From Executive Director Amy J. Thomas

As the school year draws to a close, we take this opportunity to reflect on a year of meaningful progress and shared accomplishments at the Monroe County School Boards Association (MCSBA).

Collaboration remains at the core of MCSBA's mission, and this year, our collective efforts were stronger than ever. Our professional development programming addressed some of the most pressing and complex challenges facing school boards today—including evolving NYSED regulations, the zero-emissions bus initiative, FERPA updates, budgeting in a post-foundation aid landscape, student board representation, and the integration of agriculture into the classroom. One particularly memorable highlight was a hands-on butter-making activity—reminding us that whether we are in the boardroom or the barnyard, learning and growth can happen anywhere. These sessions were made possible by the expertise and generosity of our member district leaders, many of whom led presentations and discussions that enriched our programming and deepened its impact.

Our advocacy efforts gained momentum this year as well. From traveling to Albany and strengthening relationships with local Regents and legislators, to hosting our annual Legislative Breakfast—where students took center stage—we ensured that the voices of Monroe County's school districts were heard. We also expanded our outreach to federal elected officials, laying the groundwork for stronger, ongoing partnerships. We are especially grateful to our Legislative Liaison, Sarah Pelusio, whose insight, skill, and steadfast commitment continues to elevate this essential work.

The New York State budget, passed in early May, reflected several key priorities that MCSBA and its members actively advocated for throughout the year. Among the new statewide mandates, the budget includes a "bell-to-bell" distraction-free policy restricting student cell phone use during the school day, as well as the requirement for every public school district to include a student representative on its Board of Education by September 2025. The enacted budget fully funds Foundation Aid, with a $1.43 billion increase—representing a 6% rise over the current year—and ensures a minimum 2% Foundation Aid increase for all districts. Additionally, the budget fully funds universal school meals, allocating $340 million to provide free breakfast and lunch to all students statewide.

The budget also includes long-overdue increases to Career and Technical Education (CTE) funding by raising the BOCES aidable salary cap and expanding Special Services Aid. Reforms to the zero-emission school bus transition mandate continue, aimed at making the shift more manageable for districts. A two-year extension of the retiree earnings cap waiver was also approved, helping to address staffing shortages by allowing retired educators to return to work without financial penalty. Notably, the state has also initiated the process of reviewing and improving the Foundation Aid formula, marking the first step toward updating and improving how education funding is distributed to better reflect today's student needs and district realities. These investments and policy changes represent important progress for public education, and MCSBA will continue to engage with state leaders to support effective implementation.

Governor Hochul also acknowledged that ongoing federal aid reductions may require a special session later this year to revisit and potentially amend the budget. On the federal level, changes within the U.S. Department of Education have introduced new guidance and shifts in priorities, requiring districts to stay adaptable as they interpret and implement evolving policies. Through it all, MCSBA has remained focused on providing timely updates and advocacy to support our members through these transitions.

This year also brought exciting changes and continued growth within our daily practices at MCSBA. We transitioned many of our events to The Strathallan, a move that received overwhelmingly positive feedback. Attendance reached record highs both in person and online, and new improvements—such as enhanced remote viewing for virtual attendees—ensured greater access and engagement. A key part of this successful transition was the behind-the-scenes coordination led by our Office Manager, Tammy Gurowski. Tammy worked closely with the venue's event coordinator to ensure that every detail—from food service to room setup—was executed seamlessly. Her attention to detail and steady communication helped create a welcoming, professional environment for every event.

Our Fall Law Conference featured a return visit from Daniel Morton-Bentley, General Counsel to Commissioner Betty Rosa, for another valuable session focused on recent Commissioner Decisions. Behind the scenes, Program Director Nancy Pickering led the way in streamlining and coordinating timely, relevant professional development opportunities. Under her leadership, our Spring District Clerk Conference reached its highest attendance yet—further boosted by the addition of a virtual option.

MCSBA's internal systems also continued to evolve. Our website is now a dynamic resource hub, offering timely updates, committee information, and on-demand video content. Internally, more efficient workflows have strengthened our ability to respond quickly and effectively—keeping us well-positioned for the future. Every improvement we made this year was rooted in our mission: to support public school leaders in their pursuit of an equitable, high-quality education for every student.

We also extend our heartfelt thanks to the Officers who make this work possible. We are deeply grateful to Dennis Laba, our outgoing President, for his service, humility, and personal engagement. Dennis has led with quiet strength and genuine care, always prioritizing relationships and fostering a sense of unity across our membership. We anticipate welcoming Scott Adair into the role of President and look forward to his thoughtful, strategic leadership in the year ahead. Scott brings a wealth of experience, a collaborative spirit, and a deep commitment to public education—all of which will serve MCSBA well as we continue to grow and evolve. Special thanks also to Treasurer John Abbott, who masterfully manages our finances. His steady hand, sharp financial insight, and good humor make him an invaluable part of our team—no matter the time zone or scenery. Immediate Past President (twice) Amy West remains an enduring source of inspiration for our organization. Her leadership, both past and present, continues to shape our work in meaningful ways.

This year has reinforced a powerful truth: while the landscape of public education continues to evolve, MCSBA is equipped not only to adapt—but to lead. Thank you for your ongoing partnership, passion, and commitment. Together, we continue to make a meaningful difference—and we look forward to the opportunities ahead.

Wishing you a relaxing and well-deserved summer break filled with rest, joy, sunshine and time with family and friends!

*Cheers,
Amy*

From Outgoing President Dennis Laba

I want to begin by thanking each member of MCSBA for their support during my year as president. Each of you has proven the truth in the saying "the way to achieve your own success is to be willing to help somebody else get it first."

We went into this school year prepared to address complex topics. Many of these issues involve advocacy at the state and federal level. Our Legislative Committee Co-Chairs Karen Hatch and Sarah Pelusio spearheaded these efforts with enthusiasm and diplomacy. They have worked tirelessly to keep our members informed and prepared to connect with elected officials. Our annual trip to Albany and the MCSBA Legislative Breakfast are positive examples of their initiative and organizational skills.

Our many standing committees continue to do valuable work on behalf of our districts. Specifically, our Communications Outreach Advisory Committee led by Kathy Dillon and Kim McCluski drives our momentum forward. Outreach is vital to our association's success and something all board members do regularly. COAC's dedication to making sure our membership has the latest information and strategic thinking is much appreciated.

The District Operations Committee co-chaired by Tom Nepesca and Stephanie Templeton presented topics that we will continue to carry over into the next school year including foundation aid, cell phone use in our districts, electric school buses and other capital project matters.

I also want to acknowledge the work of our Information Exchange Co-Chairs Janice Fortuna and Jim Musshafen. We continued our efforts to keep board members up to date by conducting effective meetings, enforcing the Blue Ribbon Commission and working in compliance with the Education Rights and Privacy Act. With valuable support from our subcommittee and veteran board leaders, we continued with an approach that respects the autonomy of individual districts while providing support for new board members.

Under Amy Thomas's leadership, MCSBA continues to be recognized as a leading local school board association, known for delivering timely and relevant professional development to its members. Her team—Nancy Pickering, Sarah Pelusio, and Tammy Gurowski—provides essential and timely support that is critical to the success of MCSBA's programs and services. The coordination required for each standing committee meeting, presentation, law conference, district clerk conference, and board governance and fiscal training reflects a tremendous investment of time and effort.

The MCSBA team's diligence in responding to the Governor's mandate to include student voice at board of education tables this fall—and their work to develop a summer training program for student representatives—is especially commendable. Additionally, the opportunity to connect with members during our two social hours has proven to be a valuable asset to the organization.

I cannot forget to thank the officers of the association, who have attended more than 80 meetings this year. Scott Adair has been wonderful to work with, and John Abbott has been a reliable help in navigating the complexities of financial challenges for all districts. I deeply appreciate Amy West for her service as past president, and I send her a huge thank you as I end my term.

Lastly, I must extend my sincere thanks to Dr. Tom Putnam, District Superintendent of Monroe 2-Orleans BOCES, for his steady support and thoughtful counsel throughout this year. His guidance has been invaluable to me in navigating the responsibilities of my dual role as BOCES 2 Board President and President of the Monroe County School Boards Association.

I have always valued my time serving as a school board member. As you all know, it can be a heavy responsibility, but it also provides great satisfaction and pride. As I reflect on the past year in the presidency, I have a new perspective on the extraordinary talent we have assembled in the Monroe County School Boards Association. Your commitment to service is appreciated and the work you do is essential for the ones who matter most: our students.

It has been my honor and privilege.
