

What is it?

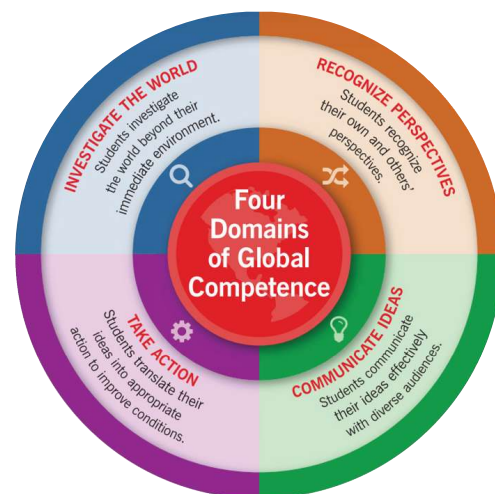

Through the Global Scholar Program, a cohort of Bolles students commits to completing an in-depth, interdisciplinary concentration in Global Learning. In addition to academic courses and independent research projects, the program requires engagement in extracurricular experiences such as a travel abroad program, attendance at student discussions and dialogues, and active participation in globally-focused clubs and programming.

Global Scholars will receive a designation on their transcripts and diploma.

Opportunities

Students in the GSP are part of a distinctive academic program. They have opportunities for global learning, international travel, language proficiency, academic enrichment and hands-on experiences. They learn skills to help them navigate unfamiliar environments, enhance their cross-cultural and diplomatic communication skills and increase their opportunities for valuable networking and leadership roles. Participation in the GSP highlights each student's global knowledge, initiative, commitment to personal growth and a willingness to embrace challenges.

Goals of the Program

©Asia Society 2005

What does being GLOBAL mean?

- You are curious and interested in learning about the World
- You recognize you have a perspective, and you want to learn the perspective of others
- You effectively communicate your ideas with diverse audiences, and you like to collaborate across borders
- You use your knowledge to take action on local and global issues

Questions to Ask Yourself

Do I like to travel to other countries?

Do I want to study abroad for a semester in college?

Do I enjoy learning different languages?

Am I curious to learn about other people's lifestyles, music, art and culture?

Do I want to have an impact on my community and the world?

Do I like to follow news from around the world?

Am I interested in international relations?

Do I want to use my skills to take action on global issues?

Am I interested in Global Health?

Do I enjoy working on independent projects and collaborating with others?

Before applying, it is important to consider the curricular and extracurricular commitments necessary to complete the program.

Required Courses

- 4 credits of a single World Language
- Global Leadership Honors (S1, first year)
- Global Entrepreneurship Honors (S2, last year)
- 1 Global Online Academy Course
- 1.5 credits in Global Electives

Extracurricular Requirements

- Maintain a GSP Portfolio throughout the program
- Complete a Global Leadership Project (first semester)
- Complete a Global Capstone Project with a presentation to the Bolles community (final semester)
- Participate in a Bolles School International travel program*

Examples include:

- Global Dialogues
- Great Decisions Global Discussions
- World Affairs Council Lecture Series
- Congreso or Congrès
- Global Student Conferences
- Leadership role in a school club that promotes Global Competency
- Designing and executing campus events such as Spark Day and International Education Week

Students who receive financial aid from The Bolles School will receive financial aid for a Bolles School International Travel Program.*

For transfer students, a proportional workload will be adjusted depending upon year of entry to Bolles.

THE CHAHLAVI GLOBAL SCHOLAR AWARD WILL BE AWARDED ANNUALLY

To one GSP student who has demonstrated an ongoing commitment to global learning on campus through outstanding contributions to Global Learning & Engagement. This award recognizes a student who displays respect among different people, fosters understanding and is a leader on campus and in our community.

Visit Bolles.org/global-scholar for more information and an application.

