President's Report - January 20, 2026

Hello and good evening Rye Neck. I hope everyone's new year is off to a strong start. The exciting thing about new years is that they can often invite new opportunities, if you're lucky.

One exciting new opportunity for our community to consider this year, is the bond referendum to upgrade the middle school and high school athletic fields. In the coming months, the community will have numerous opportunities to engage with administrators and architects, ask questions, learn the details and have your voices heard.

To kick things off, Mr Burke will host his first Bond Referendum Livestream tomorrow, January 21, at 7pm. He will go live on our Rye Neck Live YouTube Channel and answer community questions in real time. To ask your questions simply email bond@ryeneck.org and Mr Burke will read and answer your bond questions.

Mr Burke will host lifestream information sessions every month until the referendum vote later this fall. The goal of these sessions is to disseminate valuable information, gather feedback from parents and stakeholders, and to begin a consistent flow of communication to our Rye Neck community. In the coming months Mr Burke will welcome different presenters and guests to the livestreams, with the goal of offering full transparency and addressing community feedback, questions and concerns.

So remember to tune in to our Rye Neck Live YouTube Channel on January 21st at 7p, and email bond@ryeneck.org to hear answers to all your bond referendum questions. You can also always visit the Bond Referendum tab on ryeneck.org for up to date information.

The bond referendum not only offers the district an opportunity to upgrade the middle school and high school athletic fields, it also invites the opportunity to invest in our students, invest in our community, and invest in Rye Neck's future.
