

AP Human Geography Application

AP Human Geography is equivalent to an introductory, college-level course in human geography. This course introduces students to the systematic study of patterns and processes that have shaped human understanding, use, and modification of Earth's surface. Students use spatial concepts and landscape analysis to examine socio-economic organization and its environmental consequences. They also learn the methods and tools geographers use in research and real-world applications. The curriculum reflects the goals of the National Geography Standards. Students applying to take this course should be able to read college-level texts and apply the conventions of Standard Written English in their writing.

It is important to know that this course requires a MOTIVATED student. Please note that students WILL NOT be able to drop this course after August 1st. ENROLLMENT IS LIMITED!! Enrollment is not guaranteed.
