Foundational Skills 1

Activity Book

This Activity Book contains activity pages that accompany many of the lessons from the Teacher Guide for Unit 1. The activity pages are organized and numbered according to the lesson number and the order in which they are used within the lesson. For example, if there are two activity pages for Lesson 4, the first will be numbered 4.1 and the second 4.2. The activity pages in this book do not include written instructions for students because the instructions would have words that are not decodable. Teachers will explain these activity pages to the students orally, using the instructions in the Teacher Guide. The Activity Book is a student component, which means each student should have an Activity Book.

Kate Visits Do·ba

I'm Kate Nez and last summ·er, when I was nine, my mom and dad took me to vis·it my Do·ba. Do·ba is my mom's mom. She is an art·ist and she has a cab·in out in the Southwest.

At the start of my vis·it with Do·ba, I was sad. It seemed like it would be a dull summ·er. But in the end, I had a lot of fun.

I was sitt·ing in the kitch·en, patt·ing the cat that was sitt·ing on my lap, when Do·ba came in.

"I just spoke with Sa·ni," she said. "He made us an off·er."

"What sort of off·er?"

"He asked if we would like to camp with him and Gad."

"Who is Gad?"

"Gad is a kid. He's nine, like you. Sa·ni is his grand·dad."

"What would we do?" I asked.

"Well, we would hike, look at rocks, cook lunch and dinn·er out·side, look at the stars, and sleep in a tent."

"Gee," I said, "that sounds like fun! When can we start?"

"To·morr·ow morn·ing!" Do·ba said.

Take-Home

Dear Family Member,

It is exciting to start the school year—a warm welcome to you and your student!

The purpose of this letter is to tell you about the reading program your student will be using this year. The program is an innovative set of instructional materials. If your student attended our school in either Kindergarten or Grade 1, he or she probably used this program for reading instruction in those grades.

The program consists of two types of instruction every day. The sixty-minute Knowledge Strand builds general knowledge, vocabulary, and other language skills.

The Skills strand, also sixty minutes, uses a phonics-based approach to teach the mechanics of reading and spelling. Students will also receive grammar and writing instruction during this strand.

During the early weeks of school, we will review the skills taught in Grade 1. This review period will also give us the opportunity to get to know your student better so we can identify his or her particular areas of strength and weakness in reading and writing. It is important that we determine exactly what level of instruction is most appropriate for your student.

This week your student will bring home copies of a story we have read together in class. We hope you will encourage your student to reread the stories aloud and discuss them with you at home. However, if your student has difficulty reading the stories and appears frustrated, please read the stories aloud to him or her. We will be observing and assessing your student during these first few weeks to be sure that he or she is placed in the appropriate level of instruction. Your student will use the instructional materials most appropriate for his or her learning needs. You will soon begin to see more examples of class work, as well as homework, on a regular basis.

It is important that parents become involved in the education of their student. If you would like information on ways to help your student at home, please do not hesitate to contact me. You will continue to receive periodic family-member letters that will give you tips and activities to do with your student. I look forward to teaching your student this year as we continue using this program in our Grade 2 classes.

The Campsite

Sa·nī came and picked us up in his truck. We drove for miles to get to the camp·site.

“Dō·bā,” I said, “what is this place?”

“Well,” said Dō·bā, “take a look. See all the sand, rocks, and stones? This land is not good for farming, but it’s good for hik·ing.”

“And it’s good land for camp·ing!” said Sa·nī .

When we got to the camp·site, we had to un·pack sleep·ing bags, tents, lan·terns, match·es, and lots of food. We lugged it all to the camp·site.

Sa·nī chose a spot to set up camp. Gād and I helped set up the tents. It took us a long time.

For dinn·er we had hot dogs. We stuck them on sticks and held them in the fire. My hot dog got all black be·cause I left it in there too long. Gād gave me one of his.

That was when I said to my·self, “Gād is O.K.!”

The Hike

The next morn·ing, we went on a hike. Af·ter a bit, we stopped for lunch.

When Gad fin·ished his lunch, he asked, “Can Kate and I look for rocks by our·selves?”

Sa·ni said O.K.

“Kate,” Gad said to me, “bring your fork. We can use it to dig up rocks.”

I grabbed my fork and we went off to look for rocks.

Gad point·ed at a bump on the side of a cliff and said, “Let’s dig that rock out!”

The rock did not look all that large. But when we start·ed digg·ing, we soon saw that it was larg·er than it had seemed.

Af·ter a bit, Gad said, “Gee! It must be two feet long! We’ve got to keep scratch·ing.”

We went on scratch·ing with our forks.

“Let’s tug on it!” Gad said.

We grabbed it and gave a big tug.

It popped out. But so did a big cloud of sand and dust. Gad and I fell down.

Once the dust and sand had drift·ed off, I saw Gad stand·ing there with the thing in his hands.

“It’s not a rock!” he yelled. “It’s a bone!”

It was the bigg·est bone I had ev·er seen. It was three feet long!

Sa·ni and Do·ba came runn·ing. When she saw the bone, Do·ba looked up·set.

“Are you OK?” I asked.

She did not say. “Will you tell me, Kate, where you found that large bone?”

I point·ed to the spot where we found it.

“Good·ness!” she said. “It was in the cliff.”

“What is done is done,” said Sa·ni. “Let’s look at it.”

Sa·ni set the bone on the ground. Then he took a pic·ture of the bone and said, “We need to get an ex·pert to look at this bone and tell us what sort of bone it is.”

The Bone Man

The next morn-ing, Sa-ni said, “I just had a chat with a man from West-ern State Coll-ege. His name is Ron Fitch and he is an ex-pert on bones. He has writt-en lots of books. If we bring him the bone, he can tell us what sort of bone it is.”

We got in-to the truck. Sa-ni said that I was in charge of the bone. I wrapped it up and set it on my lap.

When we got to the coll-ege, we gave the bone man the bone. When he saw it, he broke in-to a big grin.

The bone man bent down and said, “I could be wrong, but it looks like you’ve found some-thing big here! I have to do some tests, but I’ll bet this is a bone of a rap-tor.”

“What’s a rap-tor?” I asked.

“Kate!” Gad said, “A rap-tor is like the cool-est rep-tile of all time!”

The next week, Do·ba said, “I just spoke with Ron Fitch, the bone man. I’ve got three things to tell you. Two of them are good things that you will like. One is a bad thing that you will not like.”

“Tell me one of the good things,” I said.

“Mis·ter Fitch got the tests back. The bone that you and Gad found is a rap·tor bone!”

“Yipp·ee!” I shout·ed. “I am glad that is solved. Gad will be so thrilled that he has a rap·tor bone!”

“Well,” said Do·ba, “that brings me to the bad thing.”

“The next thing is there is a law that says that you can’t dig up bones and keep them for your·self,” Do·ba said. “We Na·va·jo say the bone should have stayed in the ground. It be·longs to no one. But now that it is out, Mis·ter Fitch and his hel·pers will keep it safe for us.”

“May I tell you the second good thing? They would like you and Gad to vis·it them when they are digg·ing up the bones. And they would like the two of you to pick out a name for the rap·tor that you found.”

“So cool!” I said.

The Big Dig

When we went back to the cliff, the bone man was there with some help·ers. They had scraped the side of the cliff to ex·pose a lot of the rap·tor.

“So, will you dig out all of the bones here on site?” asked Do·ba.

“No,” said the bone man. “The next step will be to cut this cliff up in·to large blocks of rock. Then we will wrap the blocks up in plast·er. The plast·er will keep the bones from crack·ing. Then we will use a large crane to set the blocks on trucks. Then the trucks will take them to my lab. Once the blocks are there, we will start digg·ing the bones out of the blocks.”

“What sort of tools do you use for that?” asked Do·ba.

“We use tools a lot like the ones den·tists use on teeth—brush·es and sharp picks.”

“Kate and I used forks!” said Gad.

“How long will it take to get all of the bones out of the rocks?” Sa·nĭ asked.

“Well,” said the bone man. “We’ve got a lot to do. It will take some time be·cause we have to be care·ful not to wreck the bones.”

“Will you be fin·ished by the end of the summ·er?” I asked.

“No,” said the bone man. “You and Gad will have to vis·it next summ·er and per·haps the summ·er af·ter that. Then we can catch up on our digg·ing prog·ress!”

“So,” said the bone man, “have you kids picked out a name for this rap·tor?”

“Yes, I’ve picked one,” I said.

All of the digg·ers stopped digg·ing and looked at me.

I said, “This rap·tor will be named Gad!”

All of the men cheered.

Gad and Kate smiled with pride.

Prince Vincent

Once there was a prince named Vincent. Vincent came from France. He was a proud man with a loud voice.

Once, a bee stung Vincent on his cheek.

“Ouch!” said Vincent, grabbing his cheek. “What bee has stung me? What bee would dare to sting me?”

The bee buzzed.

“Look at me!” Vincent shouted at the bee. “I am the prince of France! You are a foolish bee if you think you can sting a prince like me!”

The bee buzzed off.

Vincent ran after the bee. He shouted in his loudest voice, “You will not escape from me, bee! I will ride after you on my horse!”

Vincent got his helmet and his lance. He got up on his horse. Then he rode off on his quest for the bee.

Vincent rode north and south. He rode past rivers and lakes. He looked for the bee in houses. He looked for the bee on farms. He looked for the bee up in trees and down in holes.

The Beach

Last Sunday David and Eve went to the beach.

It was a sunny day. It got hotter and hotter. At last it was ninety-five degrees.

Eve laid out a blanket. Then she got out her sunscreen. She rubbed the white cream on her back. She rubbed it on her arms and her legs. She rubbed it on her nose and her cheeks. She even rubbed it on her elbows and her toes.

“David,” she said, “would you like some sunscreen?”

“No thanks,” said David. “I’ll be okay without it.” Then he ran off to play soccer.

David played soccer. He tossed a Frisbee. He ran a relay race. He rowed a boat. He swam. He splashed in the waves. He went diving for shells. He made a scarf out of seaweed. Then he lay down and took a nap.

All this time the sun was shining brightly. Rays of sunlight were landing on David’s arms and legs.

At last the daylight faded. David was set to go home. But when he got up, he felt some pain on his legs. He looked down. His body was as red as a lobster. His thighs looked like two roasted hams. His toes looked like ten bright red pigs running on the sand.

“EEK!” cried David. “I’m fried! I should have used Eve’s sunscreen!”

Sink or Float

It was the first Thursday of summer vacation. It was hot. Joey Jenkins and his younger brother Pete were sitting by the pool trying to stay cool. Pete had his ankles and toes in the water.

“Hey Pete,” Joey shouted at his little brother, “let’s play sink or float.”

“How do you play?” asked Pete.

“First I go and find something,” explained Joey. “Then I ask you if you think it will sink or float. Then I throw it in the pool and we find out if you were right or wrong.”

“Okay,” replied Pete.

Joey ran to the garage and got a brass key.

“That must be pretty heavy,” said Pete. “I say it’s going to sink for sure!”

Joey tossed the key in the pool. It sank below the surface in an instant.

“Okay, little brother,” said Joey, “you won that one. Do you want to play again?”

Pete nodded his head.

Joey sprinted up to the house and got an apple from the boys’ mom.

“I predict that will float,” said Pete.

Joey tossed the apple in the pool and, sure enough, it bobbed and floated on top of the water.

Joey ran over to the woods and picked up an acorn that was lying beneath a towering old oak tree.

“Gee,” said Pete. “That’s a tough one. An acorn might sink, but then again, it might float.”

“Sink or float?” said Joey. “I need a decision now!”

“Um, I guess it will sink,” Pete said.

Joey tossed the acorn in the pool. It bobbed and floated on top of the water right next to the apple.

“Ha, ha! You lose!” Joey cried.

Joey ran into the house and got a plastic model airplane he had built.

“Sink or float?” he asked.

“Sink!” said Pete.

Joey set the airplane ever so gently on the surface of the water. At first it looked like the airplane was floating.

“Ha, ha!” said Joey. “It floats! You lose again!”

“Not so fast!” said Pete. He thumped the water with both of his feet and made a gigantic wave. The wave went crashing over the airplane. The airplane filled with water and began sinking.

“It sinks!” said Pete, smiling. “So I win!”

“No fair!” said Joey. “That’s cheating!”

Dear Family Member,

Each week, your student will receive a new list of spelling words. The purpose of having weekly spelling words is to help students become strong spellers and allow them to practice at home the skills learned during this program.

Your student will receive the spelling words at the beginning of the week and will be assessed on the words at the end of the week. The spelling words come from stories your student reads in class. By reading the stories and practicing the spelling words at home each night, your student should be well prepared for the spelling test on Friday.

There are ten words each week. The words cover only the spellings that have been reviewed and taught in class, meaning your student will only work with and be tested on familiar spellings. Spelling word number 10 is a Tricky Word and is marked in a special way. A Tricky Word does not follow the expected spelling rules. This means Tricky Words cannot be reliably sounded out and spelled, so its spelling must be memorized. Tricky Words are also taught and reviewed in class.

I encourage you to work with your student each night to review the spelling words for 5–10 minutes. The activities can be fun and need to involve having your student write the word. Here are a few activity ideas:

- Say a sentence with the spelling word, but leave the spelling word out. For example, you might say, “The _____ took off with a bag of loot.” Your student should guess the word bandit and then write the word.
- Create spelling word flash cards. After reading the word on a flash card, your student can turn over the card and write the word from memory on the back.
- Have a spelling bee at home, asking your student to both spell the words to you orally and write them.
- Ask your student to write each word in a short sentence, or write a story with the words.
- Act out or draw a picture of the words; have your student guess the word and then write it down.

The spelling words for this week are on Activity Page 11.2. Again, please note word number 10 is a Tricky Word, so we have marked it in a special way.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Dear Family Member,

Once again this week, your student has a new list of spelling words. The purpose of having weekly spelling words is to help students become strong spellers and allow them to practice at home the skills learned during this program. Additionally, this helps students to develop independence as they begin to take responsibility for their own learning.

Your student will receive the spelling words at the beginning of the week and will be tested on the words at the end of the week. By practicing the spelling words at home each night, your student should be well prepared for the spelling test.

I encourage you to work with your student each night 5–10 minutes to review the spelling words. If you would like to practice the way we take the test at school:

For each word, I read it once, say it in a sentence, and say the word again. We go through the whole list in this way. Then, I go back through and call each word one last time so the students can review them. I also call out a phrase. The students do not know this phrase in advance. They write this phrase on the test. Then, I ask students to correct their own paper as I demonstrate the correct spelling for each word. I ask them to correct their paper by writing the correct spelling above the word. It is okay for students to make mistakes; the important thing is to learn from their mistakes.

The spelling words for this week are on Activity Page 16.3. Again, please note the word how, number 10, is a Tricky Word, so we have marked it in a special way.

I know you have busy lives and you must fit in homework wherever you can. Any practice will help your student to become a better reader and speller. Your student will continue to bring home stories that we have read in class later this week. We will continue this practice throughout the year. Please have your student read the story to you and then talk about it together. Remember this practice can take place anywhere.

As always, please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

The Ham

Mom left a pink ham sitting in a big black pan.

The cat bandit was resting on a quilt when he got a whiff of the ham.

What was that smell?

It was ham!

Where was the ham?

The cat bandit set off, sniffing as he went.

He went on sniffing until he spotted the ham.

But the ham was up on top.

How was he to get it down?

That was the problem.

The cat bandit ran to the closet and got a belt.

Then he ran to the shed and got a strong magnet.

He stuck the magnet on the end of the belt.

The magnet stuck to the belt.

Then the cat bandit swung the belt.

Clang! The magnet on the end of the belt hit the pan.

It stuck to the pan.

In a flash, the cat bandit was tugging on the belt.

Tug, tug, tug!

Yank, yank, yank!

At last, the pan slid off.

It fell down and landed with a clang.

Then—munch, munch, munch—that was the end of the ham.

The Chips

Once Mom left a big bag of chips on the top shelf in the kitchen.

“The cat will not get them up there,” she said.

But it was not long until the cat bandit was up to his tricks.

He got a log, a plank, and a big rock.

He set the rock on the bench.

He set the log on the rug next to the bench.

He set the plank on top of the log.

Then the bandit sat on one end of the plank.

He slid the rock off the bench.

The rock fell and landed on one end of the plank.

Smack!

The end of the plank the rock fell on went down fast.

But the end of the plank the cat bandit was sitting on popped up, and the cat bandit popped up with it.

Whiz!

The cat bandit went zipping up.

The cat bandit did a flip and landed on top of the shelf.

Slash! The bandit cut a big gash in the bag.

Then—crunch, crunch, crunch—that was the end of the chips.
