

Evaluate Websites

BEWARE! All information found on the internet is not from reliable sources. Use this as a checklist to evaluate any site you plan to use for research. If there are too many NO answers, move to another site.

1. Is it a match to your topic?
2. Can you find the author?
3. Does the author tell you the source of the information? Is there a bibliography?
4. Are there links to other reliable sites?
5. Who supports this site? Can you find who publishes the site?
6. What is the purpose of the site? Can you recognize any bias?
7. Is the information you need really there?
8. Can you tell if it has been updated?
9. Is it easy to read?
10. Is it easy to navigate?
