National African American Parent Involvement Day on Feb. 9!

Bridging Parent Involvement, Cultural Inclusion, and Education

NAAPID is the day we celebrate the importance of the role of parents in each child's education. On this day more than others, we invite all parents and adult family members to visit Logan Elementary. According to NAAPID founder, Joe Dulin " Education is the key to success and parents are educators' greatest allies."

Please consider spending all or some portion of your day with the Logan Leopards on NAAPID!

FREE STEM Opportunity- Feb. 21

Join the Engineering Honors Society, Tau Beta Pi, for a free, hands-on STEM experience designed for upper elementary students (Grades 3-5), on Saturday, February 21.

For this module, students will work alongside University of Michigan students and learn about buoyancy forces, density, and weight by building and testing boats in small groups. They will aim to build a boat that can hold the most amount of weight before sinking.

- Target Grades: 3rd-5th Grade
- Date/Time: Saturday, February 2, 3:00 - 5:00 pm
- Location: Electrical Engineering and Computer Science Building
- Parking: Lot NC-60 (Free on Weekends)
- Event Cost: Free!
- Subject: Building boats!

Coaching Opportunities “Girls on the Run”

It's been a cold winter but our eyes are on the spring as we are in the last stages of bringing on teams for our Spring 2026 Girls on the Run season.

This evidence- based curriculum includes lessons where participants will:

- Build their Heart Power, the confidence to boldly share their thoughts, ideas, and feelings
- Learn how to use their voices even when they are nervous or uncertain
- Participate in fun games that get them moving and thought-provoking activities that teach them valuable skills that last

Logan is looking for a coach(es) to lead our team - please consider supporting the program!

- A sliding scale registration fee for anyone
- Athletic shoes and clothing available to any participant or volunteer coach in need
- Coach stipends to alleviate financial barriers to volunteering (such as transportation costs, childcare, loss of wages)
- Educators can earn 6 continuing education credits for completing their training

Girls on the Run

Join the MOVEMENT!

Build confidence in girls and empower YOUR future.

Become a GOTR COACH!

Like their team, Girls on the Run coaches sharpen life skills and become more confident in any setting - classrooms, workplaces, and beyond.

Giving back at GOTR = investing in your future!

Educators can earn 6 SCECH's!

As you teach girls, you'll also...

- Strengthen your communication, organization, and professional skills
- Increase your own physical activity level
- Form friendships with like-minded volunteers
- Experience the pride of making a difference for the next generation
- Establish credibility as a role model
