COMPUTER SCIENCE SUBSTITUTIONS

Under state law, certain computer science classes may be substituted for math or science once per student. This must be done in coordination with the student, parents/guardians, and counselor/principal as there can be post-secondary consequences for substituting those courses with computer science. The substitution also needs to align with the student's high school and beyond plan. The following courses are eligible for substitution for math or science:

- Introduction to Computer Science Principles
- Web Design (GPHS)
- Advanced Web Design (GPHS)
- AP Computer Science Principles
- AP Computer Science A
