FOR THE FUTURE

2025
REPORT of GIFTS

JULY 1, 2024–JUNE 30, 2025

Dear Friends,

AS WE ENTER THE LAST YEAR OF OUR PICTURE THIS CAMPAIGN, we do so with gratitude and a keen sense of anticipation about the potential in this moment.

Together, we have made meaningful progress towards the level of endowment and financial wherewithal needed to fully support GFS' vision for its students, faculty, and community.

A successful campaign results from a collective effort, a mobilization of energy, a coalescing of wills. Over the last four years, we have seen just that. The generosity from every corner of the GFS world—alumni, parents (current and past), grandparents, faculty and staff, and even students—has been nothing short of amazing. We are deeply grateful to you all.

The last year of the campaign is critically important and a sprint to reach all who want to give back. We are on the road to a more durable financial picture for GFS, but we still have a significant gap to close to fully fund the All School Commons. This new facility has exceeded expectations, nourishing community, arts, and computer science. And we know that our endowment is not yet at the level needed to increase the amount of financial aid we are able to award in support of our community engagement programs.

Each gift is a seed planted for the future. We do not know what the world will be like in 2050—or even in 2030—but we do know that it will be better for the ideas, values, and creativity contributed by GFS graduates. The names on these pages and the remarkable legacies of countless other GFSers have proven as much. Thank you.

FINANCIAL OVERVIEW

Germantown Friends School is committed to delivering its mission by providing a remarkable array of opportunities to students, faculty, staff, and families year-round, across both of its campuses. Like most independent schools, the majority of our revenue is generated through tuition. As costs rise and the strategic vision calls for increased investment in our program and facilities, we remain reliant on the philanthropic support of our community.

INVESTING IN OUR FUTURE: ENDOWMENT GIVING

Endowment giving is critical to sustaining and strengthening the school's mission. Tuition covers only part of the true cost of a GFS education. In 2024-25, income from the endowment provided approximately $1.6 million, or about three percent of the operating budget. While the GFS Annual Fund supports day-to-day operations and program costs, the endowment funds various initiatives in perpetuity. Its principal is invested, and a portion of the returns provide steady annual support, meaning we are less dependent on tuition income. A strong endowment is more than a financial asset; it is a living expression of our collective values, a commitment to the educational excellence that GFS is known for, and a promise for the future.

PICTURE THIS: A CAMPAIGN FOR LEARNING IN COMMUNITY

Picture This is the most ambitious campaign in GFS history, raising $40.3 million as of June 30, 2025. The campaign has spurred transformation on our campus with the construction of the All School Commons and a focus on growing the Annual Fund, the Community Education Endowment, and the Financial Aid Endowment.

Ultimately, GFS aims to increase endowment to a level that will support doubling the number of full grants available to students. We also aspire to distribute these grants evenly across grades and divisions. This would require many multiples of our current endowment.

As a meaningful first step toward this long-term goal, we seek to raise $10 million in endowed funding for financial aid. We're grateful to everyone who has helped us make progress so far toward achieving this pillar of the Picture This campaign.

To learn more about opportunities to support the GFS endowment, please contact Hannah Henderson '91, Chief Advancement Officer, at hhenderson@germantownfriends.org or 215-951-2340.

FOR THE LOVE OF HUMANITY

A Q&A with Melinda Tuan P'23 about philanthropy's role in securing the future of nonprofit institutions and organizations.

How do you ensure that an institution will thrive well into the future? This question has been at the forefront of our minds as we've undertaken Picture This, our most ambitious comprehensive campaign in GFS history. The answer, at least in part, is: philanthropy. The strength of an institution's philanthropic community is truly what makes the difference in the long run.

To learn more, we spoke with Melinda Tuan P'23, an independent consultant who partners with philanthropy leaders. Her mission is, as she puts it, "to help people and institutions who want to give away their resources do it more effectively and equitably."

In your experience, what are the key components that make an institution—an independent school—financially sustainable in the long term?

MELINDA TUAN: What nonprofits need for true sustainability is ongoing, unrestricted, general operating support. That's the gold standard for giving and receiving. Without this kind of ongoing support—and I mean multiple years, and ideally decades, of commitment and lack of restrictions—institutions can wind up hamstrung.

Where do you start when advising your clients on how to think about giving to the organizations they care about?

MT: I've said this throughout my career: The way to be an effective funder, and a good partner to any nonprofit, is to ask them what they need instead of imposing your will on them. Sometimes, donors have a mindset of: "It's my money and I know best." But giving should be about: What are the needs of the community?

What are the most common blind spots nonprofits have when relying on philanthropy?

MT: Twisting themselves into a pretzel to meet the desires of donors. There is a real power dynamic at play when those that hold wealth have power, but nonprofits that are asking for resources need to have the courage to stand up and engage donors in conversations about what their community really needs.

How can institutions foster a culture of giving that truly permeates its community?

MT: It starts with building a culture of giving in your family. Inform kids about how resources flow and how you can be a part of directing resources to the area of greatest need.

From an early age, follow your kids' interests. Find volunteering opportunities and books around those topics—those can be pathways to philanthropy. Or, invite kids into your own area of interest. For instance, you can bring them to volunteer with you at a food bank, then later, talk about food deserts, systemic racism, and the inequities in access to healthy food. Then, maybe when they're older, expand the conversation to a global level about farmers, food production, food insecurity, and starvation across the world.

How do endowments fit into the philanthropy puzzle, and why are they important?

MT: If you want an institution to be around for a long time, an investment in unrestricted endowment can be one of the most powerful ways to support it. This allows that institution to have a stronger financial foundation, as it will hopefully generate interest and investment income which is unrestricted. It allows more flexibility for the institution, enables them to address urgent needs, and to adapt and pivot, if necessary.

People often don't think about endowments, because they want to see something more tangible come out of their philanthropy. In those cases, I encourage donors to shift their mindset about why philanthropy exists. The word philanthropy translates from Greek to "love of humanity." Philanthropy should be for the love of humankind.

BLUE & WHITE SOCIETY

Thank you to our Blue & White Society donors, a deeply committed group of individuals and organizations who gave $1,845 or more this fiscal year (July 1, 2024-June 30, 2025). This philanthropic support, which includes the Annual Fund, capital, endowed and unrestricted funds, tax-credit programs, and the Faculty Retirement Fund, enables GFS to continue providing exceptional experiences and resources for our students and faculty.

REUNITED AND READY TO GIVE BACK

How the Class of 1975 rallied around their 50th reunion to support the All School Commons.

The All School Commons has firmly cemented itself as a new cornerstone of GFS daily life. In the Dining Hall, students and faculty meet up; Breakthrough of Greater Philadelphia and the Community Basketball and Enrichment camp enjoy lunch and fellowship out of the summer heat; and its long tables are just right for a range of community traditions, including our annual holiday dinner for residents of Stenton Family Manor, a shelter for unhoused families.

Art classrooms already feel lived in, with drawings and sketches tacked to every available surface—the rooms doubling as workshop space during MLK Day of Service and Alumni Weekend. And the new Greene Street entrance facing longtime partners at the Pennsylvania School for the Deaf has activated a welcoming gateway between campus and our neighbors.

It's this doorway, both functional and symbolic, that caught the attention of the Class of 1975 50th reunion organizing committee: Caroline West, Oscar Mertz, PR West, Betsy Lukens, Dorothy Cary, John Wellenbach, and Corey Stone. While the building wasn't originally on their radar, observing how it is directly facilitating community shifted their perspective.

The '75ers have always been geared toward social justice issues, and the committee, working closely with the GFS Advancement staff, began to investigate the best way to combine the class's interest in access and equity with the support the school needs most.

"As a class, we are very connected with Germantown; as students, we didn't want GFS to be an island in the community, and we still don't," said Caroline West. "We began to see how the All School Commons is a meaningful connection point to the neighborhood."

Oscar Mertz, who is an architect and planner, was attuned to the profound effects of the building and its new entrance onto campus.

"The building is a physical manifestation of an open door," he noted. "And, from a design perspective, how this project transformed the Smith Gym and added on so seamlessly—plus the complement to the Loeb—is amazing."

Once the All School Commons was identified as the focus of the class's reunion gift, the committee got to work contacting classmates. Because the class has regularly met for five-year reunions (including a very well-attended Zoom 45th reunion in 2020), the outreach process was quite effective. The reunion committee members emphasized participation and partnered with the Advancement Office on leadership gifts to help maximize the impact they could have collectively and individually.

Thanks to the committee's energy and a resounding group effort, the Class of 1975 raised $132,000 for the All School Commons.

During Alumni Weekend in May, the Class of 1975 had a strong showing for the opening reception on Friday night in the All School Commons, and a special

Saturday morning breakfast in the Ella King Torrey '75 Gallery, located in the front hall of Main. The classmates, including a number of honorary alumni, shared memories as they pored over an exhibit of yearbooks and curated archival materials. Later that day, they gathered in an All School Commons classroom and Head of School Dana Week's office for a Zoom meeting with classmates from as far away as Italy, Scotland, and California.

PR West, who's been involved with other '75 reunion efforts, noted that while her class has always been ready and willing to rally around causes they believe in, there was extra gravity surrounding their 50th.

"Fifty is a big one," she said. "You really take stock of what the school means to you and what you can give back."

The Class of 1975 then and now.

We can't wait to see you at

ALUMNI

Our incredible community of alumni spans eight decades and dozens of countries! As GFS alumni follow their own paths, their connections to GFS remain strong, as evidenced by their readiness to pay it forward. Their gifts—donations, volunteering, class organizing, and mentorship for our current students—mean the world to us, and we're grateful for their generosity.

JOSHUA MATTHEWS '24

After graduating from GFS in 2024, Josh began studying at Franklin & Marshall College in Lancaster, where he is considering a major in public health. He attended the J-Term Young Alumni Visit Day in January 2025, and gave his first gift to GFS this June.

"GFS has been a really big part of my life. Because I went there from K-12, it's all I've ever known. I grew up there, and it's a place I really enjoyed being! There are faculty members I've known for so long. I like staying connected to GFS because of the sense of belonging that I have there. And I know when I go back, things will be different, but also the same."

TEDDY DALSON '24

Teddy is currently majoring in biology and quantitative economics at Tufts University. He loved his STEM-focused classes at GFS, especially cell biology and statistics. He credits now-retired faculty member and head of the science department Gen Nelson with preparing him for the advanced courses he's taking in college.

"It's important to me to give to GFS because the support I got from the teachers and the education I received were second to none. GFS made me who I am today, and allowed me to pursue my academic interests and further my intellect.

For me, giving is paying it back. A lot of things at GFS are paid for by other donors, and knowing that makes me feel like I should also be helping out. My brother's a senior at GFS now, and I want to help out the younger kids. GFS is the perfect place to tap into kids' potential and I want to help that continue."

Teddy Dalson on the pitch, spring 2024.

CURRENT FAMILIES

We're thankful to the parents and caregivers who not only entrust us with their most special people, but give back to the school in so many ways. Their monetary support, volunteer time, and encouraging presence at Athletics games, performances, concerts, and seasonal events strengthen our school in myriad ways. A special note of appreciation goes out to the GFS Parents Association, which works tirelessly to uplift the campus community and celebrate our faculty and staff.

SAVE THE DATE FOR

GFS GIVING DAY

Thursday, February 12, 2026

Join us for our largest fundraising event of the year hosted on February 12, 2026. GFS Giving Day is not just a day to give back, but a day to celebrate all that makes our 31 W. Coulter Street community special. Look for more details in early February!

There are many ways to join in the fun! To get involved as a volunteer or supporter on Giving Day, please reach out to Louisa Garrido, Director of the Annual Fund, at lgarrido@germantownfriends.org.

GRANDPARENTS & SPECIAL FRIENDS

GFS grandparents and special friends are a wonderful group! They are curious about and invested in the educational journeys of their grandchildren, nephews, nieces, and other young friends, and give each year to support the school's mission. A highlight of each spring is Grandparents and Special Friends Day, when we have the honor of welcoming them to our campuses for a look inside our colorful Early Childhood and Lower School classrooms.

PARENTS OF ALUMNI

Whether their children graduated last year or decades ago, a GFS education is something our alumni parents firmly believe in. They step up every year, during Giving Day, end of year matching challenges and, more recently, in response to our campaign fundraising. We extend our utmost gratitude for their ongoing generosity.

JULIA STEIN & JOHN GOLDSBOROUGH P'20 '25

Julia and John are parents of young alumni; they were dedicated supporters of the school while their children attended, and continue to give to GFS and champion the school's mission and values.

JOHN: "We give to support those who can't afford to come to GFS, and because there is a real need to support GFS' continued efforts and progress around diversity, equity, and inclusion. And the core Quaker values that GFS is guided by are really helpful in countering a lot of the problems of individualism, isolation, and polarization that are plaguing us as a society. I feel that supporting a GFS education helps kids make the world a better place."

JULIA: "GFS also spreads a lot of joy. It's an amazing place! The Annual Fund allows some really important projects and initiatives to happen at GFS, which facilitate the curiosity, the aliveness, and the way that learning stays exciting and sparkly—like Science Night, art shows, and field trips! The Annual Fund is also a really important reflection of GFS families and the GFS community supporting the school."

NEWLY CREATED ENDOWED FUNDS

We are honored to share the newest endowed funds established at Germantown Friends School between July 1, 2024 and June 30, 2025. This year, five new funds were created, including one given anonymously and not listed here.

The Germantown Friends School Community Education Fund

This inaugural endowed fund for community education programming will ensure that Germantown Friends School can continue to provide academic enrichment for students attending area public and charter schools, training and support for a diverse pipeline of aspiring teachers, and opportunities for community involvement and connection between GFS and neighboring organizations. This investment will, for the first time, provide sustained funding and greater stability in this critical area of GFS' work.

The Eric W. Johnson '36 and Gay G. Johnson CSP Fund

Established in 2024 by Rebecca Johnson '70, Lawrence Weisberg, and Jeffrey G. Johnson '71, the Eric W. Johnson '36 and Gay G. Johnson CSP Fund provides financial aid for students designated as Community Scholars at Germantown Friends School.

Spirn Family Scholarship Fund

Established in 2025 by Samuel Spirn '99 and Kate Gulliver, the Spirn Family Scholarship Fund was established to support students who qualify for financial assistance at GFS, with preference given to those who receive financial aid of at least 85% of the cost of tuition.

Michael D. Epstein Fund for Civic Engagement and U.S. History

Established in 2025 in memory of GFS in-house counsel and faculty member Michael D. Epstein, this fund promotes student civics education and engagement, with the goal of preparing individuals to be active and responsible members of their local and national communities and to contribute to a thriving democracy.

To learn more about how to contribute to or establish an endowed fund, please contact Hannah Henderson '91, GFS' Chief Advancement Officer, at 215-951-2340 or hhenderson@germantownfriends.org.

SAM SPIRN '99

In spring 2025, Sam and his wife Kate Gulliver established the Spirn Family Scholarship Fund. This endowed fund supports students who qualify for financial aid assistance at GFS, with preference given to those who receive financial aid of at least 85% of the cost of tuition.

"GFS had a very formative impact on me as a student. I learned how to respect and treat other human beings—it's a fundamental tenet of the GFS experience. That became an important building block of my consciousness and identity as I went to college and grew into adulthood.

One of the things I appreciate about the school and its mission is that it is a place where people of different incomes can attend. Because of resources like the Community Scholars Program, students from the community who couldn't otherwise afford to go, can go.

When Kate and I think about philanthropy, education is a top priority. We knew an endowed fund would be a way to make a lasting impact, and would be a steady, stable place to put our investment that would benefit GFS for the long term.

Another thing that appealed to us was that this endowment can grow over time and it will outlast us. It's something we can point our kids to. It bears our name, and there's meaning and value to that and what it represents."

FACULTY AND STAFF

The talents, creativity, and work ethic of our faculty and staff—both past and present—impact our students' lives in immeasurable ways. The fact that so many of them chose to financially support the school in the 2024-25 school year is a powerful sign of faith in our mission and shared values. We sincerely appreciate these gifts!

CAROL RAWLINGS MILLER P'20

Carol is the Director of Academic Program at GFS, and parent of a Class of 2020 alumnus. She has been at GFS since 2014, and gives generously each year!

"I'm really moved by the faculty, staff, and administration at this school. I see such remarkable commitment to the idea that educating children is deeply important, and that doing it well is akin to soil that needs to be constantly turned. The faculty here are always turning the soil.

It's a very dedicated, creative, and naturally effortful group of people and there's a lot of joy in this institution in undertaking all that work. I love in my small way to contribute to that through financial support and my work as an administrator."

AJ TVAROK P'36 '38

AJ is GFS' Theatre Technical Director and AV Coordinator; this is their eighth year on the faculty. They're also the parent of two Lower School students.

"I love working in a Quaker school for many reasons, but most of all the equality aspect. I never see myself as someone who knows more than the students, and I am always learning from them as much as they are learning from me. There's no sense of hierarchy, and I like that the students call me by my first name. I feel free teaching the way I need to teach and I feel that the Quaker approach to teaching, living, and learning is really embedded in our lives. My kids have shown an interest in going to Meeting for Worship, which to me is direct evidence of the school's impact.

I'm happy to be able to give to GFS. I've seen the Annual Fund work in many ways! As a member of the arts faculty, I've seen the impact that giving to the arts has, like new sound technology in Loeb and community support for shows, musicals, and performances."

BILL MALANDRA ’60

Bill was a GFS lifer, and a third generation Quaker. While at GFS, he developed a lifelong interest in the classics, philosophy, and comparative religion. He is a longtime loyalty donor and has been giving to the School for over 60 years.

“I’ve made a commitment to give to GFS ever since I had a little bit of money to share. I think giving is important, and it’s important to start giving at any amount! Often, I give in support of greatest need, in the hopes of supporting scholarships across campus. I continue giving not just as a payment for what the school has done for me, but as a commitment to the Quaker values of GFS.”

A LASTING GIFT FOR A BELOVED COMMUNITY

Meet Teresa Maebori, a retired Lower School teacher, who is including GFS in her estate planning

Teresa Maebori was unfamiliar with Germantown Friends School when she first paid the campus a visit in 1975. She'd come to check it out on the recommendation of her friend, Claire, who had recently married then-Assistant Head of School, Dick Goldman. Maebori had been teaching in Washington, D.C., a transplant from her hometown of Seattle. She instantly fell in love with GFS.

"The classrooms of children all seemed very happy, enthusiastic, and curious—I could tell that there was a lot of care and innovation going on, and could see that both the teachers and students were excited about learning," Teresa remembered.

She was also impressed with something that happened during her interview with the Principal of Lower School, John Harkins.

"He asked me if my family went through the internment camps, which now we refer to as the concentration camps," she said. "Later, I found out that Quakers were very instrumental in speaking up for the Japanese Americans who were incarcerated."

In fact, Teresa was born in a Japanese American labor camp in 1945, as her parents married in 1941, two weeks before Pearl Harbor. This was the first time anyone had ever asked her that question.

Teresa accepted a job teaching third and fourth grade in the Lower School, a role which she held for 36 years, until her retirement in 2012. She also led a 30-year musical collaboration between students and faculty from GFS and the HMS School for Children with Cerebral Palsy, and expanded Lower School Cultural Studies to include Japanese and African Studies.

Something about GFS that resonated with Teresa throughout the decades was the tight-knit feeling of community at and around the school and in the Germantown Monthly Meeting (GMM), where she became an active member in the late 1980s.

"Living in Germantown and Mt. Airy, any time I walked down the street I would see somebody I knew, whether it was a faculty member, a student, or a student's family," she said. "I also became involved in the Japanese American community, and got to know a lot of the people who were instrumental in getting redress for the incarceration of Japanese Americans."

Even after moving back to the Seattle area in 2024 to be closer to family, Teresa remains strongly connected to GFS. She still meets via Zoom with the Women Writers Group, a book club organized by GFS faculty and staff. She often visits campus when she's back in town, and was a guest of honor at the current families, alumni, faculty, and staff of color picnic this fall. She also stays in close touch with her community at the Germantown Monthly Meeting.

This year, Teresa decided to include both Germantown Friends School and the Germantown Monthly Meeting in her will. Her generous gifts will leave a lasting impact, in addition to the legacy Teresa has already built through the many ways she has contributed to both communities. She said her bequests are a way to materialize her belief in the mission of the School and the Meeting.

"The Lower School was so much a part of my life, and GMM was so much a part of my spiritual life," she said. "I'd like to give back to both in ways that will have the most benefit after I'm gone."

THE OPEN DOOR SOCIETY

Bequests and planned gifts are profound investments in GFS, and we thank all those who have included us in their estate planning. The impact of your generosity will uplift the school for generations to come.

Story time at GFS’ Early Childhood campus in Center City.

PIERCE BOUNDS '66

Pierce attended GFS from Kindergarten through ninth grade, before transferring to Darrow School in New York State. After graduation, he studied at Dickinson College, where he later worked as the staff photographer for nearly 30 years. He recently included GFS in his estate planning, for which we are deeply grateful.

"My memories from GFS are very vivid. I remember Mr. Cadbury, with his Lower School classroom filled with aquariums, snakes, fish, critters, and plants, like his banana tree. It was like walking into a jungle, it was just wonderful. Howard Platt taught geology, which I loved and still love. If I'm in an interesting place in the world, I study its geology and think of him.

I still have my GFS Blue Books [old directories]. My mother saved them all. I was just looking through my Kindergarten Blue Book, from 1953-54. These are the people I grew up with, the people I still dream about. And the Class of 1966 has been so welcoming to me. They made sure I got a yearbook, and have invited me back to every reunion, many of which I've attended, starting in 1976. Some of these classmates are still friends—I don't see them that often, but they're the people I grew up with, and I'm incredibly appreciative of staying connected to them.

When it comes to our estate planning, my wife and I are getting to the age where these things are starting to come to the forefront of our conversations. We've decided to put GFS in the beneficiaries of one of my retirement accounts. It wasn't a hard decision!"
