

Tulsa Public Schools Oklahoma's Promise Nonparticipation Form

Why We Are Asking Families to Complete OK Promise

Tulsa Public Schools is committed to making sure every student has access to the financial resources available to them for college and career training after high school. Oklahoma's Promise is one of the most valuable opportunities our students can receive—it can cover college tuition at Oklahoma public colleges and universities and provide tuition support at private colleges and career technology centers.

Each year, many students miss out simply because the application was never completed. To ensure that families don't leave any potential financial support "on the table," TPS is asking all 8th grade students to do one of the following before receiving their 9th grade schedules:

1. Complete the Oklahoma's Promise application, or
2. Submit this Nonparticipation Form to let us know you are choosing not to apply at this time.

We want families to feel informed—not pressured. Oklahoma's Promise is completely optional, and choosing not to participate will not affect a student's academic standing, school experience, or access to services.

If you decide not to apply right now, you may choose to apply later—as long as it is before the state deadline (December 31st of the student's senior year).
