November - Integrity

Grades K-2	Grades 3-5	Grades 6-8
Ariel Montero- I can always rely on Ariel to demonstrate honesty and strong moral principles in and out of the classroom. In addition to being such a sweet, kind friend, Ariel shows integrity each day when she abides by the classroom rules and expectations. Even when other students around her might be struggling to follow the rules or stay on task, Ariel stays focused on her learning. I have met few students as motivated to learn as Ariel. Because of this strong desire to learn, even when it can be so challenging for her, Ariel knows that by following the rules, expectations, and procedures in the classroom she will be set up for success, and so will those around her. I am SO very proud of Ariel and her drive to make the best choices each and every day so that she and her classmates can learn and grow!	Gianna Crespo- Gianna is always super focused and I can always count on her to be doing the right thing when I am not looking! She is usually someone I can compliment for following the directions the first time they are said.	Noah Hignutt- Noah is a student that exemplifies integrity in all aspects of life. While others may want the glory by any means necessary, Noah prefers to do things the right way. In soccer, Noah scored a goal that may have gone out of bounds. The ref initially allowed the goal, but asked Noah if it really went in. Noah could have easily lied and said the ball was in, but he chose to be honest and told the ref that the ball had gone out. Most players would have taken the goal, but Noah left the field knowing he had done the right thing. His integrity was bigger than that goal would have been!

Grant Pope- When I think of integrity I think of Grant. He has shown he is an honest student who can be trusted by peers and adults. For example, if a student is needed to deliver something in our school, I know Grant can do that job and return to class without any worry that he will be sidetracked along the way. Grant also speaks the truth with his words and does not hide his mistakes. Instead, he admits fault when accidents occur and works to help make things right.	Ethan White- Ethan is the definition of integrity. He always does the right thing when no one is looking. He is a kind and trustworthy kid who is such a pleasure to teach in class. He is constantly lending a helping hand to a friend or teacher and expects nothing in return. He is my go to helper in class and I can always count on him. He truly has a kind heart and soul. I am so proud of the boy he is becoming!	Mia Zabawa- Mia is being nominated for the character trait of integrity because she consistently does the right thing, even when no one is watching. She is honest in her words and actions, takes responsibility for her choices, and treats others with fairness and respect. When completing assignments, or resolving conflicts, Mia demonstrates strong moral principles and sets a positive example for her peers.
