PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

01

Parents will be provided with materials for at home instruction, including pacing guides, and digital resources; as well as access to teacher consultations, assessment materials, and administrative support with paperwork.

02

Because students are continuing to work with materials and pacing aligned with grade level standards, except as specified for specific learning needs, transition back into on-campus learning environments should be easier when/ if families want to return to full-time on-campus status.

03

Parents may opt also for a fully at-home experience and not participate in the two days of on-campus learning and instruction.

Consider the Heights Journey

Private Christian education for your family, from infancy through 8th grade. One of the only private school systems in the western region, now offering a hybrid homeschool option for families seeking both flexibility and expert guidance. Our model blends traditional on-campus learning with independent study, allowing parents to take an active role in their child's education while benefiting from qualified faculty, academic rigor, and faith-based instruction.

DIVERSE OPTIONS TO FIT YOUR FAMILY'S LIFESTYLE

With the growing interest in homeschooling across Southern California, and a growing disenchantment with the public schools, Heights Homeschool Academy offers several education paths for families seeking a well-rounded opportunity to manage their child's education.

Heights Homeschool Academy offers the ideal solution for parents looking for the perfect blend of home and school – combining the flexibility of home learning with structured, enriching on-campus opportunities.

Parents can choose the level of support preferred for their child's education, determining their on-campus engagement (up to three days per week), as well as the level of support preferred for consultation, administrative and clerical tasks, curriculum and materials selection and implementation, and direct instruction and instructional support.

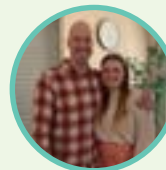

Heights Homeschool Academy offers the best of both worlds for families that want more options and more control of their child's educational experiences.

Heights Homeschool Academy was exactly what our family needed when we found ourselves deciding to pull our kids out of public school and begin homeschooling mid-year after a cross-country move. We felt overwhelmed with curriculum options, nervous about making sure we were doing everything correctly, and worried our kids would miss out on opportunities to interact with other kids.

Heights Homeschool Academy walked us through the process of filing the correct paperwork with the state, provided us with curriculum guidance, and gave our kids a weekly outlet to learn with and from other kids in a safe environment. After a difficult experience in public school, our kids were thrilled to be in an environment where they could tell that the teachers loved them and loved Jesus, and that made a huge difference for our family. We know that God brought HHA into our lives at just the right time.

- Danae June

As a bilingual family, we were looking for a learning environment that would support and help build our daughter's English speaking and reading skills. From the beginning, Heights Homeschool Academy was extremely supportive, and went above and beyond to provide our daughter the support she needed. The teachers saw her bilingualism as a strength and not a barrier, and helped build her confidence in speaking, reading, and writing in English. She now looks forward to our weekly library trips to pick out books at her level and practice her reading. We are extremely grateful for this program and teachers, and the way they helped her grow academically and socially!
