

Here are six refined core values for Albright College, incorporating Respect as a distinct principle:

1. Integrity - We commit to honesty, fairness, and ethical engagement. Integrity requires us to treat others with respect and to foster an environment where moral principles guide our decisions. By holding ourselves to high ethical standards, we encourage the best in others and create a strong, principled community.
2. Curiosity - We embrace the pursuit of knowledge and a passion for learning. A spirit of curiosity drives us to explore new ideas, challenge assumptions, and innovate in ways that push the boundaries of what is possible. We encourage intellectual engagement, critical thinking, and creative problem-solving, ensuring that our students develop the skills to adapt and succeed in a rapidly changing world.
3. Respect - We value the dignity of every individual and recognize the importance of self-respect and respect for others. We strive to treat one another with kindness, civility, and understanding, fostering an environment where people feel valued and heard. True respect comes from listening, engaging in meaningful dialogue, and honoring the contributions and perspectives of those around us.
4. Connection - We recognize the importance of strong personal relationships and meaningful engagement with others. Through collaboration and open dialogue, we cultivate a sense of belonging and mutual support, fostering a community that encourages academic, social, and civic participation. Learning and personal growth thrive in an atmosphere where individuals connect, share ideas, and support one another.
5. Resilience - We recognize the importance of perseverance, adaptability, and well-being in overcoming challenges and achieving personal growth. We strive to develop individuals who are prepared to face setbacks with confidence, learn from adversity, and continue moving forward with determination.
6. Responsibility - We believe in the importance of taking ownership of our actions, choices, and commitments. Responsibility means being accountable not only for our own success but also for contributing positively to our community and the world. We strive to uphold high standards in scholarship, leadership, and service, ensuring that our actions reflect the values we hold and the impact we wish to make.
