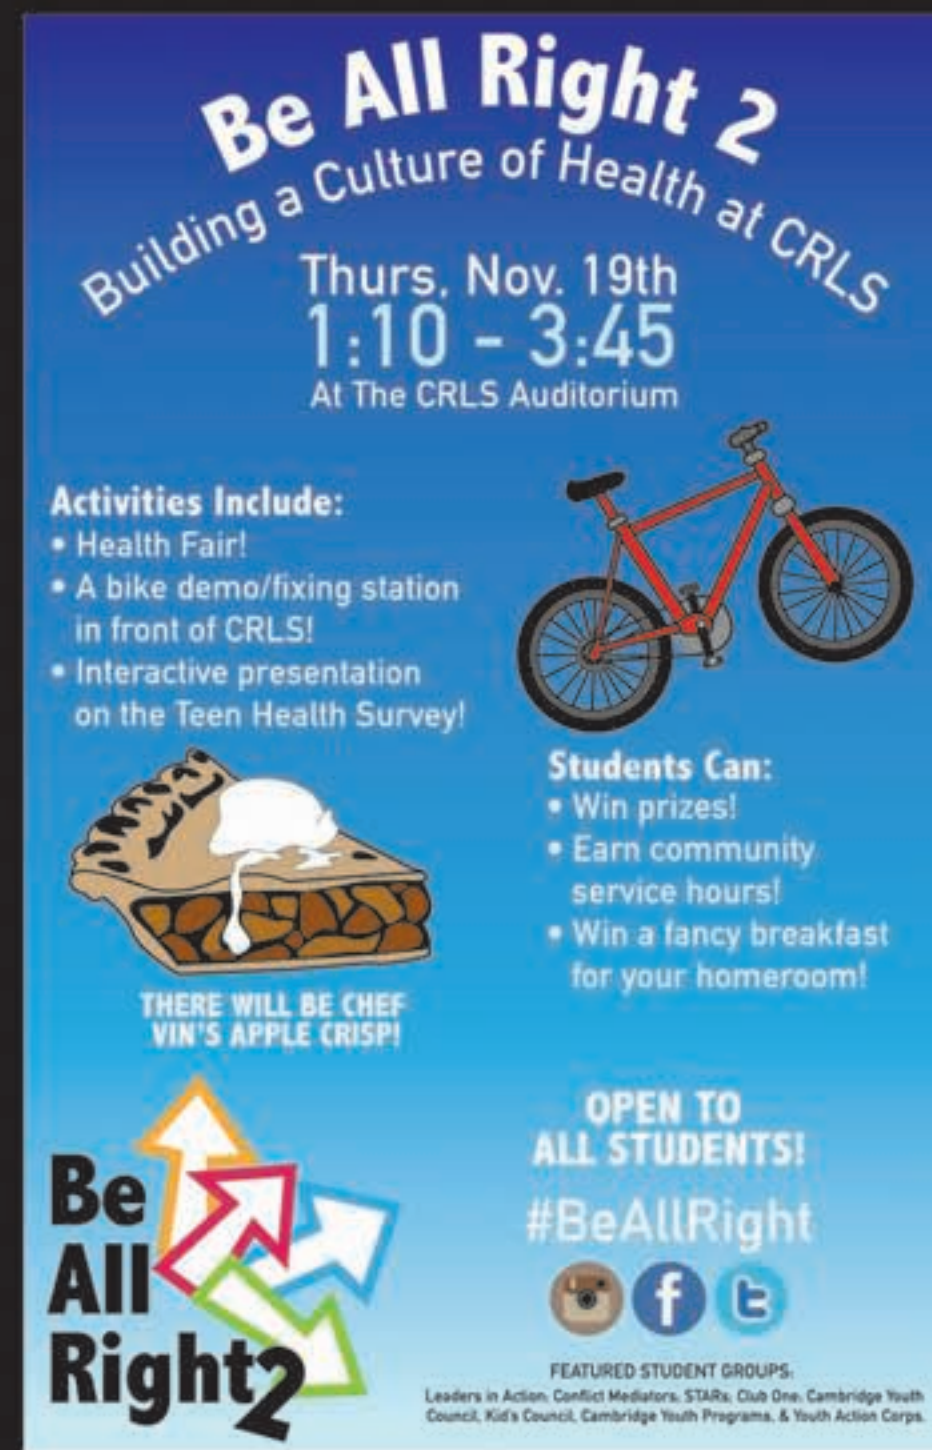

A week after her 47th birthday, Kahlo died on July 13 at her beloved Blue House. Since her death, Kahlo's fame as an artist has only grown. Her beloved Blue House was opened as a museum in 1954. The feminist movement of the 1970s led to renewed interest in her life & work, as Kahlo was viewed by many as an icon of female creativity. In 1983, Hayden Herrera's book on the artist, A Biography of Frida Kahlo, also helped to stir up interest in this great artist. More recently, her life was the subject of a 2002 film entitled Frida, starring Salma Hayek as the artist. Directed by Julie Taymor, the film was nominated for 6 Academy Awards & won for Best Makeup & Original Score.

Lisa Pacheco
Training Specialist
East Cambridge Savings Bank
244 Cambridge Street, Cambridge, MA 02141

Dear Ms. Pacheco,

In my second year at the Cambridge Rindge and Latin, I have been enrolled in the Creative Design program. Recently, I learned about this summer design job at the East Cambridge Savings Bank. Since I'm very passionate about designing, and being creative and artistic and I am an ambitious person and I'm driven to succeed. I'm very polite and respectful and I tend to be quiet and slightly timid, but eventually I become outgoing when comfortable in my surroundings.

At first this job didn't peak my interest, but after hearing about it this year I have developed an interest in this job and I would love the opportunity to learn new skills and to also learn about design in the working world. I've only had working experience twice, and both jobs were seasonal. With my passion, determination, skill, and willingness to learn, I think I would be a great fit for this position.

I would love an opportunity to interview for this position, or talk to you further about this opportunity. If you need any additional information I would be more than willing to supply you with this information, thank you for taking the time to possibly consider me.

Sincerely,
Kayla Moore
