

Adrienne Goodson

Class of 1984

As a Bee, Adrienne scored over 2000 points. She was named All-County, All-State and was a consensus All-American. She went on to attend Old Dominion University. During her college career, Goodson was a two-time second team All-Star performer. In 1987, she was named the Sun Belt Conference tournament's Most Valuable Player. As a Senior in 1988, she was named the Sun Belt Player of the Year. In all, Goodson helped lead Old Dominion to three NCAA tournaments. She finished her college career with 1,574 points and 863 rebounds. Following her graduation in 1988, Goodson captained the 1993 USA National Basketball Team.

No American professional women's league existed when Goodson graduated in 1988, so she played professionally in Brazil. In 1996, Goodson left Brazil to play in the inaugural season of the now-defunct American Basketball League. In the 2½ years that the ABL existed, she played for the Richmond/Philadelphia Rage, and later for the Chicago Condors. She was an ABL All-Star both years. From 1999-2005, Adrienne played in the WNBA. During her seven-year career, Goodson played with the Utah Starzz (1999–2002), San Antonio Silver Stars (2002–04), and Houston Comets (2005), finishing her career with the Charlotte Sting. She averaged 12.5 points, 5.2 rebounds and 2.0 assists in her WNBA career. In 1999, she started in all but one game with Utah and averaged 14.9 points. In 2002, she was selected to the WNBA All-Star Team.
