Information about this interim

Timeliness is a requirement of IDEA. With regard to this guardrail, we have identified this as an important communication area that also aligns with federal compliance. After a guardian signs for consent to have their student evaluated, the timeline begins the count-down of 45 school days. By improving our adherence to the 45-day timeline, we also improve our ability to communicate with families in a timely fashion. It also allows us to begin timely services for any students who are determined to be eligible for special education.
