EXCLUSIONS FROM ATTENDANCE

The School Board recognizes that there may be cases where denying admission is necessary because a student's presence in school presents a danger to the life, safety or health of students or school personnel.

The Board may exclude children from school because of a physical or mental condition, which in the opinion of a competent medical authority will render the child unable to reasonably benefit from the programs available or will cause the attendance of the child to be detrimental to the welfare of other students.

Children and their parents/guardians will be afforded due process rights to which they are entitled by law, board policy or administrative regulations.
