Quick Recap of the RedlandsUSD LCAP 2026-27: Help Guide the LCAP Development engagement

Summary

The survey engaged a diverse group of participants, primarily composed of parents/guardians (49%) and staff members (33%). The majority of staff respondents were certificated staff (71%). Most participants were associated with Redlands High School (20%), and the survey was predominantly disseminated through staff email (52%) and ParentSquare (45%). A significant portion of respondents (70%) indicated that programs like the Free or Reduced Lunch Program were not applicable to them. The general sentiment reflects a strong engagement from the school community, with a notable emphasis on communication channels and school associations.

Categories

Participant Demographics and Roles: The survey captured a wide range of participants, with parents/guardians and staff members being the most represented groups. Certificated staff made up the majority of the staff respondents, indicating a strong involvement from teaching professionals. This demographic distribution suggests a well-rounded representation of the school community, providing a comprehensive view of the district's stakeholders.

School and Program Associations: Participants were most commonly associated with Redlands High School, followed by Redlands East Valley High School and Citrus Valley High School. The Free or Reduced Lunch Program was the most mentioned program, though it was not applicable to the majority of respondents. This indicates a focus on high school engagement and a need to address the applicability and awareness of district programs.

Communication Channels: The survey was primarily communicated through staff email and ParentSquare, highlighting these as effective channels for reaching the school community. The reliance on these platforms suggests they are trusted and widely used, but also points to potential gaps in reaching those who may not have access to these channels.

Areas to investigate

- Program Participation: With 70% of respondents indicating that programs like the Free or Reduced Lunch Program were not applicable, further investigation is needed to understand the barriers to participation or awareness of these programs.
- Communication Effectiveness: While staff email and ParentSquare are the primary communication channels, exploring additional methods to reach a broader audience, especially those not engaged through these platforms, could enhance overall communication effectiveness.
- School Engagement: Given the high association with certain high schools, it may be beneficial to explore engagement strategies for other schools within the district to ensure a balanced representation and involvement across all educational levels.
