He mentioned that some principals have requested more cameras, acknowledging that while cameras enhance security, they are just one part of a broader safety strategy. Martise and Assistant Superintendent Cook will work together to identify locations for additional installations. Scott Cook highlighted potential storage issues that could arise from incorporating audio into camera systems, suggesting that many districts prefer video-only files for privacy and storage optimization.

Martise confirmed that this issue had been previously discussed and assured that they would explore solutions, including the possibility of installing removable bollards to enhance safety during peak times. Martise assured us that no action would be taken regarding the removable bollards until all stakeholders were consulted.
