

A Message from the Director

Dear Baldwin Community,

Happy New Year!

You may have heard of the Danish and Norwegian concept of hygge (pronounced "hoo-ga"). It's a way of enjoying life's simple pleasures and creating a sense of coziness and warmth. According to Meik Wiking, director of the Happiness Research Institute in Copenhagen and author of The Little Book of Hygge, "Hygge is about an atmosphere and an experience....A feeling of home. A feeling we are safe."

I think our library cultivates a hygge environment all year long, but most certainly during these cold, dark months. As you browse through this edition of our newsletter, you will find many opportunities to get your cozy on:

- Teens and adults can learn to crochet (p.2)
- Adults can knit a chunky scarf (p.2)
- Adults can learn to make sourdough (p.3)
- Teens can enjoy National Hot Cocoa Day (p.9)
- Tweens can decorate winter cookies (p.10)
- Kids can transform old books into snowmen or make a ceramic snowy owl (p.13)

This is just a little taste of the many activities that will take place in January and February. And sometimes, it's not about a program - just a simple visit to pick out a few books can be a hygge moment.

Technology can also be part of this. Consider the possibilities: streaming a video from Hoopla or Kanopy at home while wearing fuzzy socks and your favorite pajamas sounds warm and cozy to me. Reading an eBook you've checked out from Libby while enjoying a cup of hot cocoa also comes to mind.

This winter, let the Library be a place you find your hygge. Sincerely,

Elizabeth Olesch

Library Director
