The community-centered History Harvest events are designed to gather stories, artifacts, and memories from alumni, students, families, staff, and residents. Information and materials collected will be preserved in a digital time capsule and may help inspire elements within the design of the new elementary school.

The events will feature a Memory Wall for sharing written reflections; artifact documentation of yearbooks, photos, memorabilia, and student work; a story booth for recording short interviews and personal experiences; a Kid’s Memory Corner for drawings and notes from current students; a design table update with early floor plans and renderings; and guided school tours led by faculty.

The District invites all community members – past and present – to participate, contribute, and celebrate the legacy of these beloved schools. Voices gathered through the History Harvest will help ensure that the history, culture, and traditions of Horace Mann, Roosevelt, and Madison continue to shape the next chapter in public education for students.
