Richmond County School System continues to monitor weekend weather conditions

(AUGUSTA, GEORGIA) – The Richmond County School System is closely monitoring weather conditions and forecasts ahead of the weekend and remains in active communication with local and regional emergency officials, as well as the National Weather Service.

Based on the latest information available, there are no changes to the district's schedule, and all schools and offices will operate normally on Friday, Jan. 30.

The school system will continue to share updates as needed through its inclement weather landing page at rcboe.org/weatherupdates, the Infinite Campus Parent Portal, district social media channels, and local media outlets.

Parents and guardians are encouraged to ensure their contact information is up to date in the Infinite Campus Parent Portal to receive timely notifications. Instructions for updating contact information are available at rcboe.org/parentportal.
