Denton Digital Credit Recovery - Course List

In Denton ISD, the Board of Trustees have approved the use of Apex for the purpose of online credit recovery (Ch 74, Sub C, §74.22). Students take the course on the online platform -- during the school year or in the summer -- with a state-certified Denton ISD teacher who provides asynchronous instructional support and ongoing feedback. During the school year, the student may or may not also be scheduled into an Academic Support course in the school day.

Students start with a pre-assessment/diagnostic that creates an abbreviated learning pathway that addresses only the content the student has yet to learn. Online courses are self-paced and asynchronous. The final grade in the course is determined and submitted by the teacher. Students may enroll in up to two courses (.5 each) at a time and may earn up to 1.5 credits (three 0.5 credit courses) per semester (fall, spring, and summer) through online credit recovery.

This option is most effective for students who were successful in more than 50% of the course the first time they took it, who can work independently, stay organized, manage their time, follow written directions, and reach out for help when needed. An online credit recovery course is not recommended for students who struggle with attendance or work habits, or who are unlikely to remain engaged in a self-paced learning environment.

Before enrolling, students and parents should understand that these courses are rigorous and time-intensive—not an easy path to credit. Completing a one-semester (0.5-credit) course typically requires 4–5 hours per week for 10–12 weeks. Students in the course often wait several days for teachers to review their submitted work and provide feedback before students can move forward.
